MDL No. 2323
12-md-2323

CASE MANAGEMENT ORDER NO. 1
PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE ORDER UPON TRANSFER
PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 1407(a)

1. This order shall govern the initial practice and procedure in those actions transferred to this Court by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation pursuant to their Order of January 31, 2012 (ECF No. 1), as well as all related actions originally filed in this Court or transferred or removed to this Court. The current list of such cases is attached as "Schedule A." This order shall also govern the practice and procedure in any tag-along actions transferred to this Court by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation pursuant to Rule 7.1 of the Rules of Procedure of the Panel subsequent to the filing of the final transfer order by the Clerk of this Court or otherwise transferred or removed to this Court. These actions are consolidated for pretrial purposes.

2. An Initial Organization Conference will be held on April 25, 2012 at 10:30 a.m. in Courtroom 7-B of the U.S. Courthouse, 601 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 19106.

3. To ensure an accurate record of all outstanding motions, by March 30, 2012, any party who filed a motion in any action to date must refile that motion on this Court's ECF in the master docket case file, No. 2:12-md-2323. If an outstanding motion is applicable to less than all cases, it must be refiled in those individual case dockets as well.

4. The following apply to the Initial Organization Conference:

- One counsel for each party must appear at the Initial Organization Conference. However, to minimize costs and facilitate a manageable conference, parties with similar interests may agree to have an attending attorney represent them at the conference.
- By March 30, 2012, counsel must meet and confer.¹ By April 4, 2012, counsel must file on ECF a Proposed Case Management Order and a Proposed Conference Agenda. In the event counsel cannot agree on particular items, they must include a brief statement of their respective positions. The Proposed Case Management Order and the Proposed Conference Agenda must include the following²:
 - dates for amendment of pleadings;
 - cut-off dates to file dispositive motions and other pretrial motions;

¹To ensure that the meet-and-confer process is conducted in an orderly fashion at this stage of the litigation, counsel in the first-filed case, Easterling, et al. v. National Football League, No. 11-cv-05209, shall initiate the meeting of all counsel in these actions.

²The parties should be guided generally by reference to the items listed in the Manual of Complex Litigation, Fourth, Sections 22.6, 22.61, 22.62, and 22.63, insofar as they are applicable.

- dates to file responsive pleadings and responses to the pending motions;
- a detailed discovery plan;
- a list of any previously entered order;
- issues relating to requests for class certification;
- any motions that should be considered on an expedited basis;
- the scheduling of regular telephone conferences (i.e., appropriate dates and times);
- a list of all related cases, if any, pending in state or federal court and their current status, to the extent known;
- a target date for the conclusion of the MDL; and
- the feasibility of filing a consolidated complaint.

5. At the Initial Organization Conference, I will address the important task of selecting Lead and Liaison Counsel. I will also discuss the need for a Steering Committee and if needed who will serve as a member. By April 4, 2012, any counsel who wishes to serve as Lead Counsel, Liaison Counsel, or Steering Committee Member must file an application. The application must include:

- a resume including a description of prior experience in complex litigation;
- references;

- any arrangements for coordination among counsel including any arrangements for distribution of work and compensation;
- projected fee proposals, rates, and percentages of a common fund that an applicant is seeking if the litigation succeeds; and
- any side agreements on compensation with any other attorney(s).

6. All counsel must immediately review the Attorney Service List, attached as “Schedule B,” to check that the information is accurate and complete as to office address, email address, fax and telephone number. If any of the information is inaccurate or incomplete in any way the attorney must notify the Clerk of this Court on or before March 16, 2012. Or if any attorney wishes to have his or her name added to or deleted from the Attorney Service List, he or she may do so upon request to the Clerk of this Court with notice to all other persons on the service list, so long as at least one counsel represents each party.

7. Counsel must immediately take steps to register to file on ECF in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania and to familiarize themselves with this Court’s administrative procedures for filing.

8. On or prior to March 16, 2012, service of any filing must be made directly upon all attorneys on the Attorney Service List, unless registered on ECF in this Court. Thereafter, all pleadings and other papers must be filed on this Court's ECF system. No other service of filings is necessary. Furthermore, all orders and notices from the Court will be transmitted to counsel only by ECF. That means that no orders or notices from the Court will be transmitted by mail or by fax.

9. Two hard copies of all filings must be sent to chambers.

10. The Clerk of this Court will maintain a master docket case file styled “In re: National Football League Players’ Concussion Injury Litigation,” No. 12-md-2323, with the identification “MDL No. 2323.” When a filing is intended to be applicable to all actions, this must be indicated by the words: “The Document Relates to All Actions.” Such a filing must only be filed in the master docket case file, No. 12-md-2323. When a filing is intended to apply to less than all cases, this Court’s docket number for each individual case to which the document relates must appear immediately after the words, “This Document Relates To.” Such a filing must be filed in the master docket case file, No. 12-md-2323, and in the individual applicable docket case file(s) as well.

11. Henceforth all documents filed in any of these actions must be filed with the Clerk of this Court and not with the Transferor Court.

12. Unless or until otherwise modified, an order previously entered in any consolidated case shall remain in full force and effect.

13. The dates for filing all responsive pleadings and responses to any pending motions are stayed until further order from this Court. All discovery proceedings are stayed.

14. Counsel who appeared in the Transferor Court prior to the MDL transfer order need not enter a separate appearance in this Court. Attorneys admitted to practice and in good standing in any United States District Court are admitted pro hac vice in this litigation. Parties are not required to retain local counsel. All counsel, however, must familiarize and comport themselves in accordance with the Pennsylvania Rules of Professional Conduct and the Rules of this Court.

15. The Court will be guided in part by the 2004 edition of the Manual for Complex Litigation. Counsel are directed to familiarize themselves with that publication.

16. Parties and their counsel are reminded of their duty to take legally-required measures to preserve documents, electronically stored information, and all other items that are potentially relevant.

17. Any questions concerning the procedure for filing should be addressed to Tom Dempsey in the office of the Clerk of this Court. His telephone number is 267-299-7018; his email address is Tom_Dempsey@paed.uscourts.gov.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT DATES
On or before March 16, 2012	Counsel must review the Attorney Service List (attached as “Schedule B”) and, if any information is inaccurate or incomplete in any way, notify the Clerk of this Court.
On or prior to March 16, 2012	Service of filing must be made directly upon all attorneys on the Attorney Service List, unless registered on ECF in this Court.
After March 16, 2012	All pleadings and other papers must be filed on this Court’s ECF system; no other service is necessary. All orders and notices from the Court will be transmitted to counsel only by ECF. No orders or notices from the Court will be transmitted by mail or by fax.
By March 30, 2012	All parties who filed motions in any action to date must refile that motion(s) on this Court’s ECF in the master docket case file, No. 2:12-md-2323, and in the relevant individual case docket(s) as well.
By March 30, 2012	Counsel must meet and confer.
By April 4, 2012	Counsel must file on ECF a Proposed Case Management Order and a Proposed Conference Agenda.
By April 4, 2012	Any counsel who wishes to serve as Lead Counsel, Liaison Counsel, or Steering Committee Member must file an application.
April 25, 2012 at 10:30 a.m.	The Initial Organization Conference will be held in Courtroom 7-B of the U.S. Courthouse, 601 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA.

Re: In Re: National Football League Players' Concussion Injury Litigation,
MDL No. 2323

Dear Judge Brody:

We represent defendants National Football League and NFL Properties LLC in the above-referenced matter. After conferring in response to the Court's Case Management Order No. 1, all parties jointly request a brief extension of time to submit to the Court a proposed second Case Management Order and Conference Agenda. We respectfully request that the Court enter the enclosed [Proposed] Order, which extends the deadline to file those documents for one week, from April 4, 2012 to April 11, 2012.

The parties are in the process of exchanging drafts of a proposed second Case Management Order and, on March 29, 2012, met and conferred with respect thereto. Based on that meeting, the parties believe that additional time is needed to negotiate the terms of the proposed second Case Management Order, as well as a proposed Conference Agenda. Accordingly, the parties respectfully request this one-week extension, which should not impact the hearing scheduled for April 25, 2012.

Colloquy

1 (The following was heard in open court at 10:39 a.m.)

2 THE COURT: Okay, we're here in the matter of
3 In Re: National Football League Players' Concussion litigation
4 at Multi-District 2012-2323. Good morning. You hear me?

5 COUNSEL: Yes, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay, all right, I just want to go over
7 who's here -- well, we won't do that yet.

8 I want you to know that I have carefully reviewed
9 all your submissions, and I will make some conclusions I've 10 come to myself and I'm not going to have oral argument on, and 11 others I will. So -- and some of them I'm just going to make 12 decisions based upon the papers.

13 First we're going to discuss the plaintiff's
14 Executive Committee. Would you like to introduce yourselves
15 to me?

16 MR. WEISS: Thank you. Good morning, Your Honor.
17 Sol Weiss and behind me is Larry Coben.

18 MR. COBEN: Good morning, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. WEISS: From the Anapol firm.

21 MR. LEWIS: Good morning, Your Honor. Richard Lewis
22 from Hausfeld in Washington.

23 MR. LOCKS: Gene Locks from Locks Law Firm.

24 MR. GIRARDI: Good morning, Your Honor. Tom Girardi
25 from Los Angeles.

1 THE COURT: I can't hear you.

2 MR. GIRARDI: Tom Girardi from Los Angeles.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. MARKS: Good morning, Your Honor. Steve Marks
5 with Podhurst, Orseck and Steven Rosenthal.

6 MR. LIPPSMITH: Good morning, Your Honor. Graham
7 Lippsmith also from Los Angeles.

8 MR. HAUSFELD: Good morning, Your Honor. Michael 9 Hausfeld from the Hausfeld firm from Washington, D.C.

10 MR. LANGFITT: And David Langfitt from Locks Law
11 Firm.

12 THE COURT: Okay. And is Mr. Seeger here?

13 MR. HORN: Good morning, Your Honor. Moshe Horn
14 from Seeger, Weiss for Mr. Seeger.

15 THE COURT: You are?

16 MR. HORN: Moshe Horn. I'm Mr. Seeger's partner.
17 He's in depositions, Your Honor, in California, representing 18 our firm.

19 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Are there any other 20 people who are here who wish to be heard on the issue of 21 membership on the Steering Committee or the Executive
22 Committee?

23 MR. DUGAN: Good morning, Your Honor. I'd like to 24 introduce myself. James Dugan with the Dugan Law Firm, 25 proposed PSC, Your Honor.

Colloquy

1 THE COURT: Proposed what?

2 MR. DUGAN: PSC, Your Honor, plaintiff's Steering
3 Committee member.

4 THE COURT: All right. And your name is Dugan?

5 MR. DUGAN: James Dugan, D-U-G-A-N, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. ZIMMERMAN: Good morning, Your Honor. I'm
8 Charles Zimmerman, proposed plaintiff's Steering Committee,
9 from the law firm of Zimmerman, Reed.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. McGLAMRY: Your Honor, Mike McGlamry from Pope, 12 McGlamry, Kilpatrick, Morrison & Norwood from Atlanta, also 13 with the Steering Committee.

14 THE COURT: You are on the Steering Committee?

15 MR. McGLAMRY: I'm part of the joint application for 16 the Steering Committee as Mr. Zimmerman and others, and Mr.
17 Dugan has also --

18 THE COURT: Oh, so the three of you are from the 19 same firm?

20 MR. McGLAMRY: No, no, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Oh, okay.

22 MR. ZIMMERMAN: We're on the proposed Steering
23 Committee.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. WEISS: Your Honor, Sol Weiss, if I could help

Colloquy

1 the Court. There's seven people on our slate on the Steering
2 Committee, and those gentlemen are three of them, and there's 3 four others.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Oh, so they're introducing
5 themselves. I wanted people who -- I wasn't going to take the 6 Steering Committee -- people who have applications to be on 7 those committees that have not been selected.

8 MR. MCCORVEY: Your Honor, Derriel McCorvey with the 9 Law Office of Derriel McCorvey, LLC. I filed an application
10 for appointment to the plaintiff's Steering Committee.

11 THE COURT: Is there anyone else who has?

12 MR. SCHENK: Yes, good morning, Your Honor.
13 Frederick Schenk of the Casey, Gerry law firm in San Diego. I
14 too have filed papers to be appointed independently.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. SCHENK: Thank you.

17 THE COURT: Have you -- I think I asked originally 18 Mr. Coben to --

19 MR. WEISS: Yes, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: -- to organize this, or -- well, I guess
21 you're from the same firm. Is there any -- have you
22 considered this or what conclusions did you come to when you
23 talked with everyone? There's only two people, I think.

24 MR. WEISS: Your Honor, we are fine with adding 25 these two people to the Steering Committee, if that's what the

Colloquy

1 Court would like to do. We'd like to work with them.

2 THE COURT: I'm not -- I wonder whether -- I want
3 you to take it under advisement, okay?

4 MR. WEISS: Certainly.

5 THE COURT: And if there's any dispute about it, I
6 will hear it again on the telephone. Okay?

7 MR. WEISS: Very good, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: So in other words, if you're not 9 appointed, then I will discuss it with you and see why and 10 what we can do about it. Okay?

11 MR. WEISS: Thank you, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: You're welcome.

13 MR. WEISS: For your direction.

14 THE COURT: All right. Now, I'd like to hear from 15 the Steering Committee. Can you just introduce yourselves?

16 MR. ZIMMERMAN: I'm Charles Zimmerman of Zimmerman,
17 Reed for the proposed plaintiff Steering Committee.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. DUGAN: James Dugan again, Your Honor, from the 20 Dugan Law Firm in New Orleans, proposed PSC member.

21 THE COURT: Welcome to Philadelphia.

22 MR. DUGAN: Thank you. Glad to be here, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. McGLAMRY: Your Honor, again, Mike McGlamry from 25 Atlanta, also with the Steering Committee.

Colloquy

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MS. NAST: Dianne Nast, Your Honor. I'm also
3 included in the proposed committee.

4 THE COURT: Anyone else? Yes?

5 MR. LEVIN: Your Honor, Daniel Levin on behalf of 6 Ronald Levin for the Steering Committee.

7 THE COURT: You're from Philadelphia?

8 MR. LEVIN: Yes.

9 THE COURT: Yes.

10 MR. ROSEN: Good morning, Your Honor. David Rosen, 11 Rose, Klein & Marias from Los Angeles also on the joint 12 application for the plaintiff Steering Committee.

13 THE COURT: Okay. And anyone else? Yes?

14 MR. TARRICONE: Good morning, Your Honor. Anthony
15 Tarricone, Kreindler & Kreindler, with the group.

16 THE COURT: And you've agreed to have your own
17 Steering Committee.

18 MR. TARRICONE: Yes, I have, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Anyone else? Are there any 20 people here who have objections, any objections to the 21 Steering Committee, other than those people who asked to be 22 included who have not been included?

23 All right. I have read your -- oh, yes, who is the 24 liaison counsel?

25 MS. KENNEY: Your Honor, Jeannine Kenney with

1 Hausfeld, LLC. We're proposed liaison counsel.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Is there anyone who -- anyone
3 else who has any objections?

4 Well, I will appoint -- I've read all your resumes.
5 I've done some homework on this. And I will in fact appoint
6 you as you've designated to the Executive Committee and to the 7 Steering Committee.

8 I have one concern though -- actually, let's talk
9 about the plaintiff first -- the defendant.

10 You have two counsel, one from New York and one from 11 Washington, isn't that correct, as lead counsel?

12 MS. WILKINSON: Yes, Your Honor. Beth Wilkinson and 13 you know Mr. Wells.

14 MR. WELLS: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay. And do you have local counsel?

16 MS. KLINGES: Yes, Your Honor, Dana Klinges from 17 Duane, Morris.

18 THE COURT: And you represent the NFL. And for the,
19 and for the Riddell? Is that how you pronounce it correctly,
20 Riddell?

21 MR. CEREGHINI: It is, Your Honor. I'm Paul
22 Cereghini from Bowman & Brooke. I'm Riddell's lead counsel.

23 THE COURT: And where are you from?

24 MR. CEREGHINI: I'm from Phoenix, Arizona with the 25 Bowman & Brooke law firm.

Colloquy

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. HOWARD: I'm Tom Howard, also with the Bowman &
3 Brooke law firm from the Phoenix, Arizona office.

4 THE COURT: Okay. And?

5 MR. WAGNER: And Thomas Wagner, Your Honor, from the 6 Marshall, Dennehey firm in Philadelphia as local counsel.

7 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to appoint everyone of 8 you -- I guess I don't have to really -- as lead counsel. But 9 I'm going to ask for the Philadelphia people to be liaison
10 counsel. Is that going to be any problem?

11 MR. CEREGHINI: That's appropriate here.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Do you have any problem with 13 that?

14 MS. WILKINSON: Not at all.

15 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

16 MR. WAGNER: That's fine with us, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay. And have you made an appearance?
18 I know that Mr. Soroko has.

19 MS. KLINGES: Yes.

20 THE COURT: You have, okay. All right, you're 21 appointed as liaison counsel, so if I need people here
22 quickly, I can call the Philadelphia people.

23 Now, the last item is appointment of lead counsel.
24 I know that -- have you gotten together and tried to work that 25 out?

12

1 MR. WEISS: Your Honor, we will get back to you with
2 that, if that's okay.

3 THE COURT: Yes. I want lead counsel. I have done
4 my homework on that too. And I would very much like one of 5 co-lead counsel to be Mr. Seeger, Chris Seeger. I have to 6 tell you, the ratings of people who have had MDLs with you
7 involved have been very, very high, your law firm. So I'm 8 going to -- that's one.

9 But the other one I'd like to have from 10 Philadelphia. I would like to have -- I think that -- is 11 there going to be any problem with that? Are you going to be 12 able to decide which one of you is going to be doing it?

13 MR. WEISS: We'll get back to you, Your Honor, very 14 shortly.

15 THE COURT: Okay. And I will -- and I will make an 16 appointment if you can't work this out.

17 MR. WEISS: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: And if necessary, you can take a vote of 19 the Executive Committee. That may be the way to go about 20 doing it. So -- but I don't really care which one of you is 21 counsel, but I will make a decision if I have to make one.
22 Okay? All right.

23 Now, I think we've covered that. I'm going to ask
24 Mr. Weiss to really lead this. Related cases pending in other
25 Courts and current status. Are there any additional cases

1 that I should know about?

2 MR. WEISS: Yes, Your Honor. There are filings, I
3 think this week by the Locks Law Firm. I believe there are a
4 few cases that were filed in State Court, in Philadelphia,
5 that are in the process, there are 11 had been -- in the 6 process of being removed here.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Is that accurate, Ms. Wilkinson?

8 MS. WILKINSON: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. WEISS: And I believe there are a couple of 11 State Court class actions that the Locks Law Firm has filed.

12 THE COURT: Here?

13 MR. WEISS: One in Pennsylvania and one in New 14 Jersey.

15 THE COURT: Is that correct?

16 MR. LOCKS: That's correct.

17 THE COURT: Have you asked for those to be removed?

18 MS. WILKINSON: We will, Your Honor, within the time
19 period. Some I think were just filed days ago --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MS. WILKINSON: -- and hours ago --

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. WEISS: And then there's the Duerson case, the 24 death case that's in Illinois and that has been removed, and 25 the judge there is going to, I think, decide the remand motion

1 in two weeks, is my understanding.

2 MS. WILKINSON: That's not clear, Your Honor. There
3 was a -- we filed a motion to stay because there was a
4 conditional transfer order to your Court. They opposed that.
5 We lost the motion to stay and the Court asked for briefing on 6 the remand issue but did not say, you know, whether it will 7 get decided before the --

8 THE COURT: Is it in Federal Court now?

9 MS. WILKINSON: It is.

10 THE COURT: It's in Federal Court, there's an order
11 from the MDL and they have not -- is it still an issue?

12 MS. WILKINSON: It is, unfortunately. We asked to 13 stay the remand process and move it to your Court, honor the 14 conditional transfer order, and the plaintiffs disagreed and 15 the federal judge in Illinois agreed not to stay. And so that 16 transfer order's been technically not in place, and the remand
17 briefing can go forward.

18 THE COURT: Who's the judge in Chicago? Was it
19 Chicago?

20 MS. WILKINSON: It is Chicago. Let me look up the 21 name, I'm sorry, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: All right, just --

23 MS. WILKINSON: I know he knew who you were because 24 he mentioned your name when the motion was argued.

25 THE COURT: He did?

Colloquy

1 MS. WILKINSON: Holderman, Judge Holderman.

2 THE COURT: H-O-L-D-E-R-M-A-N?

3 MS. WILKINSON: Yes.

4 THE COURT: Okay. I don't know what has to be done
5 about something like that, but I will find out.

6 MS. WILKINSON: Thank you.

7 MR. WEISS: And my understanding is that the judge
8 is going to hold a hearing in the next two weeks, for 9 argument.

10 THE COURT: Well, I'll talk to him today.

11 MR. WEISS: Okay.

12 THE COURT: Is it a him?

13 MS. WILKINSON: It is a him, Your Honor.

14 MR. WEISS: It is a him.

15 THE COURT: Okay, I'll talk to him. I'll try and 16 get to him today, if he takes my call.

17 Okay. The only order that I have gleaned that is 18 from other Courts that I have to be aware of at this point is 19 the motion to remand in California which was denied. Is that 20 correct?

21 MS. WILKINSON: That's right. Judge Real decided 22 that there was a preemption issue that --

23 THE COURT: Yes.

24 MS. WILKINSON: -- and of course, then the case
25 would get transferred to --

16

1 THE COURT: That's what -- okay. Now we're going to 2 talk about a master complaint.

3 MR. WEISS: Mr. Locks will speak to --

4 THE COURT: What's your position, Mr. Locks?

5 MR. WEISS: Mr. Locks will speak to that, Your 6 Honor, if you don't mind.

7 THE COURT: Okay, no, of course not.

8 MR. WEISS: If we do it from here which --

9 THE COURT: No, you can do it from there. Don't 10 worry.

11 MR. LOCKS: Your Honor, we're prepared to file a 12 master administrative complaint. We suggested that we'll do
13 it within 45 days. We've suggested time lines for responding 14 to it, relatively quickly, because we don't think it has to be 15 a very, very long process.

16 I think fundamentally the disagreement with the 17 defendants is they want to meet and confer for 90 days or so.

18 THE COURT: I don't understand that. Why do you
19 have to meet and confer? I mean, isn't this pretty standard
20 in every case like this to have an administrative complaint?

21 MS. WILKINSON: It has been done in other personal
22 injury or product liability cases, Your Honor. The difficult 23 -- and we're not opposed to it -- is making sure that when we 24 move to dismiss, we are moving to dismiss each and every 25 claim. So we need to know which ones are going to be in

1 specific, in claims specific. And so because, obviously each
2 plaintiff is not similarly situated, it is difficult in a
3 master complaint to ensure that you're addressing all of those 4 issues, that we don't have to move again or, you know,
5 inadvertently not move to dismiss claims we think we can.

6 So that was the only issue for us. I mean, Riddell
7 may have a different position.

8 THE COURT: Okay, well, I'm going to get to that in 9 a minute. What's --

10 MR. LOCKS: But that doesn't need a meet and confer.
11 We put together the master complaint. We put together the 12 allegations. And they can respond. And we don't have to 13 spend 90 days going --

14 THE COURT: I don't seen any reason why --

15 MR. LOCKS: -- back and forth --

16 THE COURT: I agree with you.

17 MR. LOCKS: -- debating how and what's included.

18 THE COURT: I agree.

19 MR. LOCKS: And we've already informally, within our 20 Executive Committee subcommittees, have advanced the ball
21 substantially, where we've tried to work out the differences
22 that we believe are between us, and we're prepared to file, as 23 we said, within 45 days.

24 THE COURT: Okay. And if there is -- if there's a 25 problem after you see it, within five days, I'll give you a

1 date, a week, make sure that that goes on my order, to 2 complain about something not being included and you want to 3 know whether it is, or give them a call and ask him whether 4 there's a mistake. Okay?

5 MS. WILKINSON: Your Honor, could I ask just for one
6 additional week? And the only reason I say that is because 7 there's over 2,000 plaintiffs now. So to review the master
8 complaint to ensure that all the claims are included for us to 9 dismiss, it just may take a little bit of time.

10 THE COURT: All right. Well, then maybe, could you
11 do it in 40 days since you started already, and we'll give you
12 another two weeks, we'll give you two weeks, whatever the ten
13 days later.

14 MS. WILKINSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay? Now Riddell.

16 MR. CEREGHINI: Yes, Your Honor. We don't think 17 that a master administrative complaint is going to work with 18 respect to Riddell. Because the claims against Riddell are 19 essentially individual product liability causes of action.

20 Right now we're involved in only 10 to 20 percent.
21 The numbers change every day but --

22 THE COURT: I recognize that.

23 MR. CEREGHINI: -- it's about 15 percent of the 24 cases that we're even named in.

Colloquy

19

1 MR. CEREGHINI: So 85 percent don't involve us.

2 With respect to the ones that we're named in, by and
3 large the claims are product liability claims. And for those 4 claims, we need to know the facts that will allow us to 5 determine what state's law will apply.

6 Once we can make that determination, based on this
7 50 or 60-year time period that plaintiffs played in the NFL,
8 we need to know what law of that state applied in the time
9 frame when the alleged injury happened.

10 We need to know what helmet is involved, or helmets
11 that are alleged to be defective, whether the alleged defect
12 is a design defect, a manufacturing defect, a warnings defect.
13 And all of these issues have very significant consequences
14 then for legal issues, for the claims, and for our defenses,
15 and ultimately how we resolve each one of the individual
16 claims.

17 So the claims are very highly individualized. We're 18 concerned that any kind of master complaint will blur all of 19 those distinctions, and then if there are short form
20 complaints which we've been advised there would be, then what 21 would be in those quote short form complaints, and would they 22 contain --

23 THE COURT: Well, that's a different issue.

24 MR. CEREGHINI: It's a different issue, I realize.

25 But with respect to the master complaints, because

1 we're involved in such a small subset of cases, we don't want
2 to be in a situation where somebody's checking the box to add
3 claims against Riddell or where we can't tell what the issues
4 are.

5 And that's why we've raised these issues before
6 Judge Real in a motion to sever, because we really think the 7 individual player cases ought to be pled individually.

8 THE COURT: There's no question that you're going to 9 be able to -- we're going to deal with that first. So I think
10 we're going to get a master complaint. You're going to have 11 the same period of time to query about what your relationship
12 is with that complaint.

13 And then the first thing we're going to do is get 14 the expedited motions. And one is your motion to sever, so
15 you will be heard about that immediately. And the NFL's
16 motion under 301 of the Labor Management Act.

17 So I have to take those right away. And those are 18 going to be defining to this litigation. We're going to know
19 one way or the other what -- where we are and whether I can 20 hear this case at all. For you it's not a matter of hearing
21 the case, it's a matter of whether I'm going to sever your 22 claims and what I'm going to do about them after that. Okay?
23 So that's where we are.

24 All right. I am going to hear the NFL motion under 25 the LMRA 301 for preemption right away on an expedited basis,

1 and your motion to sever by Riddell on an expedited basis.
2 And I'll read you the time frames of all of this. But 3 frankly, are there any other potential filings that I should 4 take on an expedited basis that I don't know about?

5 MR. LOCKS: I think we still haven't addressed the 6 short form complaint.

7 THE COURT: No, I'm going to do that in a minute.
8 Because that -- yes, that will have to be -- I think that 9 you're going to have to negotiate that with defense counsel.
10 And I'm not going to -- I'll take it in a minute but I don't 11 think -- the administrative complaint, that's in your ball
12 park, that's in your ball park, okay? And you will decide
13 what's in there and they can complain about it. I think we're 14 going to have to meet and confer on the other to make sure 15 that they are apprised, both defendants are apprised of what 16 you plan to put in the short complaint, and you are to -- you
17 will be also meeting and conferring with plaintiff's counsel
18 on that. Okay?

19 There was also a motion -- is there any other
20 potential filings I don't know about?

21 MR. WEISS: There will be more complaints filed, if 22 that's what you mean.

23 THE COURT: Yes, well, I can't -- I'm sure, but I
24 can't stop the process because there might be more complaints.

25 MR. WEISS: My question, Your Honor, is would you

1 entertain signing an order to allow us to put more than one
2 plaintiff on a complaint because there's some issue in the 3 Clerk's Office about that.

4 THE COURT: I understand that. And my decision on 5 that issue is that at this point I'm not going to make you do
6 that. I'm not going to insist on it. If in fact the case
7 goes forward and it's not preempted, then I will probably 8 insist that you have individual complaints.

9 But right now you do what -- the status quo is fine.

10 MR. WEISS: So we can file more than one plaintiff
11 on a complaint?

12 THE COURT: Yes, at this point. At this point. But 13 unless I hear from the clerk and I'm tarred and feathered.
14 But right now that seems to me fair, because you don't know
15 where this is going, and to insist that every plaintiff pay
16 the fee is really unfair when there is a preliminary issue
17 here.

18 MR. WEISS: Thank you. And the Court should also 19 know that we worked out a tolling agreement with the NFL.

20 THE COURT: A what?

21 MR. WEISS: A tolling agreement.

22 THE COURT: Oh, great. I was going to raise that as 23 a next issue. Please, tell me about that, Mr. Weiss.

24 MR. WEISS: The agreement relates back to February 25 24th of 2012. And for all cases that had been filed, in the

1 event this Court doesn't have jurisdiction, the date of the 2 filing is February 24th. For any case that has not yet been 3 filed, there's an agreement that within the next 150 days from 4 February 24th, if a complaint is filed, it relates back to 5 February 24th.

6 THE COURT: Okay. And you can -- if you don't mind,
7 would you please put that on ECF as a stipulation, get both 8 sides to --

9 MR. WEISS: We are in the process, Your Honor, of 10 collecting some more signatures, and when it's completed, we 11 will put it on ECF.

12 THE COURT: That's great. Okay. Is there still a 13 discovery issue preemption?

14 MR. WEISS: Yes, there is.

15 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to hear that. Are you
16 prepared to address that today?

17 MS. WILKINSON: We are, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Okay. All right, let me hear from -- 19 who's going to --

20 MR. WEISS: I will go first, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. WEISS: On behalf of the plaintiffs.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. WEISS: When we were before you in November, in 25 the Easterling case, we asked for leave to take discovery on

1 the issues, factual issue relating to preemption argument. At 2 that time you deferred that, although you asked us to first
3 file with the Court what our proposed discovery was. We did
4 it by letter, then we actually filed a document request and 5 followed it up with a motion to compel. And there you wanted
6 to wait until the panel ruled.

7 The case is now before you, and those 28 items we 8 believe are very much bound into your determination of that 9 issue. And that's because of the Third Circuit law that says
10 unless a claim is inextricably bound into the CBA, then it's 11 not preempted.

12 So, the requests go to the heart of that issue. And 13 we think we need to have some discovery about that.

14 THE COURT: Well, what do you specifically -- why
15 don't you just go through what you specifically --

16 MR. WEISS: Okay. So if you look at -- let me get 17 the page in our proposal. I believe starting on the bottom of 18 page 16 in blue, discovery subjects.

19 THE COURT: Oh, I was looking at your motion. One
20 second.

21 MR. WEISS: All the way down through --

22 THE COURT: One second. You're looking at your 23 proposed case management order, is that what you're looking 24 at?

25 MR. WEISS: Yes, Your Honor.

Colloquy

25

1 THE COURT: Okay. All right. I was looking at your
2 original -- and what page of the case management order?

3 MR. WEISS: 16.

4 THE COURT: 16. Thank you. Okay.

5 MR. WEISS: And we start with the NFL at the bottom.
6 And go over to the next page and I believe it essentially 7 replicates what we asked in the document request and leave to 8 take discovery back in November.

9 THE COURT: Well, some of these clearly go to the 10 merits, to the substantive issues. And I am -- would consider 11 discovery relating solely to the motion to sever and the 12 expedited motions and the preemptive -- preemption motion.

13 MR. WEISS: Right. So we're talking now about the 14 preemption motion and you should have in front of you our 15 original request for discovery.

16 THE COURT: Yes. Is that what you want to deal
17 with?

18 MR. WEISS: Yes, I --

19 THE COURT: You want me to look at your proposed
20 order.

21 MR. WEISS: Yes, which is essentially what we put in 22 here. And we've already briefed it.

23 THE COURT: Okay. Would you like to -- and I've 24 read that. So, it's not at my fingertips but I have read it.
25 Yes, what's your position on the discovery?

1 MS. WILKINSON: Your Honor, as you might anticipate,
2 we don't think discovery is appropriate before the motion to 3 dismiss, the hearing that you just said which is, you are 4 considering it.

5 I'll start with that the requests they make here are 6 incredibly expansive and over-burdensome, as you pointed out.
7 And if you go through the list, it's much easier to see which 8 one relate to the merits than those that relate to the 9 supposed issue of the CBA --

10 THE COURT: Which ones do you think relate to -- 11 non-merits, just to the preemption. That's the only issue.
12 If you think that there's anything that relates to the 13 preemption, let me know. Do you want time to respond?

14 MS. WILKINSON: Well, I mean, honestly it's hard for 15 me to say. I think the first one, the structure of the NFL
16 and its relationship with its affiliates. I'm not sure that 17 would. That's not a really burdensome request.

18 THE COURT: It's not a matter of burdensome. Well, 19 it might or it might not. I don't know, it depends what your 20 brief said.

21 MS. WILKINSON: But all the other ones, you know,
22 whether we sponsored scientific reports, the Medical 23 Committee, the Executive Committee deliberations, any 24 misrepresentations, all meetings between the NFL officials and 25 scientific experts, none of those go to interpreting the CBA

1 or the preemption issue, and they go right to the merits.

2 MR. WEISS: Well, we disagree -- I'm sorry.

3 THE COURT: Tell me how it goes to anything -- how 4 does it go to the preemption issue?

5 MR. WEISS: Because the issue is whether this was a
6 voluntary undertaking by the NFL to look into the long term
7 effects of head injuries while playing football.

8 And we believe it's not covered by the CBA. It's -- 9 you don't have to use this information to determine what the 10 CBA says. And it really relates to an independent cause of 11 action that's not related to the CBA.

12 THE COURT: And what would that be? I mean, I don't 13 have your administrative complaint yet, but what would that 14 be?

15 MR. WEISS: They fraudulently concealed and hid the 16 dangers that they knew of and didn't tell the teams of the 17 players. And that takes it outside the CBA.

18 MS. WILKINSON: I believe it's a very important
19 question for us, a simple question though of are the issues
20 that they are raising preempted because they are covered in 21 part of our negotiations with the NFL Players Union and the 22 CBAs. And so it's not a matter of the merits of the case and 23 whether we did or didn't hide any information, which of course
24 we deny. It is as a legal matter are these issues so
25 intertwined in our negotiations and in those agreement's

1 details that you would have to look to those to interpret
2 these claims. It's clear they are almost by the discovery
3 that they're making that that's true because they're asking
4 for discussions with us and the union, they're asking for 5 discussions with the Scientific Committee.

6 So the legal issue, the first issue that we're 7 asking you to decide, doesn't really require any of the 8 discovery into the merits because it is interpreting the law
9 as we I think already convinced Judge Real and hope to 10 convince you are laid out in the case law and in the labor
11 statute where it's clear that these issues, the specific ones
12 they are raising, are under the CBA and would have to be 13 interpreted understanding the CBA.

14 THE COURT: All right, well, my inclination is that 15 the NFL is correct, that you don't need this information. And 16 I will stay discovery.

17 However, if there are certain items, specific items,
18 not this broad base request, and you wish to submit them
19 again, I will reconsider. Okay? But I am not going into the 20 substance of it because I do not believe that the substance at 21 this stage is relevant until I decide whether I can decide.
22 And that's what I really have to do under 301.

23 MR. WEISS: So --

24 THE COURT: Is there anything that the defense has 25 to say about this?

Colloquy

29

1 MR. CEREGHINI: No, Your Honor. I would just point
2 out that we were not a party to Easterling and no discovery
3 request has been made to us. These issues were fully briefed
4 in the Central District of California without even getting a
5 request for discovery in that venue.

6 THE COURT: Okay, thank you.

7 MR. WEISS: Your Honor, how much time do we have to 8 submit to you a --

9 THE COURT: Revised?

10 MR. WEISS: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Okay. We'll put it in our order.
12 Probably ten days, okay?

13 MR. WEISS: And you want it with a brief?

14 THE COURT: Frankly I don't really need a brief. I
15 just need to know what you want to know.

16 MR. WEISS: And why.

17 THE COURT: Because I already have -- there'll be 18 some of these that you will eliminate, and I will decide
19 whether or not they are relevant. It's unlikely that I'm 20 going to give you much discovery because I don't think that at 21 this point I have the right to hear the case yet. And I may 22 very well, depending on what your complaint says.

23 There are situations, I have to tell you, in the 24 Third Circuit that allow a case like this to continue. But,
25 at this point I have no reason to believe that discovery would

Colloquy

30

1 be helpful in making those arguments. And I'm not sure, and
2 I'm not sure whether -- and I'm not sure whether there are any 3 arguments.

4 So when I figure all that out, I'll let you start
5 discovery but not before that.

6 MR. WEISS: So let me ask this question.

7 THE COURT: Yes.

8 MR. WEISS: Do we have ten days from the date in 9 which we file the administrative complaint, or ten days from 10 now?

11 THE COURT: Ten days from now. I'm going to -- of 12 course you can -- oh, do you want it from the administrative 13 complaint?

14 MR. WEISS: Yes, because you would need to know what 15 we're alleging --

16 THE COURT: All right, okay, that's true. Okay.
17 All right, I'll give you ten days from the administrative 18 complaint.

19 MR. WEISS: Thank you, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: That's a good idea. I appreciate that.

21 Okay. Next. As far as your request, conference
22 calls, I'm not going to have routine conference calls until I
23 decide that this case belongs before me, and until I've 24 decided the expedited discovery. If you request, if you
25 request conference calls, I will in fact -- I may very well

Colloquy

31

1 give you one, but -- and liaison counsel will let me know or 2 liaison counsel here will let me know whether or not that is 3 going to be requested.

4 All right. There are some -- I'm going to give you
5 the following dates and I'm going to have these out in an
6 order.

7 To file the master administrative complaint, Friday,
8 June 8th is when it's due. Okay? And an agreed upon short
9 form complaint should be filed at the same time. So, I'm 10 going to have you work on that.

11 Ten days after that, you'll have ten days, and I'll 12 have to look and make sure it's not a weekend, but 13 approximately ten days to ask for new discovery. And you have 14 ten days in which to respond. Okay?

15 I'm going to give you 60 days -- give the NFL and 16 the Riddell defendants -- I assume you represent all of them,
17 is that correct?

18 MR. CEREGHINI: That's correct, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to give you 60 days to 20 file a motion to dismiss, and that will be August 9th, 2012.
21 I don't want -- I have a rule, no associate stays up overnight
22 over any of my orders. So, if that's the situation, let me
23 know and you can have a day -- I mean, I'm not going to be 24 harsh about this, but --

25 MS. WILKINSON: You've made some people in the back

Colloquy

32

1 of the room feel very happy, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Oh, good. I'm glad I made someone
3 happy.

4 MR. WAGNER: Does that apply to partners, Your 5 Honor?

6 THE COURT: What?

7 MR. WAGNER: Does that apply to partners?

8 THE COURT: Yes, okay -- no.

9 (Laughter)

10 THE COURT: I'm glad you asked, Mr. Wagner. No.

11 Okay. Then I'm going to file a response to it by 12 October 10th, 2012, which would give you 60 days or 13 approximately that. I don't like 60 days, I don't have enough
14 fingers, so I like dates certain, so I know what the date is.
15 So if you're going to propose something make sure that it's a 16 date certain and that I -- I actually have ten fingers and ten 17 toes, but still, if it's more than 20 days, make sure you let 18 me know what the date is.

19 All right, and Monday the 26th for a reply brief.
20 Okay? I'm sorry, Monday, November 26th for a reply brief.
21 That's 45 days. And I'll issue an order now on these dates.
22 Okay, John, you have them down?

23 I'm also going to have some restrictions on the 24 length of the briefs. I'm going to have a motion to dismiss,
25 you have 30 pages, response you have 30 days, and a reply 15

1 pages. If you come crying to me, I might give you some more,
2 but I mean, you should be able to say everything you want to
3 say in that -- in a short brief if you write well.

4 Okay. Other dates I'm going to schedule later, and 5 those dates will be if in fact the case stays with me, and 6 your case might stay severed, future status conferences,
7 commencement of fact discovery, timetable for fact discovery,
8 timetable for expert discovery and briefing schedules for 9 class certification and Daubert motions and everything else.

10 And there may be some claims that are preempted and 11 some claims that are not preempted, so it depends on what the 12 administrative complaint says.

13 And I think that's about it. Is there anyone else
14 that has anything else that they want? Yes?

15 MR. LOCKS: Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Yes.

17 MR. LOCKS: I think that there are certain things
18 that haven't been addressed yet that were on the agenda that 19 we proposed. Specifically --

20 THE COURT: That's true.

21 MR. LOCKS: -- we've asked for certain types of 22 dealing with motions on an expedited basis.

23 THE COURT: That's the motion -- I'm expediting
24 those motions, that's exactly what I'm doing. I'm doing sever
25 and I'm doing --

Colloquy

34

1 MR. LOCKS: No, no, no, let me be a little more
2 expansive.

3 THE COURT: Yes.

4 MR. LOCKS: And it deals with individual discovery
5 and preservation of testimony and facts for certain plaintiffs
6 who may be, shall I use the word, in extremis. Unfortunately,
7 as you know, Mr. Easterling committed suicide last week.
8 There are other seriously injured players whose testimony
9 should be preserved as soon as possible.

10 THE COURT: Well, I assume --

11 MR. LOCKS: In addition --

12 THE COURT: But your side is going to be able to 13 preserve that testimony.

14 MR. LOCKS: Well --

15 THE COURT: You don't need me --

16 MR. LOCKS: We need the ability to start taking 17 discovery or depositions to preserve, and then the other issue
18 is the preservation of documents, particularly with the years
19 back of the NFL as to spoilage -- I always say it incorrectly
20 -- spoliation issues.

21 There are obviously preservation of document records
22 and information that may and would be applicable in individual
23 cases as well as across the board in part of the perhaps 24 generic things.

25 THE COURT: Did you discuss this with opposing

1 counsel?

2 MR. LOCKS: We have not gotten to that point. There
3 was a certain amount of discussions about it, but it was -- no
4 one's agreed yet on the specifics to my --

5 THE COURT: Well, I'm going to ask you to meet and 6 confer on that. There's no reason for you not to keep
7 records. And there isn't -- and you want -- I'm not sure I
8 have authority, and I'll have to canvass the law on this,
9 authority to even set up depositions at this stage.

10 If I do agree to set up depositions, they will be 11 for attorneys' eyes only and of course I just may not have any 12 right.

13 The other thing is whether or not we're going to 14 need those even if you go to -- even if you go to arbitration, 15 whether you're going to need those.

16 So it may be that I'd be willing. What's your 17 position on that, Ms. Wilkinson?

18 MS. WILKINSON: Your Honor, I think it's almost 19 impossible. If we haven't gotten their complaint, and we 20 haven't gotten discovery, how would we actually depose them in 21 a way that would be meaningful to the case?

22 This is not, sadly, a unique issue to these kind of 23 cases, as you know. In personal injury cases and product
24 liability cases, even on this scale, people unfortunately pass
25 away during the time period of the litigation. And I'm not

1 aware of any example they've given us where this has been done
2 before the master complaint has been filed, let alone before
3 the motion to dismiss --

4 THE COURT: Well, I think it's premature, and I'm 5 going to allow you to make that motion after I know what the 6 case is about, because I don't know what the case is about.

7 Okay. Yes?

8 MR. CEREGHINI: Yes, Your Honor, just I want to 9 clarify the dates that you gave us for the motion to dismiss,
10 would be the same dates for the motion to sever?

11 THE COURT: Oh, I'm going to send out an order so
12 you'll get them.

13 MR. CEREGHINI: Okay. But it's the same date, dates
14 for the motion to sever?

15 THE COURT: It is, it is.

16 MR. CEREGHINI: Okay, thank you.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Is there anything else?

18 All right, I'm going to ask counsel, the Executive 19 Committee and counsel for defense -- is there anyone here from 20 the NFL?

21 MS. WILKINSON: Yes, Your Honor, we have -- our 22 clients are right here.

23 THE COURT: Okay. All right, I'm going to ask them
24 to come back with me too. And are your clients here?

25 MR. CEREGHINI: Yes, Your Honor.

Colloquy

37

1 THE COURT: All right, I'm going to ask them --

2 MR. MERRIGAN: Good morning, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: I'd like to meet them. Okay.

4 But the whole Executive Committee, the liaison
5 counsel and the counsel for defendants, and I want to meet you
6 just a few minutes in my chambers.

7 Thank you, Court is adjourned.

8 MR. WEISS: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 ALL COUNSEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

STIPULATION AND ~~PROPOSED~~ ORDER

This Stipulation and Agreement is made this 12th day of July 2012, by and among the National Football League and NFL Properties LLC (the "NFL Defendants"), the Riddell Defendants,¹ and, by and through the Plaintiffs' Executive Committee, all Plaintiffs.

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs intend to file, within two business days after entry of this Stipulation and Order, an Amended Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint, which shall supersede the Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint filed on June 7, 2012 (ECF No. 83);

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs, the NFL Defendants, and the Riddell Defendants stipulate and agree that such an amendment is timely as an amendment "as a matter of course" pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 15(a)(1)(B), and will constitute Plaintiffs' sole such permissible amendment as a matter of course pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 15(a)(1);

¹ Riddell Defendants include: Riddell, Inc.; All American Sports Corporation; Riddell Sports Group, Inc.; Easton-Bell Sports, Inc.; Easton-Bell Sports, LLC; EB Sports Corp.; and RBG Holdings Corp.

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs, the NFL Defendants, and the Riddell Defendants further stipulate and agree that the NFL Defendants and the Riddell Defendants do not concede that Plaintiffs' claims have merit, nor do the NFL Defendants or the Riddell Defendants waive any claim or defense against Plaintiffs' claims;

WHEREAS, the Amended Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint adds or revises substantive factual allegations against the NFL Defendants and the Riddell Defendants; and

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs, the NFL Defendants, and the Riddell Defendants recognize that a short extension of time for the NFL Defendants to file their upcoming motion to dismiss on preemption grounds, and for the Riddell Defendants to file their upcoming motion to sever and motion to dismiss on preemption grounds, is warranted to permit the NFL Defendants and the Riddell Defendants to assess the impact, if any, of the substantive amendments contained in the Amended Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint;

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed by and among the parties and/or their respective counsel as follows:

1. Plaintiffs shall file their Amended Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint within two business days after entry of this Stipulation and Order;
2. All dates with respect to the NFL Defendants' upcoming motion to dismiss on preemption grounds, and the Riddell Defendants upcoming motion to sever and motion to dismiss on preemption grounds, as set forth in Case Management Order No. 2 (as further explained in Case Management Order No. 4 and other subsequent orders) are extended by three (3) weeks, as follows:

The Plaintiffs, by and through multiple undersigned counsel, bring this Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint against the Defendants, the National Football League (“NFL”) and NFL Properties LLC (“NFL Properties”) (collectively hereinafter “NFL Defendants”), Riddell, Inc. (d/b/a Riddell Sports Group, Inc.), All American Sports Corporation, d/b/a Riddell/All American, Riddell Sports Group, Inc., Easton-Bell Sports, Inc., Easton-Bell Sports, LLC, and EB Sports Corp., RBG Holdings Corp. (collectively “Riddell Defendants”), and allege, upon facts and information and belief, except for the allegations concerning Plaintiff’s own actions, as follows.

INTRODUCTION

1. This case seeks a declaration of liability, injunctive relief, medical monitoring, and financial compensation for the long-term chronic injuries, financial losses, expenses, and intangible losses suffered by the Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs’ Spouses as a result of the Defendants’ intentional tortious misconduct, including fraud, intentional misrepresentation, and negligence.

2. This action arises from the pathological and debilitating effects of mild traumatic brain injuries (referenced herein as “MTBI”) caused by the concussive and sub-concussive impacts that have afflicted former professional football players in the NFL. For many decades, evidence has linked repetitive MTBI to long-term neurological problems in many sports, including football. The NFL, as the organizer, marketer, and face of the most popular sport in the United States, in which MTBI is a regular occurrence and in which players are at risk for MTBI, was aware of the evidence and the risks associated with repetitive traumatic brain injuries virtually at the inception, but deliberately ignored and actively concealed the information from the Plaintiffs and all others who participated in organized football at all levels.

3. The published medical literature, as detailed later in this Complaint, contains studies of athletes dating back as far as 1928 demonstrating a scientifically observed link between repetitive blows to the head and neuro-cognitive problems. The earliest studies focused on boxers, but by the 1950s and 1960s, a substantial body of medical and scientific evidence had been developed specifically relating to neuro-cognitive injuries in the sport of football.

4. Since the NFL's inception in the first half of the 20th Century, the NFL has been aware of the growing body of scientific evidence and its compelling conclusions that professional football players who sustain repetitive MTBI during their careers are at greater risk for chronic neuro-cognitive illness and disabilities both during their football careers and later in life.

5. Notwithstanding that it was aware of this body of scientific evidence, the NFL ignored, minimized, disputed, and actively suppressed broader awareness of the link between sub-concussive and concussive injuries in football and the chronic neuro-cognitive damage, illnesses, and decline suffered by former players, including the Plaintiffs.

6. Since its inception, the NFL has recognized, acknowledged and acted in a monopolistic manner, intent on controlling and regulating every aspect of the game of professional football, particularly with respect to player safety and health. The NFL has used this authority to compel all NFL players and participants to follow the policies, rules, and regulations the NFL has enacted and imposed. As the governing body of professional football, the NFL has held itself out as the guardian and authority on the issue of player safety and has unilaterally shouldered for itself a common law duty to provide players with rules and information that protect them as much as possible from short-term and long-term health risks.

7. The NFL's role as the guardian of player health and safety began in the 1930s, continued throughout the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s, and continues up through the present day. The NFL has exercised that role through its unilateral decisions to issue rules to improve upon NFL football's public acceptance, to make a profit, and to address issues of player safety. During these decades, the NFL voluntarily provided teams and players with information and regulations that directly affected the short and long term health of NFL players, including the Plaintiffs.

8. Despite the NFL's assumption of this responsibility, the NFL was negligent and failed to carry out this duty in that it failed to inform NFL players of the risks associated with MTBI and/or it was willfully blind to the medically proven fact that repetitive MTBI would lead to neuro-cognitive injuries in many NFL players, including the Plaintiffs. Further, the NFL actively suppressed and kept secret information about MTBI it knew would change the economics of the game and the health of players such as the plaintiffs.

9. The NFL, like the sport of boxing, was aware of the health risks associated with repetitive blows producing sub-concussive and concussive results and the fact that some members of the NFL player population were at significant risk of developing long-term brain damage and cognitive decline as a result. Despite its knowledge and controlling role in governing player conduct on and off the field, the NFL turned a blind eye to the risk and failed to warn and/or impose safety regulations governing this health and safety problem.

10. While the NFL has assumed voluntarily its role as the unilateral guardian of player safety, and NFL players and their families, including the Plaintiffs, have looked to the NFL for guidance on player safety issues, the NFL has exacerbated the health risk to players by promoting the game's violence and lauding players for returning to play despite being rendered unconscious and/or disoriented due to their exposure to sub-concussive and concussive forces.

11. In its supervisory role, as well as in its position as arbiter of all aspects of professional football, the NFL has, since its inception, unilaterally and voluntarily chosen how to spend its funds to investigate and regulate many different circumstances affecting player health and safety, including, but not limited to, requiring players to wear certain equipment, designating some player gear as illegal, and ultimately deciding what helmet brand should be recognized as the official equipment of the NFL.

12. During the decades of the 1970s and 1980s, the NFL was aware of publications in the medical science community that established that concussive and sub-concussive injuries to athletes and the general population were a significant risk factor for short-term and long-term neuro-cognitive health complications, both as single incidents and particularly as repetitive impacts. During these decades, the NFL voluntarily participated, albeit inadequately, in the work of various entities studying the performance and effectiveness of safety gear to reduce the risk of neurological injury. The NFL's participation in these activities was voluntary and a continuance of the historic duty it had assumed in the first half of the twentieth century.

13. By the early 1990s, the consensus among experts in the scientific community forced the NFL to take a different approach to the growing problem of MTBI among existing and former NFL players. In or around 1992, the NFL knew that many football players, including, by way of example, Al Toon, a Pro Bowl receiver for the New York Jets, had developed brain injuries, including chronic severe headaches, malaise, intolerance of loud noises, depression, and emotional lability as a consequence of multiple "dings," sub-concussive injuries, and concussions. The NFL was aware that Mr. Toon retired in 1992 because of these chronic problems.

14. In 1994, the NFL, through its own initiative and voluntary undertaking, took its historic duty and unilateral authority regarding player health and safety one step further. The NFL created and/or decided to fund the NFL's so-called Mild Traumatic Brain Injury Committee (the "MTBI Committee") ostensibly to research and study MTBI affecting NFL players. Notwithstanding this purported purpose, and despite clear medical evidence that on-field sub-concussive and concussive injuries can produce MTBI with tragic results, the NFL (a) failed to inform its current and former players of the true risks associated with MTBI and (b) purposefully misrepresented and/or concealed medical evidence on that issue.

15. Through its MTBI Committee, the NFL gratuitously and voluntarily inserted itself into the scientific research and discussion concerning the link between sub-concussive and concussive impacts sustained by NFL players and short-term and long-term impairment of the brain. By voluntarily inserting itself into the MTBI research and public discourse, the NFL gratuitously undertook a responsibility (a) to make truthful statements; (b) not to wrongfully advance improper, biased, and falsified industry-generated studies; (c) not to discredit well-researched and credible studies that came to a conclusion that did not comport with the NFL's financial and political interests; and, (d) to inform all former players, all current players, and the football-playing public, including young people and their families, regarding the risks of MTBI in football.

16. At the same time, the NFL and its agents continued to market, as it had in the past, the ferocity and brutality of the sport that, in part, gives rise to the latent and debilitating neuro-cognitive conditions and injuries from which Plaintiffs now suffer.

17. After voluntarily assuming a duty to investigate, study, and truthfully report the medical risks associated with MTBI in football, the NFL produced industry-funded, biased, and falsified research that claimed that concussive and sub-concussive head impacts in football do not present serious, life-altering risks.

18. For sixteen years, the NFL actively and continuously denied any link between MTBI sustained by former NFL players in NFL games and practices and the neurological symptoms and problems (such as headaches, dizziness, loss of memory, dementia and ALS) from which they now suffer. The NFL made its biased and falsified position known by way of gratuitous press releases, publications in scientific literature, and other communications.

19. Consistent with its historic role as the guardian of player health and safety, the NFL intended for the general public, NFL players, the Plaintiffs, and participants at every level of the game to rely on the misinformation it propagated.

20. During the same time period, the NFL actively sought to suppress the findings of other members of the medical communities that showed the link between on-field sub-concussive and concussive head impacts and post-career neuro-cognitive damage, illness and decline.

21. The NFL's active and purposeful concealment and misrepresentation of the severe neurological risks of repetitive MTBI exposed players to dangers they could have avoided had the NFL provided them with truthful and accurate information. Many of the players, including the Plaintiffs, sustained repetitive MTBI while in the NFL and now suffer from latent neurodegenerative disorders and diseases, all of which, in whole or in part, were caused by the NFL's acts and/or omissions.

22. The NFL caused or contributed to the injuries and increased risks to Plaintiffs through its acts and omissions by, among other things: (a) historically ignoring the true risks of MTBI in NFL football; (b) failing to disclose the true risks of repetitive MTBI to NFL players; and (c) since 1994, deliberately spreading misinformation concerning the cause and effect relationship between MTBI in NFL football and latent neurodegenerative disorders and diseases.

23. On information and belief, the NFL's motive to ignore and misrepresent the link between MTBI sustained in NFL play and neuro-cognitive injury and decline was economic. The NFL knew or suspected that any rule changes that sought to recognize that link and the health risk to NFL players would impose an economic cost that would significantly and adversely change the profit margins enjoyed by the NFL and its teams.

24. On information and belief, all NFL policies and decisions relevant to the conduct alleged herein occurred primarily in the NFL corporate offices in New York.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

25. This Court has original jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11), because there are one hundred (100) or more persons whose individual claims are being brought herein and the amount in controversy for each Plaintiff exceeds $75,000.00 dollars, exclusive of costs, interest, and attorneys' fees. The overall amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest, costs, and attorney's fees. Those claims can be tried jointly in that they involve common questions of law and fact. In addition, the Court has original jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a)(1) over the claims of individual Plaintiffs who are citizens of a state different from the states of citizenship of all Defendants they name in their Short-Form Complaints.

26. This Court has personal jurisdiction over the Defendants because they conduct substantial and continuous business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and/or in the state of the transferee forum identified in the individual Short-Form Complaint (the “transferee forum”).

27. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(a) and (b), because a substantial part of the events or omissions that give rise to the claims occurred within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and this district and/or in the transferee forum, because the Defendants conduct a substantial part of their business within this district and/or in the transferee forum, and because the Judicial Panel on Multi District Litigation decided to consolidate and transfer these case to this Court.

PARTIES

28. Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs-Spouses are those persons identified in the individual Short-Form Complaints, which adopt, in whole or in part, the allegations and Counts herein.

29. Each of the Defendants is in some fashion legally responsible for the injuries and damages complained of herein.

30. Defendant NFL, which maintains its offices at 345 Park Avenue, New York, New York, is an unincorporated association consisting of separately owned and independently-operated professional football teams which operate out of many different cities and states within this country. The NFL is engaged in interstate commerce in the business of, among other things, promoting, operating, organizing, and regulating the major professional football league in the United States. The NFL is not, and has not been, the employer of the Plaintiffs, who were employed during their respective careers in professional football by the independent clubs (hereinafter “Teams” or “Clubs”). The United States Supreme Court held in American Needle, Inc. v. NFL, 130 S. Ct. 2201, 2212-13 (2010), that each Team that is a member of the NFL is a legally distinct and separate entity from both the other Teams and the NFL itself.

31. Defendant NFL Properties, LLC is the successor-in-interest to National Football League Properties, Inc. (“NFL Properties”) and a limited liability company organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware with its headquarters in the State of New York. NFL Properties is engaged in, among other activities, approving, licensing, and promoting equipment used by all the NFL teams. NFL Properties regularly conducts business in Pennsylvania. Together with the NFL, Defendant NFL Properties is referred to herein as the “NFL Defendants.”

32. Defendant Riddell, Inc. (d/b/a Riddell Sports Group, Inc.) is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Illinois and whose principal place of business is in the State of Illinois. Riddell is engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, selling and distributing football equipment, including helmets, to the NFL and since 1989 has been the official helmet of the NFL.

33. Defendant All American Sports Corporation, d/b/a Riddell/All American, is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware and is engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, selling and distributing football equipment, including helmets, to the NFL and since 1989 has been the official helmet of the NFL.

34. Defendant Riddell Sports Group, Inc. is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 6255 N. State Highway, #300, Irving, Texas 76038.

35. Defendant Easton-Bell Sports, Inc. is a Delaware Corporation with a principal place of business at 7855 Haskell Avenue, Suite 200, Van Nuys, California 91406 and is a parent corporation of Riddell Sports Group Inc. Easton-Bell Sports, Inc. designs, develops, and markets branded athletic equipment and accessories, including marketing and licensing products under the Riddell brand.

36. Defendant Easton-Bell Sports, LLC is the parent corporation of Easton-Bell Sports, Inc. and is incorporated in Delaware, with a principal place of business at 152 West 57th Street, New York, New York 10019.

37. Defendant EB Sports Corp. is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 7855 Haskell Avenue, Van Nuys, California 91406.

38. Defendant RBG Holdings Corp. is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 7855 Haskell Avenue, Suite 350, Van Nuys, California 91406.

39. Defendants Riddell, Inc., Riddell Sports Group Inc., All American Sports Corporation, Easton-Bell Sports, Inc., EB Sports Corp., Easton-Bell Sports, LLC, and RBG Holdings Corp., shall hereinafter be referred to collectively as the “Riddell Defendants.”

40. The factual allegations against the Riddell Defendants for purposes of this Complaint are set forth in separate paragraphs.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL COUNTS AGAINST THE NFL DEFENDANTS

41. The NFL generates approximately $9,300,000,000.00 in gross income per year.

42. The NFL oversees America's most popular spectator sport, acting as a trade association for the benefit of the thirty-two independently operated Teams. The NFL's average attendance per game in 2009 was 67,509.

43. The NFL has, since its inception in the first half of the twentieth century, governed and promoted the game of football, and as referenced in detail herein, it was created and established to act as the governing body, establishing rules related to player health and safety, League policies, and Team ownership.

44. The NFL generates revenue mostly through marketing sponsorships, licensing merchandise, and by selling national broadcasting rights to the games. The Teams share a percentage of the League's overall revenue.

45. The NFL earns billions of dollars from its media deals with, inter alia, ESPN ($1.1 billion), DirecTV ($1 billion), NBC ($650 million), Fox ($712.5 million), and CBS ($622.5 million).

46. Annually, the NFL redistributes approximately $4 billion in radio, television, and digital earnings to the Teams or approximately $125 million per Team. Those revenue numbers show no sign of declining and have increased since 2009.

47. The NFL enjoys partial monopoly power through an anti-trust exemption granted via the Federal Sports Broadcasting Act that allows the NFL to sell television rights for all 32 Teams as a single unit.

The NFL's Influence

48. In part because of their financial power, monopoly status, and high visibility, the NFL Defendants have had enormous influence over the game of football at all levels of the game.

49. Over many decades, the NFL Defendants' influence has been expanded through their use of the media. Through NFL films, the NFL Network, and www.NFL.com, the NFL Defendants have promoted NFL football via every mass communication medium available.

The NFL Has Mythologized Violence Through the Media.

50. Part of the NFL Defendants' strategy to promote NFL football is: (a) to mythologize players and Teams; (b) to glorify the accomplishments of individuals and Teams; and (c) to glorify the brutality and ferocity of NFL football, by lauding and mythologizing the most brutal and ferocious players and collisions, and simultaneously propagating the fraudulent representation that "getting your bell rung," "being dinged", and putting big hits on others is a badge of courage and does not seriously threaten one's health.

51. As a result of this strategy, the NFL Defendants have propagated the false myth that collisions of all kinds, including brutal and ferocious collisions, many of which lead to short-term and long-term neurological damage to current and former NFL players, are an acceptable, desired, and natural consequence of the game, and a measure of the courage and heroism of players involved at every level of the game.

52. As a result of this strategy, and the overwhelming influence of the NFL Defendants at every level of the game, the NFL Defendants have generated for themselves and others billions of dollars every year by promoting a product of brutality and ferocity and inculcating in players at every level of the game the false and life-threatening ideas that (a) brutal, ferocious, and debilitating collisions are a required and desired outcome in the game of football; and (b) playing despite repetitive head impacts is a laudable and desirable goal.

The NFL Markets and Glorifies Football's Violence Through NFL Films.

53. NFL Films is an agent and instrumentality of the NFL Defendants devoted to producing promotional films for the NFL. One television critic described NFL Films as “the greatest in-house P.R. machine in pro sports history... an outfit that could make even a tedious stalemate seem as momentous as the battle for the Alamo.”

54. NFL Films is known for the style it features in all of its productions, capturing the NFL games, plays, players, and overall NFL environment in an artistic, promotional fashion. NFL Films cinematography is intended to create compelling storylines and highlight certain aspects of the game. NFL Films takes viewers right into the game with close-ups and slow motion depiction of all the hard-hitting action on the field.

55. NFL Films focuses on violence as one of the NFL's greatest selling points: the football player as gladiator. To advance the NFL Defendants' purpose, NFL Films has created numerous highlight features that focus solely on the hardest-hits in pro football. These featured videos are marketed and sold to advance the NFL's culture of violence as entertainment.

56. The list of videos created by NFL Films glorifying violent plays includes, but is not limited to, the following titles: “NFL: Moment of Impact” (2007); “NFL's 100 Greatest Tackles” (1995); “Big Blocks and King Size Hits” (1990); “The Best of Thunder and Destruction – NFL's Hardest Hits”; “NFL Films Video: Strike Force” (1989); “The NFL's Greatest Hits” (1989); “Crunch Course”; “Crunch Course II” (1988); “Crunch Masters”; “In the Crunch” (1987); “NFL Rocks”; “NFL Rocks: Extreme Football” (1993).

57. NFL Films created the “Top Ten Most Feared Tacklers” series that was shown on the NFL Network. Now, it has its own section on the NFL's website. These features are comprised of videos highlighting the most vicious tacklers the NFL has ever seen. These videos contain numerous explicit examples of how the NFL Defendants market and glorify the violent nature of the NFL. The back cover of 2007 film “Moment of Impact” advertises the film as follows: “First you hear the breathing, then you feel the wind coming through your helmet’s ear hole. Suddenly you’re down, and you’re looking through your helmet’s ear hole. Pain? That’s for tomorrow morning. Right now you’ve gotta focus – focus on the play and try not to focus on the next moment of impact.”

58. The entire message deemphasizes the acute and chronic risks associated with head impacts. The 1990 film “Big Blocks and King Size Hits” prominently features a head-to-head collision between Minnesota Vikings’ defender Jack Tatum and Oakland Raiders’ receiver Sammy White in Super Bowl XI in which White’s helmet is knocked clear off his head. In 1993’s “NFL Rocks,” the late Junior Seau offers his opinion on the measure of a punishing hit: “If I can feel some dizziness, I know that guy is feeling double [that].” In a segment of the same film, glorifying gutsy receivers who expose themselves to big hits by going “over the middle” of the field, former Houston Oilers receiver Ernest Givens is quoted as saying: “I get knocked out a lot, I get concussions, I get broken noses, that is part of being a receiver, that’s what separates you from being a typical receiver than a great receiver.” Former Dallas Cowboys receiver Michael Irvin recites a similar unawareness of the risks of concussions: “Before the game, I go to the [defensive backs] and tell them, ‘Hey, you know I’ll trade a concussion for a reception!’”

59. NFL Films, therefore, advances the NFL Defendants’ agenda to promote the most violent aspects of NFL football and to urge players at every level of the game to disregard the results of violent head impacts.

60. The NFL Defendants strategically use NFL Films’ cinematography and on-field microphones to exaggerate and emphasize vicious hits, which take on the appearance of the slow-motion crash test videos that appear in many car commercials, and the players taking on the role of the crash-test dummies.

61. The NFL Defendants, through NFL Films, promote a culture in which playing hurt or with an injury is both expected and acclaimed in a mythical gladiator world. Through NFL Films, the NFL has produced videos that praise players who embody the ethos of playing hurt (for example, “Top Ten Gutsiest Performances”). This film and others like it celebrate players’ ability to play through the pain and injury and promote an expectation among players and fans that players must and often do play through any injury, including MTBI.

62. This culture encourages NFL players to play despite a head injury. Moreover, failure to play through such an injury creates the risk that the NFL player will lose playing time, a starting position, and possibly a career.

63. Within this culture, the NFL Defendants purposefully profit from the violence they promote.

64. This culture of violence, sponsored and encouraged by the NFL Defendants, has too many examples to provide in this Complaint.

65. A few examples demonstrate its indelible place in the modus operandi of the NFL Defendants. After joining the NFL, the Cleveland Browns were led by Hall of Famer Otto Graham to many consecutive championships. The media and the NFL management at the time were well aware of the targeted blows to the head suffered by Graham, with resulting loss of consciousness. Nevertheless, Graham was encouraged to come back and play in each game.

66. This attitude and League-sponsored mayhem continued in the decades of the 1980s, 1990s and 2000s, with players lauded for their “head hunting” skills. As recently as October 2010, the NFL fined some players for what it characterized as “illegal and dangerous hits”, and yet the NFL

Defendants sought to profit by selling photos of the illegal hits on its website for between $54.95 and $249.95.

Head Injuries, Concussions, and Neurological Damage

67. Medical science has known for many decades that repetitive and violent jarring of the head or impact to the head can cause MTBI with a heightened risk of long term, chronic neuro-cognitive sequelae.

68. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that the American Association of Neurological Surgeons (the “AANS”) has defined a concussion as “a clinical syndrome characterized by an immediate and transient alteration in brain function, including an alteration of mental status and level of consciousness, resulting from mechanical force or trauma.” The AANS defines traumatic brain injury (“TBI”) as:

a blow or jolt to the head, or a penetrating head injury that disrupts the normal function of the brain. TBI can result when the head suddenly and violently hits an object, or when an object pierces the skull and enters brain tissue. Symptoms of a TBI can be mild, moderate or severe, depending on the extent of damage to the brain. Mild cases may result in a brief change in mental state or consciousness, while severe cases may result in extended periods of unconsciousness, coma or even death.

69. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that MTBI generally occurs when the head either accelerates rapidly and then is stopped, or is rotated rapidly. The results frequently include, among other things, confusion, blurred vision, memory loss, nausea, and sometimes unconsciousness.

70. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that medical evidence has shown that symptoms of MTBI can appear hours or days after the injury, indicating that the injured party has not healed from the initial blow.

71. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that once a person suffers an MTBI, he is up to four times more likely to sustain a second one. Additionally, after suffering even a single sub-concussive or concussive blow, a lesser blow may cause MTBI, and the injured person requires more time to recover. This goes to the heart of the problem: players being unaware of the serious risk posed to their long-term neuro-cognitive health.

72. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that clinical and neuro-pathological studies by some of the nation's foremost experts demonstrate that multiple head injuries or concussions sustained during an NFL player's career can cause severe neuro-cognitive problems such as depression and early-onset of dementia.

73. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that published peer reviewed scientific studies have shown that repeated traumatic head impacts (including sub-concussive and concussive blows) cause ongoing and latent brain injury. These injuries have been documented and associated with sports-related head impacts in both football and boxing.

74. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that neuropathology studies, brain imaging tests, and neuropsychological tests on many former football players, including former NFL players, have established that football players who sustain repetitive head impacts while playing the game have suffered and continue to suffer brain injuries that result in any one or more of the following conditions: early-onset of Alzheimer's Disease, dementia, depression, deficits in cognitive functioning, reduced processing speed, attention and reasoning, loss of memory, sleeplessness, mood swings, personality changes, and the debilitating and latent disease known as Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy ("CTE"). The latter condition involves the slow build-up of the Tau protein within the brain tissue that causes diminished brain function, progressive cognitive decline, and many of the symptoms listed above. CTE is also associated with an increased risk of suicide.

75. The NFL Defendants have known or should have known for many years that CTE is found in athletes, including football players and boxers, with a history of repetitive head trauma. Published papers have shown that this condition is prevalent in retired professional football players who have a history of head injury. The changes in the brain caused by repetitive trauma are thought to begin when the brain is subjected to that repetitive trauma, but symptoms may not appear until months, years, or even decades after the last traumatic impact or the end of active athletic involvement.

76. The NFL Defendants have known for many years of the reported papers and studies documenting autopsies on over twenty-five former NFL players. The papers and studies show that over ninety percent of the players suffered from CTE.

77. As a result, published peer reviewed scientific studies have shown that concussive and sub-concussive head impacts while playing professional football are linked to significant risk for permanent brain injury.

78. Published peer reviewed scientific studies have shown that 28% of the NFL retirees studied suffered from depression, whereas the prevalence of depression in the general population is 9.5%.

79. Published peer reviewed scientific studies have shown that 36% of NFL retirees, age 65-75, who were studied suffered from dementia, whereas the prevalence of dementia in the general population for the same age group is merely 2.2-6.5%.

80. Published peer reviewed scientific studies have shown that retired players with three or more reported concussions had a fivefold prevalence of mild cognitive impairment (MCI) and a threefold prevalence of significant memory problems, compared to other retirees.

81. In a study of NFL retirees, 11.1% of all respondents reported having a diagnosis of clinical depression.

82. NFL retirees experience earlier onset of Alzheimer's-like symptoms more frequently than the general American male population in the same age range.

83. Repeated head trauma can also result in so-called “Second Impact Syndrome,” in which re-injury to a person who has already suffered a concussion triggers swelling that the skull cannot accommodate.

The NFL Was and Is in a Superior Position of Knowledge and Authority and Owed a Duty to Players

84. At all times, the NFL's unique historical vantage point at the apex of the sport of football, paired with its unmatched resources as the most well-funded organization devoted to the business of the game, has afforded it unparalleled access to data relating the effect of head impacts on football players and made it an institutional repository of accumulated knowledge about head injuries to players.

85. The NFL's accumulated knowledge about head injuries to players, and the associated health risks therefrom, was at all times vastly superior to that available to the Plaintiffs.

86. From its inception, the NFL unilaterally created for itself the role of protecting players, informing players of safety concerns, and imposing unilaterally a wide variety of rules to protect players from injuries that were costly to the player, the game, and profits. From the beginning, the NFL held itself out and acted as the guardian of the players' best interests on health and safety issues.

87. For these reasons, players and their families have relied on the NFL to intervene in matters of player safety, to recognize issues of player safety, and to be truthful on the issue of player safety.

88. In a recent public admission, the NFL stated that “[s]ince its earliest days, the league has continuously taken steps to ensure that the game is played as fairly as possible without unnecessary risk to its participants, including making changes and enhancements to game safety rules.” (www.nflhealthsafety.com/commitment/regulations) (2011-2012).

89. On information and belief, since its inception, the NFL received and paid for advice from medical consultants regarding health risks associated with playing football, including the health risks associated with concussive and sub-concussive injuries. Such ongoing medical advice and knowledge placed the NFL in position of ongoing superior knowledge to the players. Combined with the NFL’s unilateral and monopolistic power to set rules and determine policies throughout its game, the NFL at all relevant times was in a position to influence and dictate how the game would be played and to define the risks to which players would be exposed.

90. As a result, the NFL unilaterally assumed a duty to act in the best interests of the health and safety of NFL players, to provide truthful information to NFL players regarding risks to their health, and to take all reasonable steps necessary to ensure the safety of players.

91. The NFL’s voluntary actions and authority throughout its history show that as early as the 1920s the NFL shouldered for itself the common law duty to make the game of professional football safer for the players and to keep the players informed of safety information they needed to know.

92. The NFL’s historical actions in connection with these legal duties have included, but are not limited to, the following: adding a field judge (1929); establishing hash-marks at 10 yards from the sidelines (1933); establishing the penalty of unnecessary roughness for a deliberate rough contact on the passer after the pass is made (1938); making helmets mandatory (1943); adding a back field judge (1947); establishing a rule that the ball is dead when a runner touches the ground with any part of his body except his hands while in the grasp of an opponent (1955); establishing a rule that the ball is dead immediately if the runner touches the ground with any part of his body except his hands after being contacted by a defensive player (1956); establishing a penalty for grabbing the face mask of any opponent except a runner (1956); establishing a penalty of grabbing the face mask of any opponent (1962); requiring that goal posts be offset from the goal line (1966); establishing a rule that a player who signals for a fair catch cannot block or initiate contact with one of the kicking team's players until the ball touches a player (1967); establishing a rule that a defensive player who jumps or stands on a teammate or who is picked up by a teammate cannot attempt to block an opponent's kick (1973); establishing a rule that no receiver can be blocked below the waist after moving beyond the line of scrimmage (1974); establishing a rule that eligible receivers who take a position more than two yards from the tackle cannot be blocked below the waist (1974); establishing a rule that a defender is not permitted to run or dive into a ball carrier who has fallen to the ground untouched (1976); establishing a rule that it is illegal for a defensive lineman to strike an opponent above the shoulders during his initial charge (1977) (previously the NFL made this illegal only during the first step); establishing that it is illegal for a wide receiver to clip an opponent anywhere (1977); establishing rules as to mandatory equipment (1979); establishing that it is illegal for a player in the backfield to chop an outside rusher on a pass play (1979); establishing that it is illegal to throw a punch or forearm or to kick an opponent (1979); and establishing that it is illegal to strike, swing, or club an opponent in the head, neck or face (1980).

93. As the sport's governing entity (with monopolistic power), the NFL has made it known to players and teams alike that the NFL actively and pervasively governs player conduct and health and safety both on and off the field. In public statements since its inception, the NFL has stated that its goals include taking necessary steps for the safety, health and well-being of players and their families.

94. The NFL's approach has been paternalistic and has included comprehensive rookie training programs to teach new players how to manage their personal lives, inquiries from the media, and newly acquired income.

95. For decades, the NFL voluntarily instituted programs to support player health and safety on and off the field, and the players and their families looked to the NFL for guidance on these issues.

96. By way of example only, in 1959, the NFL unilaterally established medical, life insurance, and retirement plans, funded the plans, and controlled the nature and extent of each of these plans without any player involvement. The NFL made all changes to the plans unilaterally.

97. Despite its unilateral duty and power to govern player conduct on and off the field, the NFL has for decades ignored, turned a blind eye to, and actively concealed the risks to players of repetitive sub-concussive and concussive head impacts, which can and do result in players being knocked unconscious or having “their bell rung” so that they are in a conscious but disoriented state.

98. As one example, Cleveland Browns Quarterback Otto Graham was knocked unconscious during a game against the San Francisco 49ers in 1953 and he was carried off the field. After regaining consciousness, however, Graham returned to the field and played the balance of the game, even though his jaw required fifteen stitches after the game.

99. Thus, since its inception, and continuing into the present, the NFL has been in a position that affords it a special relationship to NFL players as the guardian of their health and safety. For that reason, from its inception and continuing into the present, the NFL owed a duty of reasonable care to keep NFL players informed of neurological risks, to inform NFL players truthfully, and not to mislead NFL players about the risks of permanent neurological damage that can occur from MTBI incurred while playing football.

100. By way of example only, during the decades of the 1930s through the 1960s, the NFL – in its supervisory role as guardian of player safety -- identified tackling techniques that exposed players to increased risks of injury, including head, neck, and leg injuries. Once identified, the NFL issued regulations which served as daily warnings to players of the hazardous nature of continuing to follow hazardous tackling techniques.

101. As a result of its position of authority and repository of a composite of information throughout the League, the NFL was aware of how to protect NFL players from dangerous circumstances on the field of play and took unilateral, but insufficient, measures to do so.

102. For decades, the NFL failed to warn NFL players of the medical risks associated with repetitive head impacts during NFL games and practices.

103. Instead, the NFL ignored the risks and/or was willfully blind to the risks and/or actively concealed the risks from NFL players, despite its historic and proactive role as the guardian of player safety. For that reason, the NFL breached its common law duty of reasonable and ordinary care to the Plaintiffs by failing to provide them with necessary, adequate, and truthful information about the heightened risks of latent neurological damage that arise from repetitive head impacts during NFL games and practices.

104. On information and belief, over the past two decades, the NFL continued to exercise this common law duty and its unilateral authority to investigate and advise NFL players on many diverse and important topics, and that should have included the recognition of circumstances that can precipitate MTBI, the long-term potential consequences of MTBI to NFL players, and solutions for players who have sustained MTBI.

105. Moreover, from 1994 until 2010, the NFL publicly inserted itself into the business of head injury research and openly disputed that any short-term or long-term harmful effects arose from football-related sub-concussive and concussive injuries. The NFL propagated its own industry funded and falsified research to support its position, despite its historic role as the guardian of player safety, and despite the fact that independent medical scientists had already come to the opposite conclusion.

106. As such, the NFL continued its existing common law duty to provide truthful scientific research and information about the risks of concussive and sub-concussive injuries to NFL players, including the Plaintiffs, who relied on the NFL's research and pronouncements on that subject.

107. The NFL knew, reasonably expected, and intended NFL players, including the Plaintiffs, to rely on its research and pronouncements on that subject, in part, because of the historic special relationship between the NFL and the players and, in part, because the NFL knew that the vast majority of NFL players played under non-guaranteed contracts and would willingly (and unknowingly) expose themselves to additional neurological injury and an increased risk of harm solely to maintain those non-guaranteed contracts. The NFL had, in fact, developed over time a market brand analogous to that of Roman Gladiators that urged players to sacrifice all for "the game" as an essential mentality for play in the NFL. The 2007 NFL Films video "Moment of Impact" emphasized that "3rd and 4th stringers, special team players will risk life and limb to catch the coach's eye" for a spot on an NFL roster. During a voice-over emphasizing that these players hope "to make the team by making an impact," the video depicts a Buffalo Bills defender delivering a devastating blow directly to the head of the vulnerable Indianapolis Colts' kick-return man who had just caught the ball.

The NFL Knew the Dangers and Risks Associated with Repetitive Head Impacts and Concussions

108. For decades, the NFL has been aware that multiple blows to the head can lead to long-term brain injury, including but not limited to memory loss, dementia, depression, and CTE and its related symptoms.

109. In 1928, pathologist Harrison Martland described the clinical spectrum of abnormalities found in "almost 50 percent of fighters [boxers] . . . if they ke[pt] at the game long enough" (the “Martland study”). The article was published in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The Martland study was the first to link sub-concussive blows and “mild concussions” to degenerative brain disease.

110. In 1937, the American Football Coaches Association published a report warning that players who suffer a concussion should be removed from sports demanding personal contact.

111. In 1948, the New York State Legislature created the Medical Advisory Board of the New York Athletic Commission for the specific purpose of creating mandatory rules for professional boxing designed to prevent or minimize the health risks to boxers. After a three year study, the Medical Advisory Board recommended, among other things, (a) an accident survey committee to study ongoing accidents and deaths in boxing rings; (b) two physicians at ring-side for every bout; (c) post-bout medical follow-up exams; (d) a 30-day period of no activity following a knockout and a medical follow up for the boxer, all of which was designed to avoid the development of “punch drunk syndrome,” also known at the time as “traumatic encephalopathy”; (e) a physician’s prerogative to recommend that a boxer surrender temporarily his boxing license if the physician notes that the boxer suffered significant injury or knockout; and (f) a medical investigation of boxers who suffer knockouts numerous times.

112. The recommendations were codified as rules of the New York State Athletic Commission.

113. In or about 1952, the Journal of the American Medical Association published a study of encephalopathic changes in professional boxers.

114. That same year, an article published in the New England Journal of Medicine recommended a three-strike rule for concussions in football (i.e., recommending that players cease to play football after receiving their third concussion.)

115. In 1962, Drs. Serel & Jaros looked at the heightened incidence of chronic encephalopathy in boxers and characterized the disease as a “Parkinsonian” pattern of progressive decline.

116. A 1963 study by Drs. Mawdsley & Ferguson published in Lancet found that some boxers sustain chronic neurological damages as a result of repeated head injuries. This damage manifested in the form of dementia and impairment of motor function.

117. A 1967 study Drs. Hughes & Hendrix examined brain activity impacts from football by utilizing EEG to read brain activity in game conditions, including after head trauma.

118. In 1969 (and then again in the 1973 book entitled Head and Neck Injuries in Football), a paper published in the Journal of Medicine and Science in Sports by a leading medical expert in the treatment of head injuries, recommended that any concussive event with transitory loss of consciousness requires the removal of the football player from play and requires monitoring.

119. In 1973, Drs. Corsellis, Bruton, & Freeman-Browne studied the physical neurological impact of boxing. This study outlined the neuropathological characteristics of “Dementia Pugilistica,” including loss of brain cells, cerebral atrophy, and neurofibrillary tangles.

120. A 1975 study by Drs. Gronwall & Wrightson looked at the cumulative effects of concussive injuries in non-athletes and found that those who suffered two concussions took longer to recover than those who suffered from a single concussion. The authors noted that these results could be extrapolated to athletes given the common occurrence of concussions in sports.

121. In the 1960s and 70s, the development of the protective face mask in football allowed the helmeted head to be used as a battering ram. By 1975 the number of head and neck injuries from football that resulted in permanent quadriplegias in Pennsylvania and New Jersey lead to the creation of the National Football Head and Neck Registry, which was sponsored by the National Athletic Trainers Association and the Sports Medicine Center at the University of Pennsylvania.

122. In 1973, a potentially fatal condition known as “Second Impact Syndrome”—in which re-injury to the already-concussed brain triggers swelling that the skull cannot accommodate—was identified. It did not receive this name until 1984. Upon information and belief, Second Impact Syndrome has resulted in the deaths of at least forty football players.

123. Between 1952 and 1994, numerous additional studies were published in medical journals including the Journal of the American Medical Association, Neurology, the New England Journal of Medicine, and Lancet warning of the dangers of single concussions, multiple concussions, and/or football-related head trauma from multiple concussions. These studies collectively established that:

repetitive head trauma in contact sports, including boxing and football, has potential dangerous long-term effects on brain function; encephalopathy (dementia pugilistica) is caused in boxers by repeated sub-concussive and concussive blows to the head; acceleration and rapid deceleration of the head that results in brief loss of consciousness in primates also results in a tearing of the axons (brain cells) within the brainstem; with respect to mild head injury in athletes who play contact sports, there is a relationship between neurologic pathology and length of the athlete's career; immediate retrograde memory issues occur following concussions;

mild head injury requires recovery time without risk of subjection to further injury;

head trauma is linked to dementia:

a football player who suffers a concussion requires significant rest before being subjected to further contact; and,

minor head trauma can lead to neuropathological and neurophysiological alterations, including neuronal damage, reduced cerebral blood flow, altered brainstem evoked potentials and reduced speed of information processing.

124. In the early 1980s, the Department of Neurosurgery at the University of Virginia published studies on patients who sustained MTBI and observed long-term damage in the form of unexpected cognitive impairment. The studies were published in neurological journals and treatises within the United States.

125. In 1982, the University of Virginia and other institutions conducted studies on college football teams that showed that football players who suffered MTBI suffered pathological short-term and long-term damage. With respect to concussions, the same studies showed that a person who sustained one concussion was more likely to sustain a second, particularly if that person was not properly treated and removed from activity so that the concussion symptoms were allowed to resolve.

126. The same studies showed that two or more concussions close in time could have serious short-term and long-term consequences in both football players and other victims of brain trauma.

127. In 1986, Dr. Robert Cantu of the American College of Sports Medicine published Concussion Grading Guidelines, which he later updated in 2001.

128. By 1991, three distinct medical professionals/entities, all independent from the NFL—Dr. Robert Cantu of the American College of Sports Medicine, the American Academy of Neurology, and the Colorado Medical Society—developed return-to-play criteria for football players suspected of having sustained head injuries.

129. On information and belief, by 1991, the NCAA football conferences and individual college teams' medical staffs, along with many lower-level football groups (e.g., high school, junior high school, and pee-wee league) had disseminated information and adopted criteria to protect football players even remotely suspected of having sustained concussions.

130. Further, Rule 4.2.14 of the World Boxing Council’s Rules and Regulations states: “[b]oxers that suffered concussion by KO [loss of consciousness], should not participate in sparring sessions for 45 days and no less than 30 days after concussive trauma, including but not limited to KO’s, and should not compete in a boxing match in less than 75 days.”

131. In 1999, the National Center for Catastrophic Sport Injury Research at the University of North Carolina conducted a study involving eighteen thousand (18,000) collegiate and high school football players. The research showed that once a player suffered one concussion, he was three times more likely to sustain a second in the same season.

132. In 1999, former Pittsburgh Steeler and Hall of Fame inductee Mike Webster filed with the NFL a request that he receive complete disability benefits based on the fact that he had sustained repeated and disabling head impacts while a player for the Steelers. In 1999, Webster submitted extensive medical reports and testimony that stated, among other things, that Webster suffered from “traumatic or punch drunk encephalopathy [brain disease]” sustained from playing football that left Webster totally and permanently disabled as of 1991.

133. The NFL’s own physician independently examined Webster and concluded that Webster was mentally “completely and totally disabled as of the date of his retirement and was certainly disabled when he stopped playing football sometime in 1990.”

134. Webster died in 2002 at the age of fifty. In December 2006, the Estate of Webster received an unpublished opinion from the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit that affirmed the decision of the District Court that the administrator had wrongly denied him benefits. In its opinion, the Fourth Circuit stated that the NFL Plan had acknowledged that the multiple head injuries Webster sustained during his playing career (1974-1990) “. . . had caused Webster eventually to suffer total and permanent mental disability”

135. Thus, the NFL, through its own expert medical testimony and the expert testimony submitted by Webster knew and accepted that repetitive traumatic brain injuries sustained by a Hall of Fame player led to long-term encephalopathy and permanent mental disability.

136. A 2000 study, which surveyed 1,090 former NFL players, found that more than sixty (60) percent had suffered at least one concussion, and twenty-six (26) percent had suffered three (3) or more, during their careers. Those who had sustained concussions reported more problems with memory, concentration, speech impediments, headaches, and other neurological problems than those who had not been concussed.

137. Also in 2000, a study presented at the American Academy of Neurology's 52nd Annual Meeting and authored by Dr. Barry Jordan, Director of the Brain Injury Program at Burke Rehabilitation Hospital in White Plains, New York, and Dr. Julian Bailes, surveyed 1,094 former NFL players between the ages of 27 and 86 and found that: (a) more than 60% had suffered at least one concussion in their careers, with 26% of the players having three or more and 15% having five or more; (b) 51% had been knocked unconscious more than once; (c) 73% of those injured said they were not required to sit on the sidelines after their head trauma; (d) 49% of the former players had numbness or tingling; 28% had neck or cervical spine arthritis; 31% had difficulty with memory; 16% were unable to dress themselves; 11% were unable to feed themselves; and (3) eight suffered from Alzheimer's disease.

138. A 2001 report by Dr. Frederick Mueller that was published in the Journal of Athletic Training reported that a football-related fatality has occurred every year from 1945 through 1999, except for 1990. Head-related deaths accounted for 69% of football fatalities, cervical spinal injuries for 16.3%, and other injuries for 14.7%. High school football produced the greatest number of football head-related deaths. From 1984 through 1999, sixty-nine football head-related injuries resulted in permanent disability.

139. In 2004, a convention of neurological experts in Prague met with the aim of providing recommendations for the improvement of safety and health of athletes who suffer concussive injuries in ice hockey, rugby, football, and other sports based on the most up-to-date research. These experts recommended that a player never be returned to play while symptomatic, and coined the phrase, “when in doubt, sit them out.”

140. This echoed similar medical protocol established at a Vienna conference in 2001. These two conventions were attended by predominately American doctors who were experts and leaders in the neurological field.

141. The University of North Carolina's Center for the Study of Retired Athletes published survey-based papers in 2005 through 2007 that found a strong correlation between depression, dementia, and other cognitive impairment in NFL players and the number of concussions those players had received.

142. The chart on the following page, which was excerpted from an article in the 2010 New England Journal of Medicine entitled “Traumatic Brain Injury—Football, Warfare, and Long-Term Effects,” shows that even mild “traumatic brain injury” (“TBI”) can have lasting consequences that are manifest later in the football player's life.

143. A 2006 publication stated that “[a]ll standard U.S. guidelines, such as those first set by the American Academy of Neurology and the Colorado Medical Society, agree that athletes who lose consciousness should never return to play in the same game.”

144. Indeed, while the NFL knew for decades of the harmful effects of sub-concussive and concussive injuries on a player's brain, it actively concealed these facts from coaches, players, and the public.

145. On information and belief during every decade referenced above, the NFL was advised by physicians of all kinds regarding the risks associated with playing the game of football, including the risks associated with head impacts and MTBI.

146. As described above, the NFL has known for decades that MTBI can and does lead to long-term brain injury, including, but not limited to, memory loss, dementia, depression, and CTE and its related symptoms.

147. Rather than take immediate measures to protect NFL players from these known dangers, between the 1950s and 1994, the NFL failed to disseminate to then-current and former NFL players relevant health information it possessed regarding the significant risks associated with MTBI.

The NFL Voluntarily Undertook the Responsibility of Studying Head Impacts In Football, Yet Fraudulently Concealed Their Long-Term Effects.

148. In 1994, then NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue agreed to fund a committee to study the issue of head injury in the NFL. The NFL voluntarily and unilaterally formed the MTBI Committee to study the effects of concussions and sub-concussive injury on NFL players.

149. At that time, the current NFL Commissioner, Roger Goodell, was the NFL's Vice President and Chief Operating Officer.

150. With the MTBI Committee, the NFL voluntarily inserted itself into the private and public discussion and research on an issue that goes to the core safety risk for players who participate at every level of the game. Through its voluntary creation of the MTBI Committee, the NFL affirmatively assumed a duty to use reasonable care in the study of concussions and post-concussion syndrome in NFL players; the study of any kind of brain trauma relevant to the sport of football; the use of information developed; and the publication of data and/or pronouncements from the MTBI Committee.

151. Rather than exercising reasonable care in these duties, the NFL immediately engaged in a long-running course of fraudulent and negligent conduct, which included a campaign of disinformation designed to (a) dispute accepted and valid neuroscience regarding the connection between repetitive traumatic brain injuries and concussions and degenerative brain disease such as CTE; and (b) to create a falsified body of research which the NFL could cite as proof that truthful and accepted neuroscience on the subject was inconclusive and subject to doubt.

152. The NFL's response to the issue of brain injuries and degenerative brain disease in retired NFL players has been, until very recently, a concerted effort of deception and denial. The NFL actively tried to and did conceal the extent of the concussion and brain trauma problem, the risk to the Plaintiffs, and the risks to anyone else who played football.

153. The NFL's unparalleled status in the world of football gave the MTBI Committee's pronouncements on concussions authority and validity. The Plaintiffs, therefore, reasonably relied on the NFL's pronouncements and/or silence on this vital health issue.

154. The MTBI Committee's stated goal was to present objective findings on the extent to which a concussion problem existed in the League, and to outline solutions. Ironically, the MTBI Committee's studies were supposed to be geared toward "improv[ing] player safety" and for the purpose of instituting "rule changes aimed at reducing head injuries."

155. By 1994, when the NFL formed the MTBI Committee, independent scientists and neurologists alike were already convinced that all concussions—even seemingly mild ones—were serious injuries that can permanently damage the brain, impair thinking ability and memory, and hasten the onset of mental decay and senility, especially when they are inflicted frequently and without time to properly heal.

156. The MTBI Committee was publicized by the NFL as independent from the NFL, consisting of a combination of doctors and researchers.

157. The MTBI Committee, however, was not independent. It consisted of at least five (5) persons who were already affiliated with the NFL.

158. Instead of naming a noted neurologist to chair the MTBI Committee, or at least a physician with extensive training and experience treating head injuries, Commissioner Tagliabue appointed Dr. Elliot Pellman, a rheumatologist who lacked any specialized training or education relating to concussions, and who was a paid physician and trainer for the New York Jets.

159. Dr. Pellman had reportedly been fired by Major League Baseball for lying to Congress regarding his resume.

160. Dr. Pellman would chair the MTBI Committee from 1994-2007, and his leadership of the Committee came under frequent and harsh criticism related to his deficient medical training, background, and experience.

161. The fact that Dr. Pellman was a paid physician for an NFL Team was an obvious conflict of interest. At no time was Dr. Pellman independent of the NFL, because he was paid on an ongoing basis by an NFL Team.

162. The NFL failed to appoint any neuropathologist to the MTBI Committee.

163. From its inception in 1994, the MTBI Committee allegedly began conducting studies to determine the effect of concussions on the long-term health of NFL players.

164. Current NFL Commissioner Goodell confirmed this in June 2007 when he stated publicly that the NFL had been studying the effects of traumatic brain injury for “close to 14 years”

165. Under Dr. Pellman, the MTBI Committee spearheaded a disinformation campaign.

166. Dr. Pellman and two other MTBI Committee members, Dr. Ira Casson, a neurologist, and Dr. David Viano, a biomedical engineer, worked to discredit scientific studies that linked head impacts and concussions received by NFL players to neuro-cognitive disorders and disabilities.

167. The MTBI Committee did not publish its first findings on active players until 2003. In that publication, the MTBI Committee stated, contrary to years of (independent) findings, that there was no long term negative health consequence associated with concussions.

168. The MTBI Committee published its findings in a series of sixteen (16) papers between 2003 and 2009. According to the MTBI Committee, all of their findings supported a conclusion that there was no long term negative health consequence associated with concussions or sub-concussive injuries sustained by NFL players. These findings regularly contradicted the research and experiences of neurologists who treat sports concussions and the players who endured them.

169. Completely contrary to peer reviewed scientific publications, the NFL’s team of hand-picked so-called experts on the MTBI Committee did not find concussions to be of significant concern and felt it appropriate for players suffering a concussion to continue playing football during the same game or practice in which one was suffered. This recommendation and practice by the NFL, promoted by the MTBI Committee, was irresponsible and dangerous.

170. The MTBI Committee’s methodology and the conclusions reached in its research were criticized by independent experts due to the numerous flaws in the study design, methodology, and interpretation of the data, which led to conclusions at odds with common medical knowledge and basic scientific protocol.

171. For example, in 2004 the MTBI Committee published a conclusion in which it claimed that its research found no risk of repeated concussions in players with previous concussions and that there was no “7-to-10 day window of increased susceptibility to sustaining another concussion.”

172. In a comment to this publication, one independent doctor wrote that “[t]he article sends a message that it is acceptable to return players while still symptomatic, which contradicts literature published over the past twenty years suggesting that athletes be returned to play only after they are asymptomatic, and in some cases for seven days.”

173. As a further example, an MTBI Committee conclusion in 2005 stated that “[p]layers who are concussed and return to the same game have fewer initial signs and symptoms than those removed from play. Return to play does not involve a significant risk of a second injury either in the same game or during the season.” “These data suggest,” the MTBI Committee reported, “that these players were at no increased risk” of subsequent concussions or prolonged symptoms such as memory loss, headaches, and disorientation.

174. Yet, a 2003 NCAA study of 2,905 college football players found just the opposite: “Those who have suffered concussions are more susceptible to further head trauma for seven to 10 days after the injury.”

175. Support for this same conclusion was developed as early as 1982 in studies conducted at the University of Virginia.

176. Dr. Pellman and his group stated repeatedly that the NFL study showed “no evidence of worsening injury or chronic cumulative effects of multiple [MTBI] in NFL players.”

177. The 2003 report by the Center for the Study of Retired Athletes at the University of North Carolina, however, found a link between multiple concussions and depression among former professional players with histories of concussions. A 2005 follow-up study by the Center showed a connection between concussions and both brain impairment and Alzheimer's disease among retired NFL players.

178. Other contrary conclusions that the MTBI Committee published at the behest, urging, and sponsorship of NFL over several years include, but are not limited to, the following:

Drs. Pellman and Viano stated that because a "significant percentage of players returned to play in the same game [as they suffered a concussion] and the overwhelming majority of players with concussions were kept out of football-related activities for less than 1 week, it can be concluded that mild [TBIs] in professional football are not serious injuries"; that NFL players did not show a decline in brain function after a concussion; that there were no ill effects among those who had three (3) or more concussions or who took hits to the head that sidelined them for a week or more;

that "no NFL player experienced the second-impact syndrome or cumulative encephalopathy from repeat concussions"; and that NFL players' brains responded and healed faster than those of high school or college athletes with the same injuries.

179. The MTBI Committee's papers and conclusions were against the weight of the scientific evidence and based on biased data-collection techniques. They received significant criticism in the scientific and medical media from independent doctors and researchers and were met with skepticism in peer review segments following each article's publication.

180. Moreover, the conclusions of the MTBI Committee completely contradicted the medical testimony Hall of Fame player Mike Webster submitted to the NFL in his application for disability, including the testimony the NFL's own paid expert submitted in connection with Mr. Webster's application.

181. Renowned experts Dr. Robert Cantu and Dr. Julian Bailes wrote harshly critical reviews of the studies' conclusions.

182. Dr. Cantu observed that the extremely small sample size and voluntary participation in the NFL's study suggested there was bias in choosing the sample. According to Dr. Cantu, no conclusions should be drawn from the NFL study.

183. A different scientist who reviewed the MTBI Committee's work further stated that the NFL appeared to be primarily preparing a defense for when injured players eventually sued, and that it seemed to be promoting a flawed scientific study to justify its conclusion that concussions do not have adverse effects on players.

184. Dr. Kevin Guskiewicz has stated that the “data that hasn’t shown up makes their work questionable industry-funded research.”

185. The MTBI Committee's work was criticized when repeated inconsistencies and irregularities in the MTBI Committee's data were revealed.

186. The MTBI Committee failed to include hundreds of neuropsychological tests done on NFL players in the results of the Committee's studies on the effects of concussions and was selective in its use of injury reports.

187. The results reported by Dr. Pellman and the MTBI Committee selectively excluded at least 850 baseline tests. In a paper published in Neurosurgery in December 2004, Dr. Pellman and the other MTBI Committee members reported on the baseline data for 655 players and the results for 95 players who had undergone both baseline testing and post-concussion testing. They concluded that NFL players did not show a decline in brain function after suffering concussions. Their further analysis purportedly found no ill effects among those who had three or more concussions or who took hits to the head that kept them out for a week or more. The paper did not explain where the players in the study groups came from specifically or why certain player data was included and that data from hundreds of other players was not.

188. Pellman subsequently fired William Barr, a neuropsychologist for the New York Jets, after Dr. Barr presented at a conference some NCAA study findings that contradicted NFL practices.

189. As described in the following paragraphs, when faced with studies which tended to show a causal link between MTBI and cognitive degeneration, the NFL, through the MTBI Committee, produced contrary findings that were false, distorted, and deceptive to NFL players, participants in football nationwide, and the public at large.

190. Between 2002 and 2007, Dr. Bennet Omalu examined the brain tissue of deceased NFL players, including Mike Webster, Terry Long, Andre Waters, and Justin Strzelczyk. Dr. Omalu concluded that the players suffered from CTE.

191. All of these individuals suffered multiple concussions during their NFL careers. Later in life, each exhibited symptoms of deteriorated cognitive functions, paranoia, panic attacks, and depression.

192. Some of Dr. Omalu's findings were published in Neurosurgery. Those findings included that Webster's and Long's respective deaths were partially caused by CTE and were related to multiple concussions suffered during their activity in the NFL.

193. In response to Dr. Omalu's articles, the MTBI Committee wrote a letter to the editor of Neurosurgery asking that Dr. Omalu's article be retracted.

194. In an article published in Neurosurgery in 2007, Dr. Cantu reached a similar conclusion regarding Waters as Dr. Omalu had reached as to Webster and Long.

195. A 2003 study partially authored by Dr. Kevin Guskiewicz analyzed data from almost 2,500 retired NFL players and found that 263 of the retired players suffered from depression. The study found that having three or four concussions meant twice the risk of depression as never-concussed players and five or more concussions meant a nearly three-fold risk.

196. The NFL's MTBI Committee attacked these studies.

197. In November 2003, Dr. Guskiewicz was scheduled to appear on HBO's "Inside the NFL" to discuss his research. Dr. Pellman called Dr. Guskiewicz in advance and questioned whether it was in the best interest of Dr. Guskiewicz to appear on the program. On the program, Dr. Pellman stated unequivocally that he did not believe the results of the study led by Dr. Guskiewicz.

198. In 2005, Dr. Guskiewicz performed a clinical follow-up study, and found that retired players who sustained three or more concussions in the NFL had a five-fold prevalence of mild cognitive impairment in comparison to NFL retirees without a history of concussions. In doing this research, Dr. Guskiewicz conducted a survey of over 2,550 former NFL athletes.

199. The MTBI Committee attacked and sought to undermine the study, issuing the following excuse and delay tactic: "We want to apply scientific rigor to this issue to make sure that we're really getting at the underlying cause of what's happening. . . . You cannot tell that from a survey."

200. In August 2007, the NFL, in keeping with its scheme of fraud and deceit, issued a concussion pamphlet to players which stated:

Current research with professional athletes has not shown that having more than one or two concussions leads to permanent problems if each injury is managed properly. It is important to understand that there is no magic number for how many concussions is too many. Research is currently underway to determine if there are any long-term effects of concussion[s] in NFL athletes.

201. In a statement made around the time that the concussion pamphlet was released, NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell said, “We want to make sure all NFL players . . . are fully informed and take advantage of the most up to date information and resources as we continue to study the long-term impact of concussions.” The NFL decided that the “most up to date information” did not include the various independent studies indicating a causal link between multiple concussions and cognitive decline in later life.

202. Goodell also stated, “[b]ecause of the unique and complex nature of the brain, our goal is to continue to have concussions managed conservatively by outstanding medical personnel in a way that clearly emphasizes player safety over competitive concerns.”

203. The Plaintiffs relied to their detriment on the NFL’s disinformation, all of which was contrary to the findings of the independent scientists who had studied the issue, including Drs. Guskiewicz, Cantu, Omalu, and Bailes, regarding the causal link between multiple head injuries and concussions and cognitive decline.

204. The NFL’s conflict of interest and motive to suppress information regarding the risks of repetitive traumatic brain injuries and concussions was vividly demonstrated by Dr. Pellman’s treatment of a concussion sustained by former star New York Jets player Wayne Chrebet. This occurred in 2003, the same time period when Dr. Pellman chaired the MTBI Committee.

205. In November 2003, Chrebet sustained a concussion from another player’s knee to the back of his head. The impact left him face down on the field in an unconscious state for several minutes. Once Chrebet was on the sideline and conscious, Dr. Pellman administered tests. Dr. Pellman knew that Chrebet had sustained a concussion, but reportedly Chrebet performed adequately on standard memory tests. According to reports, Dr. Pellman asked Chrebet some questions, including whether he was “okay.” Chrebet responded that he was. Reportedly, Dr. Pellman told Chrebet that,

“This is very important for your career,” and sent Chrebet back into the game. Shortly thereafter, Chrebet was diagnosed with post-concussion syndrome and kept out of games for the remainder of the 2003 season.

206. Today, Chrebet is 38 years old and reportedly suffers from depression and memory problems.

207. In 2005, the MTBI Committee published a paper that stated “[p]layers who are concussed and return to the same game have fewer initial signs and symptoms than those removed from play. Return to play does not involve a significant risk of a second injury either in the same game or during the season.”

208. Facing increasing media scrutiny over the MTBI Committee’s questionable studies, Dr. Pellman eventually resigned as chair of the Committee in February 2007. He was replaced as chair by Dr. Ira Casson and Dr. David Viano, but remained a member of the Committee.

209. Dr. Guskiewicz, research director of the University of North Carolina’s Center for the Study of Retired Athletes, said at the time that Dr. Pellman was “the wrong person to chair the committee from a scientific perspective and the right person from the league’s perspective.”

210. Regarding Dr. Pellman’s work, Dr. Guskiewicz stated, “[w]e found this at the high school level, the college level and the professional level, that once you had a concussion or two you are at increased risk for future concussions,” but “[Dr. Pellman] continued to say on the record that’s not what they find and there’s no truth to it.”

211. Drs. Casson and Viano continued to dismiss outside studies and overwhelming evidence linking dementia and other cognitive decline to brain injuries. In 2007, in a televised interview on HBO’s Real Sports, Dr. Casson unequivocally stated that there was no link between concussions and depression, dementia, Alzheimer’s disease, or “anything like [that] whatsoever.”

212. In June 2007, the NFL convened a concussion summit for team doctors and trainers. Independent scientists, including Drs. Cantu, and Guskiewicz, presented their research to the NFL.

213. Dr. Julian Bailes, a neurosurgeon from West Virginia University, briefed the MTBI Committee on the findings of Dr. Omalu and other independent studies linking multiple NFL head injuries with cognitive decline. Dr. Bailes recalled that the MTBI's Committee's reaction to his presentation was adversarial: "The Committee got mad . . . we got into it. And I'm thinking, 'This is a . . . disease in America's most popular sport and how are its leaders responding? Alienate the scientist who found it? Refuse to accept the science coming from him?'"

214. At the summit, Dr. Casson told team doctors and trainers that CTE has never been scientifically documented in football players.

215. After reviewing five years of data of on-field concussions, the NFL falsely concluded that there was no evidence for an increase in secondary brain injuries after a concussion.

216. In 2008, Boston University’s Dr. Ann McKee found CTE in the brains of two more deceased NFL players, John Grimsley and Tom McHale. Dr. McKee stated, “the easiest way to decrease the incidence of CTE [in contact sport athletes] is to decrease the number of concussions.” Dr. McKee further noted that “[t]here is overwhelming evidence that [CTE] is the result of repeated sublethal brain trauma.”

217. A MTBI Committee representative characterized each study as an “isolated incident” from which no conclusion could be drawn, and said he would wait to comment further until Dr. McKee’s research was published in a peer-reviewed journal. When Dr. McKee’s research was published in 2009, Dr. Casson asserted that “there is not enough valid, reliable or objective scientific evidence at present to determine whether . . . repeat head impacts in professional football result in long[-]term brain damage.”

218. In 2008, under increasing pressure, the NFL commissioned the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research to conduct a study on the health of retired players. Over 1,000 former NFL players took part in the study. The results of the study, released in 2009, reported that "Alzheimer's disease or similar memory-related diseases appear to have been diagnosed in the league's former players vastly more often than in the national population---including a rate of 19 times the normal rate for men ages 30 through 49."

219. The NFL, who commissioned the study, responded to these results by claiming that the study was incomplete, and that further findings would be needed. NFL spokesperson Greg Aiello stated that the study was subject to shortcomings and did not formally diagnose dementia. Dr. Casson implied that the Michigan study was inconclusive and stated that further work was required. Other experts in the field found the NFL's reaction to be "bizarre," noting that "they paid for the study, yet they tried to distance themselves from it."

The Congressional Inquiry and
The NFL's Acknowledgement of the Concussion Crisis

220. Shortly after the results of the Michigan study were released, Representative John Conyers, Jr., Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, called for hearings on the impact of head injuries sustained by NFL players.

221. Drs. Cantu and McKee testified before the House of Representatives, Committee on the Judiciary, to discuss the long-term impact of football-related head injuries.

222. At the first hearing in October 2009, NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell acknowledged that the NFL owes a duty to the public at large to educate them as to the risks of concussions due to the League's unique position of influence: "In addition to our millions of fans, more than three million youngsters aged 6-14 play tackle football each year; more than one million high school players also do so and nearly seventy five thousand collegiate players as well. We must act in their best interests even if these young men never play professional football.”

223. When Representative Linda Sanchez questioned Goodell about the limited nature of the NFL’s purported studies on repetitive traumatic brain injuries and concussions, the conflicts of interest of those directing the studies, and the potential for bias, Goodell evaded answering the questions.

224. On December 17, 2009, Cincinnati Bengals wide receiver Chris Henry, 26, who played in the NFL from 2004 to 2009, died after falling from the back of a truck. Drs. Omalu and Bailes performed a postmortem study on Henry’s brain and diagnosed him with CTE.

225. In January 2010, the House Judiciary Committee held further hearings on football player head injuries. Representative Conyers observed that “until recently, the NFL had minimized and disputed evidence linking head injuries to mental impairment in the future.”

226. Representative Sanchez commented that “[i]t seems to me that the N.F.L. has literally been dragging its feet on this issue until the past few years. Why did it take 15 years?”

227. In the 2010 Congressional hearings, Dr. Casson gave testimony that denied the validity of other non-NFL studies and stated that “[t]here is not enough valid, reliable or objective scientific evidence at present to determine whether or not repeat head impacts in professional football result in long term brain damage.”

228. The members of the MTBI Committee, however, knew of the decades-old studies linking MTBI to long-term neurological problems. Casson, a MTBI Committee member since its inception, stated before Congress on January 4, 2010, that he was “the lead author of a landmark paper on brain damage in modern boxers that was published in the [Journal of the American Medical Association] in 1984.” That paper, which referenced the many studies documenting CTE in boxers, studied eighteen former and active boxers and found that eighty-seven percent of the professional boxers had definite evidence of brain damage. Specifically, the study determined that the subjects performed particularly poorly on neuropsychological tests measuring short-term memory.

229. In his written statement to Congress, Casson stated that he has “been concerned about the possibility of long term effects on the brain related to football for close to thirty years.” Dr. Casson offered that one of the reasons he “was asked to be on the NFL MTBI committee was because of [his] knowledge of and experience treating boxers with chronic traumatic encephalopathy (CTE).”

230. This testimony contradicted Casson’s testimony that “there is not enough valid, reliable or objective scientific evidence at present to determine whether or not repeat head impacts in professional football result in long term brain damage.”

231. On February 1, 2010, Dr. Omalu spoke before members of the House Judiciary Committee at a forum in Houston, Texas with regard to “Head and Other Injuries in Youth, High School, College, and Professional Football.” In his prepared testimony, he explained:

Glenn Pop Warner [1871 – 1954] founded the Pop Warner youth football league in 1929. He still remains one of the greatest football coaches in the history of American football. The single event, which necessitated the use of pads and helmets by football players took place in 1888 when the annual rules convention for the emerging sport of college football passed a rule permitting tackling below the waist.

Football changed dramatically. Teams no longer arrayed themselves across the entire breadth of the field. Teams bunched themselves around the runner to block for him. The wedge and mass play arrived. Football became, for a time, a savage sport full of fights, brawling, even fatalities.”

In 1912, Pop Warner said: “Playing without helmets gives players more confidence, saves their heads from many hard jolts, and keeps their ears from becoming torn or sore. I do not encourage their use. I have never seen an accident to the head which was serious, but I have many times seen cases when hard bumps on the head so dazed the player receiving them that he lost his memory for a time and had to be removed from the game.”

We have known about concussions and the effects of concussions in football for over a century. Every blow to the head is dangerous. Repeated concussions and sub-concussions both have the capacity to cause permanent brain damage. During practice and during games, a single player can sustain close to one thousand or more hits to the head in only one season without any documented or reported incapacitating concussion. Such repeated blows over several years, no doubt, can result in permanent impairment of brain functioning especially in a child.

232. After the Congressional hearings, the NFLPA called for the removal of Dr. Casson as MTBI Committee co-chair, and stated, “Our view is that he’s a polarizing figure on this issue, and the players certainly don’t feel like he can be an impartial party on this subject.”

233. In 2010, the NFL re-named the MTBI Committee the “Head, Neck, and Spine Medical Committee” (the “Medical Committee”) and announced that Dr. Pellman would no longer be a member of the panel. Drs. H. Hunt Batjer and Richard G. Ellenbogen were selected to replace Casson and Viano. The two new co-chairmen selected Dr. Mitchel S. Berger to serve on the new Medical Committee.

234. Under its new leadership, the Committee admitted that data collected by the NFL’s formerly appointed brain-injury leadership was “infected,” and said that their Committee should be assembled anew. The Medical Committee formally requested that Dr. Pellman not speak at one of its initial conferences.

235. During a May 2010 Congressional hearing, a Congressman made it plain to Drs. Batjer and Ellenbogen that the NFL: “[had] years of an infected system here, and your job is . . . to mop [it] up.”

236. Shortly after the May 2010 hearing, Dr. Batjer was quoted as admitting, “[w]e all had issues with some of the methodologies described, the inherent conflict of interest that was there in many areas, that was not acceptable by any modern standards or not acceptable to us. I wouldn’t put up with that, our universities wouldn’t put up with that, and we don’t want our professional reputations damaged by conflicts that were put upon us.”

237. In June 2010, scientific evidence linked multiple concussions to yet another degenerative brain disease—Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (“ALS”), commonly referred to as “Lou Gehrig’s Disease.”

238. On February 17, 2011, former Chicago Bears and New York Giants player Dave Duerson committed suicide. Fifty years old at the time, Duerson had suffered months of headaches, blurred vision, and faltering memory.

239. Before his death, Duerson wrote a final note that asked that his brain be given to the NFL brain bank for evaluation. After his death, Dr. Cantu determined that Duerson was suffering from CTE.

240. When this information was reported, NFLPA Executive Director DeMaurice Smith stated that the fact that Duerson was suffering from CTE makes it abundantly clear what the cost of football is for the men who played and the families. It seems to me that any decision or course of action that doesn't recognize that as the truth is not only perpetuating a lie, but doing a disservice to what [Duerson] feared and what he wanted to result from the donation of his brain to science.

241. In July 2011, John Mackey, former tight end of the Baltimore Colts died. Mackey was diagnosed with front temporal lobe dementia in 2007, forcing him to live full-time in an assisted living facility.

The NFL's New Committee

242. In October 2011, Dr. Mitchel Berger of the NFL's new Head, Neck, and Spine Medical Committee announced that a new study was in the planning process. He admitted that the MTBI Committee's previous long-range study was useless because "[t]here was no science in that." Dr. Berger further stated that data from the previous study would not be used. "We're really moving on from that data. There’s really nothing we can do with that data in terms of how it was collected and assessed.”

243. Why in 1994 (and far earlier) the NFL (and its MTBI Committee) failed to share accurate information and take appropriate actions is difficult to comprehend in light of the fact that the NFL has known for decades that multiple blows to the head can lead to long-term brain injury, including memory loss, dementia, depression, and CTE and its related symptoms. Instead, the NFL misled players, coaches, trainers, and the public, and actively spread disinformation.

244. It took decades for the NFL to admit that there was a problem and sixteen years to admit that its information was false and inaccurate. The NFL’s conduct in this regard is willful and wanton and exhibits a reckless disregard for the safety of its players and the public at large. At a minimum, the NFL acted with callous indifference to the duty it voluntarily assumed to the Plaintiffs and players at every level of the game.

245. As a direct result of the fraudulent concealment and misrepresentations by the NFL, former players have for many decades been led to believe that the symptoms of early-onset dementia, ALS, loss of memory, headaches, confusion, and the inability to function were not caused by events occurring while they played in the NFL. And, as a result of this willful and malicious conduct, these former players have been deprived of medical treatment, incurred expenses, lost employment, suffered humiliation, and sustained other damages to be specified.

COUNT I
ACTION FOR DECLARATORY RELIEF – LIABILITY
(Against the NFL)

246. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

247. There is a case and controversy among Plaintiffs on the one hand and the NFL on the other.

248. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201, Plaintiffs seeks a declaration as to the following:

- a) that the Defendant NFL knew or reasonably should have known, at all times material, that the repeated traumatic head impacts the Plaintiffs endured while playing NFL football were likely to expose them to excess risk to neurodegenerative disorders and diseases, including but not limited to CTE, Alzheimer's disease or similar cognitive-impairing conditions;
- b) that based on the Defendant NFL's voluntary undertaking to study the issue of MTBI, it had a duty to advise Plaintiffs of that heightened risk;
- c) that Defendant NFL willfully and intentionally concealed from and misled the Plaintiffs concerning that risk; and
- d) that Defendant NFL recklessly endangered Plaintiffs.

COUNT II
MEDICAL MONITORING
(Against the NFL)

249. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

250. The Plaintiffs experienced repetitive traumatic brain impacts during their respective NFL careers that significantly increased their risk of developing neurodegenerative disorders and diseases, including but not limited to CTE, Alzheimer's disease, and other similar cognitive-impairing conditions.

251. Repetitive MTBI during NFL practices and games has a microscopic and latent effect on the brain. Repetitive exposure to accelerations to the head causes deformation, twisting, shearing, and stretching of neuronal cells such that multiple forms of damage take place, including the release of small amounts of chemicals within the brain, such as the Tau protein. Among other things, the gradual build-up of Tau protein – sometimes over decades -- causes CTE, which is the same phenomenon as boxer’s encephalopathy (or “punch drunk syndrome”) studied and reported by Harrison Martland in 1928.

252. The game of football as played in the NFL, including both practices and game play, has exposed former players to hazardous conditions and out-of-the ordinary risks of harm. These repetitive head accelerations to which the Plaintiffs have been exposed presented risks of latent but long-term debilitating chronic illnesses which are not presented to the normal population. Absent the defendant's negligence, fraud, and misrepresentations, the Plaintiffs' exposure to the risks of harm as described above would have been materially lower.

253. Accordingly, the repetitive head impacts sustained by NFL players in NFL games and practices exposed NFL players, including the Plaintiffs, to subtle and repetitive changes within the brain on the cellular level. For that reasons, the environment within which NFL players have sustained repetitive head impacts exposed them to substantive hazards.

254. Depending on many factors, including the amount of the exposure to repetitive head impacts and the release of Tau protein, the player/victim will develop a range of subtle to significant neuro-cognitive changes over time.

255. The latent injuries which develop over time and manifest later in life include but are not limited to varying forms of neuro-cognitive disability, decline, personality change, mood swings, rage, and, sometimes, fully developed encephalopathy.

256. Like the organizers of boxing, the NFL was fully aware of the danger of exposing all NFL players to repetitive head impacts, including the repetitive sub-concussive and concussive blows that increase the risk to NFL players of, among other latent injuries, encephalopathy.

257. As noted above, by its actions and omissions and fraudulent conduct, from 1994 through 2010, the NFL further breached its duty (which it had assumed as long ago as the 1930s) of reasonable and ordinary care to the Plaintiffs by failing to provide NFL players, including the Plaintiffs, with necessary, adequate, and truthful information about the heightened risks of neurological damage that arise from repetitive head impacts during NFL games and practices.

258. As a proximate result of the NFL's tortious conduct, the Plaintiffs have experienced an increased risk of developing serious latent neurodegenerative disorders and diseases, including but not limited to CTE, Alzheimer's disease, and/or other and similar cognitive-impairing conditions.

259. The latent brain injuries from which Plaintiffs suffer require specialized testing (with resultant treatment) that is not generally given to the public at large.

260. The available monitoring regime is specific for individuals exposed to repetitive head trauma and is different from that normally recommended in the absence of exposure to this risk of harm.

261. The medical monitoring regime includes, but is not limited to, baseline tests and diagnostic examinations which will assist in diagnosing the adverse health effects associated with football-related MTBI. This diagnosis will facilitate the treatment and behavioral and/or pharmaceutical interventions that will prevent or mitigate various adverse consequences of the latent neurodegenerative disorders and diseases associated with the repetitive sub-concussive and concussive injuries that Plaintiffs experienced in the NFL.

262. The available monitoring regime is reasonably necessary according to contemporary scientific principles within the medical community specializing in the diagnosis of head injuries and their potential link to, inter alia, memory loss, impulse rage, depression, early-onset dementia, CTE, Alzheimer-like syndromes, and similar cognitive-impairing conditions.

263. By monitoring and testing Plaintiffs, the risk that Plaintiffs will suffer long term injuries, disease, and losses will be significantly reduced.

264. By monitoring and testing Plaintiffs, the risk that Plaintiffs will suffer long term injuries, disease, and losses without adequate treatment will be significantly reduced.

265. Plaintiffs, therefore, seek an injunction creating a Court-supervised, NFL-funded medical monitoring program which will facilitate the diagnosis and adequate treatment of Plaintiffs for neurodegenerative disorder or disease. The medical monitoring should include a trust fund to pay for the medical monitoring and treatment of Plaintiffs as frequently and appropriately as necessary.

266. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law in that monetary damages alone cannot compensate them for the continued risk of developing long-term physical and economic losses due to concussions and sub-concussive injuries. Without Court-approved medical monitoring as described herein, or established by the Court, the Plaintiffs will continue to face an unreasonable risk of continued injury and disability.

COUNT III
WRONGFUL DEATH AND SURVIVAL ACTIONS
(Against the NFL)

267. Plaintiffs and their respective Executors or equivalent legal representatives under applicable state law (hereinafter “Executors”) incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

268. The Plaintiffs' legal representatives bring this action in their representative capacity of the decedent's Estate and next of kin and on behalf of the respective survivors of those Plaintiffs.

269. As a direct and proximate cause of the conduct alleged herein, the NFL caused the Plaintiffs to develop the debilitating brain diseases and conditions set forth above, which diseases and conditions caused extreme pain, suffering, and anguish and, ultimately, the deaths of some Plaintiffs.

270. The legal representatives of the deceased Plaintiffs claim damages recoverable under applicable law for all pecuniary and non-pecuniary losses suffered by the deceased Plaintiffs by reason of their deaths.

271. As a direct and proximate result of the untimely deaths of the Plaintiffs, their respective survivors and/or surviving distributees have been deprived of the earnings, maintenance, guidance, support and comfort that they would have received from for the rest of the respective Plaintiffs' natural lives, and have suffered commensurate pecuniary and non-pecuniary losses because of the Plaintiffs' wrongful deaths.

272. The Plaintiffs' legal representatives claim the full measure of damages allowed under applicable law.

COUNT IV
FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT
(Against the NFL)

273. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

274. Between the early 1950s and 1994, the NFL knew that repetitive head impacts in football games and full-contact practices created a risk of harm to NFL players that was similar or identical to the risk of harm to, for example, boxers who receive repetitive impacts to the head during boxing practices and matches.

275. The NFL has been aware of and understood the significance of the published medical literature dating from as early as the 1920s that there is a serious risk of short-term and long-term brain injury associated with repetitive traumatic impacts to the head to which NFL players are exposed.

276. During that time period, the NFL knowingly and fraudulently concealed from then-current NFL players and former NFL players the risks of head injuries in NFL games and practices, including the risks associated with returning to physical activity too soon after sustaining a sub-concussive or concussive injury.

277. From 1994 through June of 2010, the NFL's fraudulent concealment continued. During that time period, the NFL voluntarily funded and produced its own purported scientific research and through that research repeatedly misrepresented to then-current and former NFL players, the United States Congress, and the general public that there is no link (or an insufficient scientific link) between MTBI in NFL activities and later-in-life cognitive/brain injury, including CTE and its related symptoms.

278. Given the NFL's superior and unique vantage point, the Plaintiffs reasonably looked to the NFL for guidance on head injuries and concussions.

279. The NFL's MTBI Committee published articles and the concussion pamphlet referenced above, all of which concealed and minimized the risks of repetitive brain impacts the NFL knew existed for its then-current players and for its former players, who reasonably relied on the NFL's pronouncements and/or silence on this vital health issue.

280. The NFL's concussion pamphlet created an atmosphere of trust that the NFL had carefully undertaken its voluntary responsibility to research, test, study, and report accurate findings to the players and former players. The NFL stated that "[w]e want to make sure all NFL players ... are fully informed and take advantage of the most up to date information and resources as we continue to study the long-term impact of concussions."

281. The concealment was ongoing. Dr. Casson provided oral and written testimony at the 2010 congressional hearings in which he continued to deny the validity of other studies. Dr. Casson also denied the link between repetitive brain impacts and short- and long-term brain damage in public interviews.

282. The NFL, therefore, concealed material facts and information with the intent to deceive and defraud, which caused Plaintiffs to become exposed to the harm referenced above. For those Plaintiffs who had retired prior to the above-mentioned misrepresentations, the NFL's concerted concealment of the risks to which they had been exposed on the playing field delayed their ability to plan for the future of themselves and their families and to seek appropriate treatment of their latent neurodegenerative conditions.

283. The NFL knew and expected that Plaintiffs would rely on the inaccurate information provided by the NFL, and Plaintiffs in fact did reasonably rely on the inaccurate information provided by the NFL during and after their NFL careers.

284. As a direct and proximate result of the NFL's fraudulent conduct, Plaintiffs have suffered physical injury, including, but not limited to, existing and latent cognitive conditions that create memory loss, diminished cognitive function, non-economic losses, and economic losses.

285. As a direct and proximate result of the NFL's willful concealment, Plaintiffs have suffered and will continue to suffer substantial injuries, emotional distress, pain and suffering, and economic and non-economic damages that are ongoing and continuing in nature.

286. As a result of the NFL's misconduct as alleged herein, the NFL is liable to Plaintiffs for, and Plaintiffs seek, the full measure of damages allowed under applicable law.

COUNT V
FRAUD
(Against the NFL)

287. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1-245 and 279-283 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

288. At least since the early 1950s the NFL knew that repetitive head impacts in football games and full-contact practices created a risk of harm to NFL players that was similar or identical to the risk of harm to boxers who receive the same or similar repetitive impacts to the head during boxing practices and matches.

289. The NFL knew that the risks of brain injury could be reduced by implementing changes to the game, akin to the ones the NFL belatedly adopted in 2011, such as (1) the baseline cognitive testing of players for comparison purposes during and after contact play, (2) the active monitoring of players for signs of MTBI, (3) the employment of a neurologist on the sidelines, and (4) return-to-play rules consistent with proper medical management of MTBI.

290. The NFL, however, withheld the information it knew about the risks of head injuries in the game from then-current NFL players and former NFL players and ignored the known risks to all NFL players.

291. On information and belief, the NFL deliberately delayed implementing the changes to the game it knew could reduce players' exposure to the risk of life-altering head injuries because those changes would be expensive and would reduce the profitability of the League.

292. The NFL has been aware of and understood the significance of the published medical literature dating from as early as the 1920s that there is a serious risk of short-term and long-term brain injury associated with repetitive traumatic impacts to the head to which NFL players are exposed.

293. The NFL and its agents -- employed to formulate the MTBI committee and populate the published scientific literature with "studies" intent on disputing the conclusions of independent researchers regarding the long-term chronic disabilities and injuries associated with head injury -- made these material misrepresentations with the intent to defraud the Plaintiffs.

294. Given the NFL's superior and unique vantage point, the Plaintiffs reasonably looked to the NFL for guidance on head injuries and concussions.

295. During that time period, the NFL knowingly and fraudulently concealed from then-current NFL players and former NFL players the risks of head injuries in NFL games and practices, including the risks associated with returning to physical activity too soon after sustaining a sub-concussive or concussive injury.

296. The NFL, however, withheld this information from then-current NFL players and former NFL players and ignored the known risks to all NFL players.

297. Beginning in 1994, the NFL and its agents funded and created a falsified body of purported scientific research that misrepresented to then-current NFL players, all former NFL players, the United States Congress, and the general public that there was no scientifically proven link between repetitive sub-concussive and concussive injuries sustained during football and brain injury, including but not limited to CTE and its related symptoms.

298. The NFL and its agents -- employed to formulate the MTBI Committee and populate the published scientific literature with “studies” intent on disputing the conclusions of independent researchers regarding the long-term chronic disabilities and injuries associated with head injury -- made these material misrepresentations with the intent to defraud the Plaintiffs.

299. During their playing days and after their retirement from the NFL, the Plaintiffs justifiably and reasonably relied on the NFL's omissions and misrepresentations to their detriment.

300. As a result of the NFL's misconduct as alleged herein, the NFL is liable to Plaintiffs.

301. The Plaintiffs were damaged by the NFL's misconduct. They have suffered and will continue to suffer substantial injuries, emotional distress, pain and suffering, and economic and non-economic damages that are ongoing and continuing in nature.

302. As a result of the NFL's fraud, the NFL is liable to Plaintiffs for, and Plaintiffs seek, the full measure of damages allowed under applicable law.

COUNT VI
NEGLIGENT MISREPRESENTATION
(Against the NFL)

303. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

304. A special relationship exists between the NFL and the Plaintiffs sufficient to impose a duty on the NFL to disclose accurate information to the Plaintiffs.

305. Prior to 1994, the NFL knew that repetitive head impacts in football games and practices created a risk of harm to NFL players that was similar or identical to the risk of harm to boxers who receive repetitive impacts to the head during boxing practices and matches.

306. Prior to 1994, the NFL was aware of and understood the significance of the published medical literature demonstrating the serious risk of both short-term and long-term adverse consequences from the kind of repetitive traumatic impacts to the head to which NFL players were exposed.

307. The NFL, however, withheld this information from NFL players and ignored the risks to NFL players.

308. Before June of 2010, the NFL made material misrepresentations to its players, former players, the United States Congress, and the public at large that there was no scientifically proven link between repetitive traumatic head impacts and later-in-life cognitive/brain injury, including CTE and its related symptoms.

309. Defendant NFL, therefore, misrepresented the dangers the Plaintiffs faced in returning to action after sustaining a head injury and the long-term effects of continuing to play football after a head injury.

310. The NFL's MTBI Committee made public statements, published articles, and issued the concussion pamphlet to its players, which the NFL knew or should have known were misleading, downplaying and obfuscating to NFL players the true and serious risks of repetitive traumatic head impacts.

311. The MTBI Committee made material misrepresentations on multiple occasions, including but not limited to testimony at congressional hearings and other information issued to current and former NFL Players.

312. The Plaintiffs' reliance on the NFL was reasonable, given the NFL's superior and unique vantage point on these issues.

313. The Defendant's misrepresentations included the false statement that present NFL players were not at an increased risk of short-term and long-term adverse consequences if they returned too soon to an NFL games or practices after suffering head trauma and, therefore, that former players had not been exposed to such increased risk during their time in the NFL.

314. The NFL's misrepresentations included ongoing and baseless criticism of legitimate scientific studies that set forth the dangers and risks of head impacts which NFL players regularly sustained.

315. The NFL made these misrepresentations and actively concealed true information at a time when it knew, or should have known, because of its superior position of knowledge, that the Plaintiffs faced serious health problems if they returned to a game too soon after sustaining a concussion.

316. The NFL knew or should have known the misleading nature of their statements when they were made.

317. The NFL made the misrepresentations and actively concealed information knowing that the Plaintiffs would and did rely on the misrepresentations or omissions in, among other things, how the Plaintiffs addressed the concussive and sub-concussive injuries they sustained. For those Plaintiffs who had retired prior to the above-mentioned misrepresentations, the NFL's concerted concealment of the risks to which they had been exposed on the playing field delayed their ability to plan for the future of themselves and their families and to seek appropriate treatment of their latent neurodegenerative conditions.

318. As a result of the NFL's misrepresentations, it is liable to Plaintiffs.

319. As a direct and proximate result of the NFL's negligent misrepresentations, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer serious personal injury, including neuro-cognitive brain disease and associated damages including mental disability, loss of income, pain and suffering, emotional distress, and loss of consortium. Plaintiffs seek the full measure of damages allowed under applicable law.

COUNT VII
NEGLIGENCE: PRE-1968 CONDUCT OF THE NFL
(Against the NFL)

320. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1-11, 19-20, 22(a)-22(b), 23-52, 67-103, and 107-147 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

321. In 1922, the American Professional Football Association became the National Football League and in 1933, the NFL began developing rules and regulations of play that were significantly different than those previously followed and were used by collegiate football leagues.

322. In 1937, the American Football Coaches Association published a report warning that players who suffer a concussion should be removed from sports demanding personal contact.

323. Between 1933 and 1968, the NFL assumed and carried out a duty to supervise how the game of football was played in the United States.

324. Between 1933 and 1968, the NFL assumed and carried out a duty to inform and advise players and teams of the foreseeable harm that can arise from such things as the use of leather helmets, the need to wear hard plastic helmets to reduce head wounds and internal injury (1943) and the grabbing of an opponent's facemask—to minimize or avoid head and neck injuries (1956/1962). These warnings and imposed safety rules were furnished by the NFL because it had assumed a duty to provide a safe environment for players and because of its superior knowledge of the risks of injury to players.

325. Based on information and belief, the NFL voluntarily inserted itself into the tasks assumed by others to develop helmet safety standards to reduce the risk of head injury while playing football. Despite its voluntary participation in these activities, the defendant negligently failed to adopt these standards for a considerable period of time after others had done so.

326. During this time period, the NFL knew or should have known of medical or scientific literature regarding the risks of short- and long-term neuro-cognitive disabilities and deficits to athletes exposed to MTBI.

327. During this time period, the NFL knew or should have known that repetitive sub-concussive and concussive blows to the heads of NFL players can and do result in short-term and long-term brain damage.

328. During this time period, the NFL knew or should have known that it was the practice in the NFL to compel or cajole players to play with injuries, including sub-concussive injuries, concussive injuries and injuries involving a loss of consciousness.

329. During this time period, the NFL had superior knowledge (as compared to the NFL players themselves) that athletic sporting events causing sub-concussive and concussive injuries posed a serious risk of short-term and long-term cognitive disabilities.

330. The NFL's failure to address the continuing health risks associated with sub-concussive and/or concussive injuries that NFL players sustained before 1968 constituted a breach of its duty to these players, which has resulted in long term neuro-cognitive problems and disabilities to former NFL players, including the Plaintiffs.

331. During this time period, the NFL’s continuing perpetration of the dangerous myth that NFL players are tough and can withstand “getting their bell rung,” “suffering dings,” or temporarily losing consciousness while playing constitutes causative negligence. The perpetration of misleading and false statements and a philosophy of invincibility nurtured and publicized by the NFL throughout this time period constitutes continuing negligent conduct which the NFL never stopped perpetrating until subject to Congressional scrutiny and the civil lawsuits embodied by the Master Administrative Long-Form Complaint.

332. Given the NFL's superior and unique vantage point on the issue of head injuries and concussions, the Plaintiffs reasonably relied to their detriment on the NFL's actions and omissions on the subject.

333. The failure of the NFL to publicize within the League—to active players—and to the public at large, including retired players, the mounting evidence in the scientific literature of the evolving and chronic neuro-cognitive problems amongst former players caused then-current players and retired players to believe that their physical and psychological problems (as described herein) were neither serious nor related to football. These commissions or omissions caused the Plaintiffs to ignore the need for necessary treatment. Likewise, these omissions and commissions had the institutional effect of reducing the interest in helmet safety research, avoiding changes in rule-playing to minimize head injury, avoiding the need to promulgate rules affecting the return-to-play rules when concussive events are detected, and establishing programs to educate players about the long-term health risks of sub-concussive and concussive impacts.

COUNT VIII
NEGLIGENCE: POST-1968 CONDUCT OF THE NFL
(Against the NFL)

334. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

335. Increasingly, during the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, the defendant NFL (and the marketing arm of the NFL) marketed the game of football as acceptably violent, and it rewarded its most violent players. This marketing technique was directed to the general public, the football community of players associated with organized football from sandlot to college. In pursuing these concerted marketing techniques, the defendant knew or should have known that its conflation of concussive-inducing violence with heroism would induce NFL players and those who aspired to play in the NFL to play with reckless violence.

336. In its marketing scheme, the defendant NFL developed print and film packages that were widely distributed throughout the United States to media outlets and organized football programs as a powerful method to convince current players and those in college and high school football that the greater the hit the bigger the accolades.

337. In the early 1990s, the NFL voluntarily undertook to study the issue of neurocognitive injuries in former NFL players.

338. In 1994, in connection with that voluntary undertaking, the NFL created the aforementioned MTBI Committee.

339. The NFL recognized that its voluntary undertaking to study and report information about the effect of head impacts on NFL players would not just be for the benefit of then-present and former NFL players alone. Since the NFL is the most prominent and influential entity in the sport of football, the NFL knew or should have known that its MTBI Committee's statements would have a broad public impact.

340. By voluntarily undertaking to study and report on the issue of the neurocognitive effects of head impacts in professional football, the NFL assumed a duty to exercise reasonable care in the MTBI Committee's work and the NFL and its agents' public statements about the substance of the Committee's work.

341. However, the MTBI Committee negligently performed the NFL's voluntarily undertaken research mission.

342. In addition, from 1994 through June of 2010, the NFL and its MTBI Committee made material misrepresentations to players, former players, the United States Congress, and the public at large that there was no scientifically valid link between repetitive traumatic head impacts and later-in-life cognitive/brain injury, including CTE and its related symptoms.

343. The NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in its voluntarily assumed duty increased the risk that the Plaintiffs would suffer long-term neurocognitive injuries.

344. The Plaintiffs reasonably relied to their detriment on the NFL's actions and omissions on the subject.

345. Under all of the above circumstances, it was foreseeable that the NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in the execution of its voluntarily undertaken duties would cause or substantially contribute to the personal injuries suffered by the Plaintiffs.

346. The NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in the execution of its voluntarily undertaken duties proximately caused or contributed to Plaintiffs' injuries.

347. As a result of the NFL's negligence, the NFL is liable to Plaintiffs, and the Plaintiffs are entitled to, and seek, all damages allowed by applicable law.

COUNT IX
NEGLIGENCE: CONDUCT OF THE NFL (BETWEEN 1987 AND 1993)
(Against the NFL)

348. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1-13, 19-20, 22(a)-22(b), 23-56, 58-65, 67-103, and 106-147 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

349. This Count relates to the misconduct of the NFL defendant during the years 1987 and 1993, and pertains only to Plaintiffs who played in the NFL during this time period.

350. During this time period, the NFL defendant actively recognized its common law duties (described in Counts VII and VIII above) and continued, albeit negligently, to carry them out.

351. Consequently, each factual and legal claim set forth in Counts VII and VIII set forth above (with the exception of any paragraphs pertaining to conduct after 1993) is incorporated by reference herein as if they were set forth at length.

COUNT X
(Against the NFL)

352. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above, with the exception of paragraphs 6-12, 14, 19, 43, 84 and 86-107.

353. Increasingly, during the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, the defendant NFL (and the marketing arm of the NFL) marketed the game of football as acceptably violent, and it rewarded its most violent players. This marketing technique was directed to the general public, the football community of players associated with organized football from sandlot to college. In pursuing these concerted marketing techniques, the defendant knew or should have known that its conflation of concussive-inducing violence with heroism would induce NFL players and those who aspired to play in the NFL to play with reckless violence.

354. In its marketing scheme, the defendant NFL developed print and film packages that were widely distributed throughout the United States to media outlets and organized football programs as a powerful method to convince current players and those in college and high school football that the greater the hit, the bigger the accolades.

355. Notwithstanding the NFL's monetization of violence, in the early 1990s, the NFL voluntarily undertook to study the issue of neurocognitive injuries in former NFL players.

356. In 1994, in connection with that voluntary undertaking, the NFL created the aforementioned MTBI Committee.

357. The NFL recognized that its voluntary undertaking to study and report information about the effect of head impacts on NFL players would not just be for the benefit of then-present and former NFL players alone. Since the NFL is the most prominent and influential entity in the sport of football, the NFL knew or should have known that its MTBI Committee's statements would have a broad public impact.

358. By voluntarily undertaking to study and report on the issue of the neurocognitive effects of head impacts in professional football, the NFL assumed a duty to exercise reasonable care in the MTBI Committee's work and the NFL and its agents' public statements about the substance of the Committee's work.

359. However, the MTBI Committee negligently performed the NFL's voluntarily undertaken research mission.

360. In addition, from 1994 through June of 2010, the NFL and its MTBI Committee made material misrepresentations to players, former players, the United States Congress, and the public at large that there was no scientifically valid link between repetitive traumatic head impacts and later-in-life cognitive/brain injury, including CTE and its related symptoms.

361. The NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in its voluntarily assumed duty increased the risk that the Plaintiffs would suffer long-term neurocognitive injuries.

362. Given the NFL's superior and unique vantage point on the issue of head injuries and concussions, the Plaintiffs reasonably relied to their detriment on the NFL's actions and omissions on the subject.

363. Under all of the above circumstances, it was foreseeable that the NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in the execution of its voluntarily undertaken duties would cause or substantially contribute to the personal injuries suffered by the Plaintiffs.

364. The NFL's failure to exercise reasonable care in the execution of its voluntarily undertaken duties proximately caused or contributed to Plaintiffs' injuries.

365. As a result of the NFL's negligence, the NFL is liable to Plaintiffs, and the Plaintiffs are entitled to, and do seek, all damages allowed by applicable law.

COUNT XI
LOSS OF CONSORTIUM
(Against the NFL Defendants and/or the Riddell Defendants)

366. Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses incorporate by reference as if fully set forth herein paragraphs applicable to the Counts they or their spouses have pled in their respective Short Form Complaints.

367. As a result of the named Defendants' misconduct, the named Defendants are liable to Plaintiffs' Spouses.

368. As a direct and proximate result of the intentional misconduct, carelessness, negligence, and recklessness of the named Defendants (designated in the Short Form Complaints), the Plaintiffs have sustained the aforesaid injuries, and the Plaintiffs' Spouses have been damaged as follows:

- a. They have been and will continue to be deprived of the services, society and companionship of their respective husbands;
- b. They have, will be and will continue to be required to spend money for medical care and household care for the treatment of their respective husbands; and

- c. They have been and will continue to be deprived of the earnings of their respective husbands.

369. As a result of the injuries, the Plaintiffs' Spouses are entitled to damages, as alleged herein or allowed by law.

COUNT XII
NEGLIGENT HIRING
(Against the NFL)

370. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

371. The NFL voluntarily and gratuitously inserted itself into the business of studying (and subsequently rendering expert opinions about) the relationship between repetitive head impacts in football and brain injury.

372. In doing so, the NFL assumed a duty to the Plaintiffs and the general public to retain and employ persons within the MTBI Committee who were professionally competent to study and render opinions on the relationship between repetitive head impacts in football and brain injury and to ensure that those whom it hired had no conflict of interest and that each had the professional and personal qualifications to conduct those studies and render opinions that were scientifically rigorous, valid, defensible, and honest.

373. The NFL breached its duty to the Plaintiffs and the general public by hiring persons who:

- a. were unqualified;
- b. were not competent to engage in rigorous and defensible scientific research;

- c. were not competent to render valid and defensible opinions;
- d. created fraudulent industry-funded research; and/or
- e. attacked as not credible the valid and defensible research and opinions generated by neuro-scientists who were unconnected to and not paid by the NFL.

374. The NFL's negligence in this regard resulted in a body of falsified industry-funded research that purposefully and/or negligently contested and suppressed valid and truthful biomedical science. The NFL's negligence allowed the MTBI Committee to use falsified industry-funded research to mislead the Plaintiffs, other former NFL players, and the general public regarding the risks associated with repetitive head impacts in the game of football.

375. As a result of the NFL's negligence, the Plaintiffs have sustained brain injuries that are progressive and latent and did not take protective measures or seek the diagnosis and treatment they would have sought had they been told the truth.

COUNT XIII
NEGLIGENT RETENTION
(Against the NFL)

376. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

377. The NFL knew or should have known that the controlling members of the MTBI Committee demonstrated an ongoing lack of competence, objectivity and inadequate judgment to study and render expert opinions on the issue of the relationship between repetitive head impacts in football and brain injury.

378. The NFL voluntarily assumed a duty to the Plaintiffs and the general public not to allow those incompetent persons it had hired within the MTBI Committee to continue to conduct incompetent and falsified studies and render incompetent opinions on the relationship between repetitive head impacts in football and brain injury.

379. During the time period when the MTBI Committee was conducting its purported research and rendering its purported opinions, the NFL knew or should have known that the purported research and opinions of the MTBI Committee were false and indefensible.

380. The NFL breached its duty to the Plaintiffs and the general public by allowing these incompetent and unqualified persons, under the auspices and with the imprimatur of the NFL:

- a. to continue to create incompetent and indefensible research,
- b. to continue to render invalid and indefensible opinions, and
- c. to continue to attack the credible and defensible research and opinions of neuro-scientists not connected to or paid by the NFL.

381. The NFL's negligence allowed the incompetent members of the MTBI Committee to continue to advance their false and incompetent research and opinions in an attempt to suppress valid bio-medical science. The NFL's negligence allowed the MTBI Committee members to mislead the Plaintiffs, other former NFL players, and the general public regarding the permanent brain injury risks associated with repetitive head impacts in the game of football.

382. As a result of the NFL's failure, the Plaintiffs have sustained brain injuries that are progressive and latent and did not take protective measures or seek the diagnosis and treatment they would have sought had they been told the truth.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE RIDDELL DEFENDANTS

383. The Riddell Defendants have operated as a business through designing, developing, manufacturing, selling, and distributing football equipment, including helmets, in one form or another, since 1922.

384. As early as the 1930s, players began using helmets during football games. These early helmets were constructed from pieces of cobbled leather.

385. In the early 1940s, John T. Riddell, who later formed John T. Riddell Incorporated, invented the first plastic suspension helmet. In 1949, plastic helmets became legalized.

386. Throughout the latter half of the 20th century and continuing to present day, the Riddell Defendants have designed, developed, manufactured, sold, and distributed equipment used in the NFL, including equipment used by Plaintiffs, including, but not limited to, the following:

- (a) In the 1950s, the Riddell Defendants manufactured a face-mask component for its helmets, which was eventually patented.
- (b) In 1962, the Riddell Defendants used a “U” shaped nose protector with a shell (known as the TK2) molded out of polycarbonate. The Riddell Defendants also designed an open/closed cell foam and composite liner system for this model to increase the efficiency of the webbed suspension.
- (c) In 1963, the Riddell Defendants developed the TAK-29 helmet, which was the first to use air inflation for fitting the helmet snug to the head. The TAK-29 shell, like the TK2, displayed the protective polycarbonate plastic, in addition to including tough shock and cut-resistant face-mask attachment straps.

- (d) In 1969, recognizing that head protection was a key factor in helmet design requiring durable head protection, the Riddell Defendants constructed a micro-fit helmet model with injection molding technology to create a one-piece shell to improve the structural integrity of the entire helmet.
- (e) In 1973, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed an air cushion helmet whose interior system consisted of individual vinyl air cushions with layers of fitting and energy absorbing foam. When a blow was struck, the air in the cushion was expelled through a single vent, greatly reducing the initial impact. With the exhausting of the air cushion, the compressed fitting foam was further compressed, reducing impact.
- (f) In 1977, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed a stainless steel face-mask which offered greater bend resistance that prevented helmet breakage at the drill holes.
- (g) In 1981, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed an Air Cushion Engineered helmet.
- (h) In 1982, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed a M155 helmet model with a combination of foam and liquid-filled cells used for padding. On impact, the liquid would be throttled from one cell to the next, resulting in energy attenuation. The M155 helmet model included one-piece injection-molded face-masks which were mar and rust-resistant, in addition to polyurethane face mask straps and universal jaw pads.

- (i) In 2002, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed the Riddell Revolution helmet designed with the intent of reducing the risk of concussion.
- (j) In 2003, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed a real-time, Head Impact Telemetry System (HITS) to monitor and record significant incidences of head impact sustained during a football game or practice. The system measured the location, magnitude, duration, and direction of head acceleration and transmitted that information wirelessly to the sideline.
- (k) In 2006, the Riddell Defendants provided a research grant to the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center for head injury research. The study compared rates of high school athletes who wore the Riddell Revolution helmet with those who wore traditional helmets.
- (l) In 2007, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed an individual helmet system, Revolution IQ Hits™, allowing players to monitor the number and severity of impacts received during games and practices. On-board electronics record every impact, allowing players to upload and evaluate each occurrence on their home computers.
- (m) In 2001, the Riddell Defendants developed, designed, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed the 360 helmet which uses energy-managing materials and a face mask attachment system to disperse the energy of frontal impacts. According to Riddell, it developed this helmet using over 1.4 million impacts collected through Riddell's HITS technology.

387. The Riddell Defendants' helmets are currently the official helmets of the NFL. As the official helmets for the NFL, the Riddell logo is the only helmet logo the NFL allows to be displayed on helmets worn by players during NFL games. Upon information and belief, Plaintiffs wore Riddell helmets at times while playing and/or practicing during their NFL careers.

388. The Riddell Defendants at all times herein mentioned engaged in the business of selling, manufacturing, designing, testing, engineering, marketing, modifying, assembling, inspecting, distributing, and controlling the helmets and other similar equipment for use by Plaintiffs and within the NFL.

389. Plaintiffs did not know the long-term effects of concussions and relied on the NFL and Riddell to protect them.

The Riddell Defendants' Duty to Protect Against the Long-Term Risk of Concussions

390. Despite years of science and medicine linking the risk of long term brain injury from repeat concussions, it was not until the release of the Revolution Helmet wherein a notification reminding players to “sit out” if they suffer a concussion was placed on the Revolution helmet.

391. Around the same time period, the Riddell Defendants developed the HITS system to monitor the severity and incident of impacts that a player receives.

392. Based on a 2003 University of Pittsburgh Medical Center study funded by a grant from the Riddell Defendants, the Riddell Defendants began to market the Revolution helmet as reducing concussions by 31%.

393. However, both the HITS system and the Revolution helmet, both created by the Riddell Defendants and their employees have been criticized by experts for their inaccurate marketing as being safer in reducing the risk of concussion.

394. A study published in the Journal of Neurosurgery showed that the study by UPMC was flawed in that it discounted low impact hits and in turn proved that the Revolution did not reduce the risk of concussions.

395. Even to this day the Riddell Defendants do not acknowledge a link between repeat concussions and later life cognitive problems.

396. In fact, the Riddell Defendants have never warned any Plaintiff or retired player of the long-term health effects of concussions.

COUNT XIV
STRICT LIABILITY FOR DESIGN DEFECT
(Against the Riddell Defendants)

397. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 and 383 through 396 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

398. At the time the helmets were designed, manufactured, sold, and distributed by the Riddell Defendants, the helmets were defective in design, unreasonably dangerous, and unsafe for their intended purpose because they did not provide adequate protection against the foreseeable risk of concussive brain injury. The design defect includes, but is not limited to the following:

- (a) Negligently failing to design the subject helmet with a safe means of attenuating and absorbing the foreseeable forces of impact in order to minimize and/or reduce the forces and energy directed to the player's head;
- (b) Negligently designing the subject helmet with a shock attenuating system which was not safely configured;

- (c) Negligently failing to properly and adequately test the helmet model;
- (d) Other acts of negligence that may be discovered during the course of this matter;
- (e) Failing to warn Plaintiffs that their helmets would not protect against the long-term health consequences of concussive brain injury;
- (f) Prior to 2002, the Riddell Defendants made no attempt to design a helmet to protect against concussive injuries. The two helmets they marketed, the AF2 (discontinued in 1997) and the VSR4, had insufficient padding to protect against concussive injuries; and
- (g) Even the Riddell Revolution Helmets (introduced in 2002) were not designed to sufficiently protect against concussions as was shown by the demonstration before a congressional panel, by P. David Halstead, Technical Director of Southern Impact Research Center (“SIRC”) on January 4, 2012.

399. The defective design and unreasonably dangerous condition were a proximate and producing cause of the personal injuries suffered by the Plaintiffs and other damages, including but not limited to, economic damages and non-economic damages.

400. At all times, the helmets were being used for the purpose for which they were intended.

401. The Riddell Defendants are strictly liable for designing a defective and unreasonably dangerous product and for failing to warn which were proximate and producing causes of the personal injuries and other damages including, but not limited to, economic damage as alleged herein. A safer alternative design was economically and technologically feasible at the time the product left the control of the Riddell Defendants.

COUNT XV
STRICT LIABILITY FOR MANUFACTURING DEFECT
(Against the Riddell Defendants)

402. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 and 383 through 396 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

403. At the time the helmets were designed, manufactured, sold and distributed by the Riddell Defendants, the helmets were defective in their manufacturing and unreasonably dangerous and unsafe for their intended purpose because they did not provide adequate protection against the foreseeable risk of concussive brain injury. The Riddell Defendants' failure to design the helmets to design and manufacturing specifications resulted in, among other things, the following:

- (a) Negligently failing to manufacture the subject helmet with a safe means of attenuating and absorbing the foreseeable forces of impact in order to minimize and/or reduce the forces and energy directed to the player's head;
- (b) Negligently manufacturing the subject helmet with a shock attenuating system which was not safely configured;
- (c) Negligently failing to properly and adequately inspect and/or test the helmet model;
- (d) Other acts of negligence that may be discovered during the course of this matter; and
- (e) Failure to warn Plaintiffs that its helmets wouldn't protect against concussive brain injury.

404. The manufacturing defect was a proximate and producing cause of the personal injuries suffered by Plaintiffs and other damages, including but not limited to, economic damages and non-economic damages.

405. The Riddell Defendants are strictly liable for manufacturing and placing in the stream of commerce a defective and unreasonably dangerous product which was a proximate and producing cause of the personal injuries and other damages, including but not limited to, economic damages and non-economic damages. A safe alternative design was economically and technologically feasible at the time the product left the control of the Riddell Defendants.

COUNT XVI
FAILURE TO WARN
(Against the Riddell Defendants)

406. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 and 383 through 396 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

407. The Riddell Defendants knew or should have known of the substantial dangers involved in the reasonably foreseeable use of the helmets.

408. The Riddell Defendants failed to provide necessary and adequate safety and instructional materials and warnings of the risk and means available to reduce and/or minimize the risk of concussive brain injuries while playing football.

409. The Riddell Defendants failed to provide necessary and adequate information, warnings, and/or instructional materials regarding the fact that other model helmets provided greater shock attenuation from blows to the head area.

410. The Riddell Defendants ignored 18 years of published literature, read by their general counsel Richard Lester, warning of the dangers of concussive injuries until 2002, when a warning involving return to play after a concussion was placed on all Riddell helmets. The warning was still defective and inadequate and remains today defective and inadequate because it does not warn about the later life cognitive effects of concussive injury.

411. The Riddell Defendants knew that these substantial dangers were not readily recognizable to an ordinary consumer or user and that such person would use these products without inspection for defects.

412. Plaintiffs neither knew, nor had reason to know of the existence of the aforementioned defects, or increased risks of harm.

413. Plaintiffs were using the helmets in a reasonably foreseeable manner at all times.

414. Plaintiffs' damages were the legal and proximate result of the actions of the Riddell Defendants who owed a duty to warn Plaintiffs of the risks of substantial harm associated with the foreseeable use of their products.

415. The Riddell Defendants' failure to warn caused the Plaintiffs' personal injuries.

COUNT XVII
NEGLIGENCE
(Against the Riddell Defendants)

416. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 and 383 through 396 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

417. The Riddell Defendants were negligent in their design, testing, assembly, manufacture, marketing, and engineering of the helmets as described herein.

418. The Riddell Defendants owed a duty of care to the Plaintiffs in their design, testing, manufacture, assembly, marketing and sale of the helmets and all components and sub-assemblies of the helmets.

419. The Riddell Defendants should have been well aware that since 1928 repeated blows to the head can lead to CTE, commonly known as "punch-drunk syndrome".

420. The Riddell Defendants breached their duty of reasonable care by failing to provide necessary and adequate safety and instructional materials and warnings of the risk and means available to reduce and/or minimize the risk of concussive brain injuries while playing football using their helmets.

421. As a result of the Riddell Defendants' breach of duty, Plaintiffs have sustained permanent injury.

COUNT XVIII
CIVIL CONSPIRACY/FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT
(Against the NFL Defendants)

422. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference paragraphs 1 through 245 and 383 through 396 set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

423. For decades, the named Defendants, along with others who were employed by the NFL, including those who participated in the NFL MTBI Committee, acted in concert to perpetrate the fraudulent concealment of the connection between repetitive MTBI and long-term neuro-cognitive damage, illness, and decline.

424. The named Defendants, along with those who participated in the concerted efforts referenced above, knowingly failed to disclose and/or made continuing misrepresentations of material fact that there was an absence of any scientific basis to believe that repetitive MTBI created any known long-term neuro-cognitive risks to NFL players. That misconduct by the named Defendants exposed Plaintiffs to an increased risk of brain injury and was the proximate cause of the Plaintiffs' brain injuries.

425. Plaintiffs have suffered personal injuries as a result of the named Defendants' concerted activities.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses pray for judgment as follows:

A. Declaratory relief requested pursuant to 28 USC § 2201 against the NFL;

B. Granting an injunction and/or other equitable relief against the NFL and in favor of Plaintiffs for the requested medical monitoring.

C. Granting Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses an award of compensatory and punitive damages against the NFL Defendants.

D. Granting Plaintiffs an award of compensatory and punitive damages against the Riddell Defendants.

E. With respect to all counts, awarding Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses such other and further relief as may be appropriate; and

F. Granting an award to all Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses of prejudgment interest, costs and attorneys fees.

JURY DEMANDED

Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Spouses hereby demand a trial by jury on all matters so triable.

Signed this 17th day of July 2012.

PLAINTIFFS' UNCONTESTED MOTION FOR ORDER ESTABLISHING A TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTING PROTOCOL AND APPOINTING AUDITOR

1. Plaintiffs, by and through the Plaintiffs' Executive and Steering Committees ("PEC" & "PSC"), hereby respectfully move the Court for entry of an Order: (a) establishing a Time and Expense Reporting Protocol to ensure that any fees and expenses for common-benefit work for which counsel may later seek reimbursement from a Common Benefit Fund, if any such fund is established by this Court, are reasonable, necessary and non-duplicative; and (b) appointing Alan Winikur and the firm Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C. to serve as auditor to conduct periodic reviews of fee and expense reports submitted by Plaintiffs' counsel.

2. Pursuant to Local Rule 7.1(b), a Certificate of Counsel attesting that Defendants take no position on this motion and, therefore, do not contest this Motion, is attached hereto.

3. The PEC and PSC seek entry of this Order to satisfy their duties to the former-player plaintiffs in this matter to ensure the efficient and effective pre-trial prosecution of their claims, ensure that time and resources expended by counsel in this matter inure to the common benefit of the former player-plaintiffs, and protect against unreasonable or unnecessary fees and costs, reimbursement for which may be sought from a Common Benefit Fund that may be established by the Court. The PEC and PSC submit this Motion without assumption regarding whether this Court will later authorize such a Fund or authorize disbursements from such Fund should it be established.

4. On January 31, 2012, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1407, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation (“JPML”) transferred for consolidated or coordinated pretrial proceedings cases involving claims by former players against the National Football League (“NFL”) and other Defendants stemming from injuries sustained while playing professional football, including damages resulting from the permanent long-term effects of head trauma suffered while playing professional football. Transfer Order, Jan. 31, 2012, ECF No. 1.

5. After this MDL was established by the JPML, various plaintiffs’ counsel who had applied, through a joint application, to serve in leadership positions in this MDL conducted common-benefit work, including negotiating and executing a Tolling Agreement, see Notice of Tolling Agreement, May 15, 2012, ECF No. 75, and engaging in numerous meet and confers regarding scheduling and related matters in preparation for this Court’s Organization Conference on April 25, 2012, see Notice of Filing Of Proposed Case Management Order No. [3] and Notice of Filing of Proposed Conference Agenda, Apr. 11, 2012, ECF Nos. 57 & 58.

6. Thereafter, this Court appointed plaintiffs’ counsel-applicants to serve as Co-lead Counsel, as members of the Executive and Steering Committees, and as Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel. See CMO No. 2, Apr. 26, 2011, ECF No. 64; CMO No. 3, May 11, 2012, ECF No. 72.

7. Since their appointment, members of the PEC and PSC, and other plaintiffs counsel as directed by the PEC, have conducted common-benefit work including, but not limited to, engaging in meet and confers with Defendants relating to proposed case management orders, scheduling and procedural stipulations and related matters, drafting and filing Master and Short Form Complaints, and responding to Riddell Defendants’ June 19, 2012 brief (ECF Nos. 83, 84, 92, 94, 110 & 264). Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel has conducted coordination and related administrative functions and provided all plaintiffs' attorneys representing former players in this litigation with regular updates regarding this Court's Orders, and guidance regarding procedural issues. The PEC and PSC expect that, in the coming months, plaintiffs will invest resources in common-benefit work related to the upcoming motions and briefing schedule set forth in Case Management Order No. 2.

8. Entry now of an Order establishing a protocol governing permissible common benefit time and expenses invested in this matter and requiring periodic reporting by plaintiffs' counsel conducting such common-benefit work will help ensure only reasonable and necessary fees and costs inuring to the benefit of all plaintiffs are incurred. Establishing such guidelines early in the course of this litigation, even prior to the establishment of a Common Benefit Fund, if any, will help ensure that staffing levels for common-benefit work are appropriate and common-benefit time and expenses are reasonable, and will reduce the risk of later conflict over fees and expenses. See Manual for Complex Litigation (Fourth) §§14.212, 14.213 (2011). Further, imposing record-keeping procedures and requiring the submission of periodic reports "encourages lawyers to maintain records adequate for the Court's purposes," and facilitates Court review of later-submitted fee petitions, if any. See id. §§ 14.212–214.

9. Accordingly, the Proposed Order requires members of the PEC and PSC to contribute assessments to an Interim Litigation Fund in amounts agreed to by the PSC to cover interim litigation expenses for administration of this MDL. It likewise requires all counsel conducting common-benefit work to maintain contemporaneous and detailed time and expense records in a specific electronic format. See id. § 14.213 (recommending that time keeping be addressed early in the case and that contemporaneous records identifying the activity and nature of work be required, along with the use of computer programs to facilitate analysis and agreed-on forms of summaries). Such records must be submitted quarterly to a PEC-designated attorney and shall be subject to further review by the Court-appointed auditor (proposed herein) for compliance with guidelines of the time and expense reporting protocol.

10. The Proposed Order delineates compensable common-benefit time categories, such as time spent conducting discovery, in motions practice, pursuing organizational functions, preparing for and conducting trial, and related litigation functions. To ensure common benefit fees are reasonable, compensable categories exclude, inter alia, time spent that was not authorized by the PEC, time spent on individual client cases, time spent reading and reviewing court documents unless necessary to conduct a compensable function, and any duplicative time. Similarly, the Proposed Order limits compensable expenses to those necessary to carry out legitimate compensable work, and imposes limitations on both travel and non-travel expenses, such as limiting reimbursement for coach-class fare only and excluding most secretarial functions, to ensure only reasonable costs are reimbursed.

11. Such time and expense limitations are appropriate to ensure the appropriate level of staffing and expenses. See id., § 14.212 (discussing guidelines regarding who may charge for discovery, court and trial time); § 14.216 (discussing limitations on expense categories).

12. Accordingly, other MDL courts have entered orders establishing similar time keeping and expense reporting protocols at early stages of the litigation, prior to the establishment of any Common Benefit Fund. See, e.g., Ex. A, Pretrial Order No. 9, In re: Oil Spill by the Oil Rig "Deepwater Horizon" in the Gulf of Mexico, on April 20, 2010, No. 10-md-02179 (E.D. La. Oct. 8. 2010), ECF No. 508 (entered three months after transfer by the MDL panel); Ex. B, Mem. & Order, In re: Oral Sodium Phosphate Solution-Based Prods. Liab. Action, No. 1:09-SP-80000, MDL No. 2066 (N.D. Ohio Sept. 30, 2009), ECF No. 34 (entered three months after transfer, and setting forth guidelines "in anticipation of the possibility that, at some time in the future, there may be applications . . . for payment of common benefit fees or expenses”); Ex. C, Pretrial Order No. 6, In re Vioxx Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 05-md-01657 (E.D. La. Apr. 8, 2005), ECF No. 245 (entered two months after transfer).

13. Where a Common Benefit Fund may be later established, with time and expenses for work benefitting all plaintiffs to be paid from such Fund, it is appropriate to appoint an outside auditor to review time and expense reports submitted by common benefit attorneys and to submit reports to the Court as requested. As with time and expense reporting protocols, early auditing of time and expense reports helps reduce the risk of conflicts regarding payment for fees and expenses from a Common Benefit Fund by ensuring consistency and accurate reporting early in the case.

14. Plaintiffs therefore also request that the Court appoint Alan B. Winikur, CPA/ABV/CFF and his firm, Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C., as the outside auditor for time and expenses submitted in anticipation of a Common Benefit Fund, if any, that may be established. Mr. Winikur will be charged with determining which items submitted for payment of common benefit time and expenses meet the criteria established by the Proposed Order.

15. Mr. Winikur’s Curriculum Vitae (“CV”) and information about his firm, Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C., are attached hereto as Exhibit D. As his CV demonstrates, Mr. Winikur and his firm have extensive experience performing audits in comparable MDLs and have been appointed to serve in that role in this judicial district. See, e.g., Ex. E, In re Avandia Mktg., Sales Practices & Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 07-md-1871 (E.D. Pa. Aug. 13, 2010), ECF No. 757 (appointing auditor); see also In re Diet Drugs Prods. Liab. Litig., MDL No. 1203, 2010 WL 3292787, at *4 (E.D. Pa. Aug. 19, 2010) (noting prior appointment of Alan B. Winikur).

16. If appointed, Mr. Winikur has agreed to work as the time and expense auditor of the Common Benefit Fund in this litigation. Mr. Winikur shall be compensated for his work from PSC’s Interim Litigation Fund funded by the PEC and PSC members, and later from the Common Benefit Fund for this MDL, if any such Fund is established by the Court, subject to Court approval of such fees and costs.

17. For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request entry of an Order establishing a time and expense reporting protocol and appointing an outside auditor.

PRETRIAL ORDER NO. 9

Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s Time and Expense Submissions

Reimbursement for costs and/or fees for services of all plaintiff s’ counsel performing functions in accordance with this order will be set at a time and in a manner established by the Court after due notice to all counsel and after a hearing. The following standards and procedures are to be utilized by any counsel seeking fees and/or expense reimbursement.

I. General Standards

- (1) All time and expenses submitted must be incurred only for work authorized in advance by the Plaintiffs’ Steering Committee (“PSC”), through the Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel or Executive Committee. Prior to the formation of the PSC, such work may only be authorized by Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel or the Court.
- (2) These Time and Expense Guidelines are intended for all activities performed and expenses incurred by counsel that relate to matters common to all claimants in MDL 2179. Further, any claimants’ counsel that may at a later date, seek reimbursement or compensation for common benefit time and expenses (including any state court counsel) shall comply with these guidelines and any submission by such counsel shall be in accordance with this Pre-Trial Order.

- (3) Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel have retained and the Court approves the retention of Philip Garrett, CPA ("PG"), to assist and provide accounting services to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel, the Plaintiff's Steering Committee, and the Court in MDL 2179. PG will be assisting in compiling submissions and will provide reports to Plaintiff's Liaison Counsel who shall submit them to the Court on a monthly basis. These reports will include both time and expenses and will summarize, with back-up detail, the submissions of all firms. Submission of time and expense records to PG and the Court shall be considered as if submitted under seal.
- (4) Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel are authorized to establish, by and through PG, on behalf of the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee, one or more bank accounts for the collection and deposit of assessments and for the payment of Shared Costs as defined herein, as well as any other such functions as may be necessary and appropriate. Any and all such bank statements shall be provided to, and reviewed by, PG, on behalf of the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee.
- (5) Time and expense submissions must be submitted timely, on a monthly basis, to PG electronically at the website set up to handle time/billing submissions "www.GarrettCo-CCMS.com/bp." It is essential that each firm, on a monthly basis, timely submit its records for the preceding month. All submissions shall be certified by a senior partner in each firm attesting to the accuracy and correctness of the submission.
- (6) The first submission is due on December 15, 2010 and should include all time and expense through November 30, 2010. Thereafter, commencing on January 15, 2011, time and expense records shall be submitted on the 15th of each month, and shall cover the time period through the end of the preceding month. Any time or expense records submitted more than six (6) months in arrears may not be considered or included in any compilation of time or expense calculation and shall be disallowed, except for good cause shown and with Court approval.

II. Time Reporting

- (1) Only time spent on matters common to all claimants in MDL 2179 will be considered in determining fees. No time spent on developing or processing any case for an individual client (claimant) will be considered or should be submitted, unless the case is determined by the Plaintiffs Steering Committee or the Court to be a “common benefit case” (e.g. “test case” or “bellwether” case), and in such circumstances shall be reported in a separate time submission.

- (2) All time must be accurately and contemporaneously maintained. Time shall be kept according to these guidelines and specifically in accordance with the Litigation Task Definitions as outlined in Exhibit “A”. All counsel shall keep a daily record of their time spent in connection with this litigation, indicating with specificity the hours, location and particular activity (such as “conduct of deposition of A.B.”). The failure to maintain such records, as well as insufficient description of the activity may result in a forfeiture of fees.
- (3) All time for each firm shall be maintained in quarter-of-an-hour increments. Time for “common benefit cases” (e.g. “bellwether” or “test” cases) shall be submitted separately. Failure to do so may result in time being disallowed.
- (4) All time records shall be submitted to the PG website, either electronically or manually. If submitted manually, it will be submitted together with a summarization of the total of member firm time broken down by each separate name of time keeper and Litigation Task Definition the time spent during the preceding month and the accumulated total of all time incurred by the firm during the particular reporting period. The summary report is located on the PG website. If submitted electronically (via a “csv file”), the file must detail the timekeeper, the Litigation Task Definition, and the time spent.
- (5) The summary report form shall be certified by a senior partner each month attesting to the accuracy and correctness of the monthly submission.

III. Expense Reporting

- (1) Advanced costs will be deemed as either “Shared” or “Held.”
 - a. Shared Costs are costs that will be paid out of a separate Plaintiffs’ Steering Committee MDL 2179 Fund account to be established and administered by Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel, in accordance with Paragraph I (4), to be funded by all members of the PSC and others as determined by the PSC.

- b. Held Costs are those that will be carried by each attorney in MDL 2179 and reimbursed as and when determined by the PSC.
- (2) Each member of the PSC and any others as set forth in section (1) above will contribute to the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee MDL 2179 Fund at times and in amounts sufficient to cover the administration of the MDL. The timing and amount of each assessment will be determined by the PSC.

IV. Shared Costs

- (1) Shared Costs are costs incurred for the common benefit of the MDL as a whole. No individual client-related costs can be considered as Shared Costs, unless the case is determined by the Plaintiffs Steering Committee or the Court to be a "common benefit case" (e.g. "test case" or "bellwether" case), which, in such circumstances, shall be noted in the expense submission. All costs of a substantial nature that meet these requirements and fall under the following categories shall be considered Shared Costs and qualify to be submitted and paid directly from the MDL account. All Shared Costs must be approved by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel prior to being incurred and prior to payment. Shared Costs include:

- a. Court, filing and service costs
- b. Deposition and court reporter costs
- c. Document Depository: creation, operation, staffing, equipment and administration
- d. Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel administrative matters (e.g., expenses for equipment, technology, courier services, long distance, conference calls, telecopier, electronic service, postage, meeting expenses, travel for administrative matters, photocopy and printing, secretarial/temporary staff, etc.)
- e. PSC group administration matters such as meetings and conference calls
- f. Legal and accountant fees
- g. Expert witness and consultant fees and expenses
- h. Printing, copying, coding, shipping, scanning (both in and out of house or extraordinary firm cost)
- i. Research by outside third party vendors/consultants/attorneys
- j. Common witness expenses including travel
- k. Translation costs
- l. Bank or financial institution charges
- m. Investigative services
- n. Claims Administrator charges
- o. Special Master charges.

- (2) Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel shall prepare and be responsible for distributing to the appropriate plaintiffs' counsel and the PSC reimbursement procedures and the forms associated therewith. Request for payments should include sufficient information to allow Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel and the CPA to account properly for costs and to provide adequate detail to the Court. All requests shall be subject to review and approval by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel.

V. Held Costs

- (1) Held Costs are costs incurred for the global benefit of the MDL. Held costs are those that do not fall into the above Shared Costs categories but are incurred for the benefit of all plaintiffs in general. No specific client-related costs can be considered as Held Costs, unless the case is determined by the Plaintiffs Steering Committee or the Court to be a "common benefit case" (e.g. "test case" or "bellwether" case), which, under such circumstances, shall be reported in a separate expense submission. All costs of a substantial nature that meet these requirements and fall under the following categories shall be considered Held Costs and qualify to be submitted for consideration by the PSC and the Court for future reimbursement.

- I. Telefax charges
- II. Postage, shipping, courier, certified mail
- III. Printing and photocopying (in-house)
- IV. Computerized research - Lexis/Westlaw
- V. Telephone - long distance (actual charges only)
- VI. Travel - pursuant to Travel Limitations set forth below, including travel for attorney to attend depositions, court or legislative matters.
 - A. Airfare
 - B. Reasonable ground transportation
 - C. Hotel
 - D. Reasonable meals and entertainment
 - E. Reasonable other (parking)
 - F. Car rental, cabs, etc.
 - G. Secretarial and clerical overtime

(2) Travel Limitations

Except in extraordinary circumstances approved by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel or the PSC, all travel reimbursements are subject to the following limitations:

- (a) Airfare. Only the lowest-price available coach airfare at time of booking (either at restricted coach rates or rates which allow the reservation to be rebooked without surcharge and other agency fees) for a reasonable itinerary will be reimbursed. Notwithstanding the foregoing, first class airfare shall be allowed for cross-country flights that are in excess of four hours non-stop flight time or international flights. Airfare expense submissions must be supported by invoice or receipt for airfare that shows class of airfare purchased, name of traveler, and destination. If an invoice or receipt is not available, a canceled check or credit card statement may be submitted provided an Affidavit from the traveler is also submitted stating that the expense was for coach airfare, within the limitations of this Pre-Trial Order, and that the trip was for common benefit. If first class is flown and only coach fare is reimbursable, proof of applicable coach fare shall be provided.

- (b) Hotel. Hotel room charges will be reimbursed up to the greater of (a) $300 per night excluding taxes, or (b) the average available room rate of the Hyatt, Hilton, and Marriott hotels (or comparable) in that city. Hotel expense submissions must be supported by a hotel issued receipt. If a receipt is not available, a credit card statement or canceled check may be submitted provided it is accompanied by an Affidavit that states that the expense was incurred for travel related to common benefit and within the limitations of this Pre-Trial Order.
- (c) Meals. Meal expenses must be reasonable. Meal expense submissions must be supported by receipts or credit card statements that reflect the date and those partaking in the meal.
- (d) Cash Expenses. Miscellaneous cash expenses for which receipts generally are not available (tips, luggage handling, pay telephone, etc.) will be reimbursed up to $50.00 per trip, as long as the expenses are properly itemized.
- (e) Rental Automobiles. Luxury automobile rentals will not be fully reimbursed, unless only luxury automobiles were available. If luxury automobiles are selected when non-luxury vehicles are available, then the difference between the luxury and non-luxury vehicle rates must be shown on the travel reimbursement form, and only the non-luxury rate may be claimed. Rental automobile expense submissions must be supported by receipts or credit card statements. Such rentals shall be limited for purposes of traveling to or from meetings, hotel, court appearances and airport. The use of hired limousines is discouraged.
- (f) Mileage. Mileage claims must be documented by stating origination point, destination, total actual miles for each trip, and the rate per mile paid by the member's firm. The maximum allowable rate will be the maximum rate allowed by the IRS (currently 50 cents per mile).
- (g) Parking. Shall be limited to actual documented costs.

(3) Non-Travel Limitations

The following apply:

- (1) Long Distance and Cellular Telephone: General subscription or monthly lease costs associated with long-distance services and cellular phones are not reimbursable. Long distance and cellular telephone charges for specific MDL 2179-related calls must be documented. Copies of the telephone bills must be submitted with notations as to which charges relate to this litigation.
- (2) Shipping, Courier, and Delivery Charges: All claimed expenses must be documented with bills showing the sender, origin of the package, recipient, and destination of the package.
- (3) Postage Charges: A contemporaneous postage log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. Postage charges are to be reported at actual cost.
- (4) Telefax Charges: Contemporaneous records should be maintained and submitted showing faxes sent and received. The per-fax charge shall not exceed $1.00 per page.
- (5) In-House Photocopy: A contemporaneous photocopy log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. The maximum copy charge is 25¢ per page.
- (6) Secretarial and Clerical Overtime: An itemized description of the task and time spent must be submitted for secretarial and clerical time. All such overtime must be approved before submission by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel.
- (7) Computerized Research - Lexis/Westlaw: Claims for Lexis, Westlaw, and other computerized legal research expenses should be in the exact amount charged to the firm for these research services. All such computerized legal research must be approved by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel in advance and before submission.

Procedures To Be Established by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel

Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel may establish forms and procedures to implement and carry out the time and expense submissions required by the Court and necessary to compile and maintain the records. These forms shall be made available by Plaintiff's Liaison Counsel or from the Court's website.

Questions regarding the guidelines or procedures or the completion of any forms should be directed to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel, James P. Roy, Domengeaux Wright Roy & Edwards LLC, 556 Jefferson Street, Suite 500, Lafayette, Louisiana 70501, Telephone: (337) 233-3033, Fax No. (337) 233-2796, E-Mail: jimr@wrightroy.com; or Stephen J. New Orleans, Louisiana, this 8th day of October, 2010.

THE HONORABLE CARL J. BARBIER
UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

Exhibit "A"

LITIGATION TASK CODE DEFINITIONS

The Litigation Code Set is intended for use in all adversarial matters including litigation, binding arbitrations, and regulatory/administrative proceedings. The following definitions elaborate on the intended scope of each phase and task and should guide attorneys in coding time.

Case Assessment, Development and Administration

Focuses on the case as a whole, the "forest" rather than the "trees".

Fact Investigation/Development. All actions to investigate and understand the facts of a matter. Covers interviews of client personnel and potential witnesses, review of documents to learn the facts of the case (but not for document production), work with an investigator, and all related communications and correspondence.

Analysis/Strategy. The thinking, strategizing, and planning for a case, including discussions, writing, and meetings on case strategy. Also includes initial legal research for case assessment purposes and legal research for developing a basic case strategy. Most legal research will be under the primary task for which the research is conducted. Once concrete trial preparation begins, use "Other Trial Preparation and Support."

Experts/Consultants. Identifying and interviewing experts and consultants (testifying or non-testifying), working with them, and developing expert reports. Does not include preparing for expert depositions, see "Expert Discovery" or time spent with experts/consultants during trial preparation and trial, see "Expert Witnesses."

Document/File Management. A narrowly defined task that comprises only the processes of creating and populating document and other databases or filing systems. Includes the planning, design, and overall management of this process. Work of outside vendors in building litigation support databases should be an Expense.

Budgeting. Covers developing, negotiating, and revising the budget for a matter.

Settlement/Non-Binding ADR All activities directed specifically to settlement. Encompasses planning for and participating in settlement discussions, conferences, and hearings and implementing a settlement. Covers pursuing and participating in mediation and other non-binding Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) procedures. Also includes pre-litigation demand letters and ensuing discussions.

CLE. Continuing Legal Education related specifically to this matter.

Other Case Assessment, Development and Administration. Time not attributable to any other overall task. Specific use in a given matter often may be pre-determined jointly by the client and law firm.

Pre-Trial Pleadings and Motions

Covers all pleadings and all pretrial motions and procedures other than discovery.

Pleadings. Developing (researching, drafting, editing, filing) and reviewing complaints, answers, counter-claims and third party complaints. Also embraces motions directed at pleadings such as motions to dismiss, motions to strike, and jurisdictional motions.

Preliminary Injunctions/Provisional Remedies. Developing and discussing strategy for these remedies, preparing motions, affidavits and briefs, reviewing opponent's papers, preparing for and attending court hearing, preparing witnesses for the hearing, and effectuating the remedy.

Court Mandated Conferences. Preparing for and attending hearings and conferences required by court order or procedural rules (including Rule 16 sessions) other than settlement conferences.

Dispositive Motions. Developing and discussing strategy for or opposing motions for judgment on the pleadings and motions for complete or partial summary judgment, preparing papers, reviewing opponent's papers, defensive motions (e.g., motion to strike affidavit testimony, Rule 56(f) motion), and preparing for and attending the hearing.

Other Written Motions/Submissions. Developing, responding to, and arguing all motions other than dispositive motions, pleadings, and discovery, such as motions to consolidate, to bifurcate, to remand, to stay, to compel arbitration, for MDL treatment and for change of venue.

Class Action Certification and Notice. Proceedings unique to class action litigation and derivative suits such as class certification and notice.

Discovery

Includes all work pertaining to discovery according to court or agency rules.

Written Discovery. Developing, responding to, objecting to, and negotiating interrogatories and requests to admit. Includes mandatory meet-and-confer sessions. Also covers mandatory written disclosures as under Rule 26(a).

Document Production. Developing, responding to, objecting to, and negotiating document requests, including the mandatory meet-and-confer sessions to resolve objections. Includes identifying documents for production, reviewing documents for privilege, effecting production, and preparing requested privilege lists. (While a general review of documents produced by other parties falls under this task, coding and entering produced documents into a data base is "Document/File Management" and reviewing documents primarily to understand the facts is "Fact Investigation/Development.")

Depositions. All work concerning depositions, including determining the deponents and the timing and sequence of depositions, preparing deposition notices and subpoenas, communicating with opposing or other party's counsel on scheduling and logistics, planning for and preparing to take the depositions, discussing deposition strategy, preparing witnesses, reviewing documents for deposition preparation, attending depositions, and drafting any deposition summaries.

Expert Discovery. Same as "Depositions," but for expert witnesses.

Discovery Motions. Developing, responding to, and arguing all motions that arise out of the discovery process. Includes the protective order process.

Other Discovery. Less frequently used forms of discovery, such as medical examinations and on-site inspections.

Trial Preparation and Trial

Commences when lawyer and client determine that trial is sufficiently likely and imminent so that the process of actually preparing for trial begins. It continues through the trial and post-trial proceedings in the trial court. Once trial begins, lawyers who appear in court presumptively should bill their court time to "Trial and Hearing Attendance." Litigation work outside the courtroom during this phase (e.g., evenings, weekends and the time of other attorneys and support personnel), should continue to be classified using "Other Trial Preparation and Support."

Fact Witnesses. Preparing for examination and cross-examination of non-expert witnesses.

Expert Witnesses. Preparing for examination and cross-examination of expert witnesses.

Written Motions/Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing written motions during preparation for trial and trial, such as motions in limine and motions to strike proposed evidence. Also includes developing other written pre-trial and trial filings, such as jury instructions, witness lists, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law, and trial briefs.

Other Trial Preparation and Support. All other time spent in preparing for and supporting a trial, including developing overall trial strategy, preparing opening and closing arguments, establishing an off-site support office, identifying documents for use at trial, preparing demonstrative materials, etc.

Trial and Hearing Attendance. Appearing at trial, at hearings and at court-mandated conferences, including the pre-trial conferences to prepare for trial. For scheduling conferences that are denominated as "Pre-Trial Conferences", but not directed toward conduct of the trial, use "Court Mandated Conferences."

Post-Trial Motions and Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing all post-verdict matters in the trial court, such as motions for new trial or j.n.o.v., for stay pending appeal, bills of costs, and requests for attorney's fees.

Enforcement. All work performed in enforcing and collecting judgments and asserting or addressing defenses thereto.

Appeal

Covers all work on appeal or before a reviewing body.

Appellate Motions and Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing motions and other filings before a reviewing body, such as motions and other filings for stay pending appeal.

Appellate Briefs. Preparing and reviewing appellate briefs.

Oral Argument. Preparing for and arguing an appeal before a reviewing body.

Travel

Time spent traveling in connection with the litigation shall be designated separately.

ALL ACTIONS	:	JUDGE ALDRICH
	:	MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

In anticipation of the possibility that, at some time in the future, there may be applications to this Court by attorneys for payment of common benefit fees or expenses, the Court now issues the following preliminary procedures and guidelines. Although it issues these guidelines at this early juncture in the case, the Court expresses no opinion regarding whether payment of common benefit fees or expenses will ever become appropriate. The Court merely provides this guidance so that, should the issue become ripe, any attorneys applying for common benefit fees or expenses will have notice of the standards the Court will likely employ in assessing those applications. These guidelines are not meant to be exhaustive, and the Court expects it would issue additional procedures, limitations, and guidelines in the future, if appropriate.

A. INTRODUCTION.

Common Benefit expenses and billable hours reported pursuant to this litigation must be reasonable and necessary. Time and expense that is part of a bona fide effort in litigation which actually advances the interests of a class of plaintiffs will be recognized. The guidelines for reporting Common Benefit expenses and billable hours have been developed with these principles

6. Long Distance:

Long distance telephone expenses must be documented. Only actual, reasonable charges are reimbursable.

7. Federal Express, Local Courier Service, or Other Courier:

All claimed expenses must be documented with bills showing the sender, origin of the package, recipient, and destination of the package.

8. Postage Charges:

A contemporaneous postage log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. Postage charges are to be reported at actual cost.

9. Facsimile Charges:

Contemporaneous records should be maintained and submitted showing faxes sent and received. The per-fax charge should be no more than $1.00 per page. Faxes should not be sent if email could be used.

10. In-house Photocopy:

A contemporaneous photocopy log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. The maximum copy charge is $.25 per page.

11. Secretarial and Clerical Overtime:

An itemized description of the task and time spent must be submitted for secretarial and clerical overtime.

12. LEXIS/WESTLAW:

Claims for expenses relating to computerized legal research, i.e. LEXIS or WESTLAW, should be in the exact amount charged to your firm for these research services.

13. Deposition Costs, Expert Witness Fees, and Exhibit Costs:

Only fees and costs authorized by Lead Counsel or the Executive Committee will be considered. No party will be reimbursed for obtaining his or her own personal copy of a deposition transcript.

14. Equipment Purchases:

Purchases of equipment are not to be claimed, absent special circumstances. Laptop computers purchased for and utilized by the individual attorneys and their staff, even if used primarily for this case, are not reimbursable.

15. Monetary Sanctions:

No monetary sanction levied by the Court on any attorney shall be reported as an expense.

16. Common Benefit Time Sheets:

The Court will require Daily and Monthly Common Benefit Time Summary Sheets to be submitted in order for Common Benefit time to be considered by the Court. Daily records may be computer generated or typed copies of daily records. Such records must be organized by timekeeper. Only time exclusively related to Common Benefit work should be reported. If contemporaneous time records were not kept by the Applicant, then the Applicant shall explain why time devoted to claimed Common Benefit work was not contemporaneously recorded and must make a good faith effort to summarize or categorize the time spent and the work done.

To ensure the accuracy of these time sheets, the Court will require that counsel seeking awards associated with Common Benefit work submit quarterly reports of time and expenses to Lead Counsel.

C. TIME OR EXPENSE THAT WILL BE DISALLOWED OR DISCOUNTED.

1. Any submission or report of professional time and expense in which the hours of service and expenses are not properly coded;
2. Any item of expense for which proper receipts or other proof of payment is not submitted;
3. Any item of time or expense which was incurred in connection with the trial of individual cases or groups of cases or the case-specific preparation of those cases for trial, unless shown to have a direct common benefit. This does not mean that coordinated discovery will be disallowed.
4. Any submission or report of professional time which does not provide hourly rates and/or descriptions of the professional status (i.e., partner, associate, paralegal, law clerk) of each person whose professional time is the subject of the submission or report;
5. Any submission or report of professional time which does not provide cumulative totals for the reimbursable expenses claimed;
6. Any item of expense which does not meet the requirements of this Order;
7. Any item of time or expense which is not described in sufficient detail to determine the nature and purpose of the service or expense involved (entries such as “research,” “telephone call to Class Counsel,” “conference with JB,” without further description, are to be disallowed);
8. Any submission of professional time in which the amount of “review” time is excessive as a whole when judged in reference to the role which the Attorney, or other timekeeper, had in the litigation;
9. Any submission of time and expense which is grossly excessive on its face, when

11. Any submission of time or expense associated with attendance or monitoring of any Court proceeding or any deposition or any other litigation-related event, if: (a) the attendance or monitoring of the submitting attorney at the proceeding or deposition or event is not truly and reasonably necessary (e.g., mere attendance at a deposition, without engaging in substantial, non-cumulative questioning or assistance); or (b) there are already two other attorneys from the submitting attorney's law firm attending or monitoring the proceeding or deposition or event who are seeking common benefit reimbursement.

D. EXPENSE AND FEE PRESENTATION.

1. A description of each item of expense for which reimbursement is claimed, the date it was expended, the person or entity to whom that amount was paid, and a certification that the amount has not been reimbursed by any individual client, group of individual clients or any other person or entity. Where the request for expenses is related to the services of more than one attorney employed by or associated with any law firm, only one “Expense Presentation” may be filed in support of the request.

2. A list of the current hourly billing rates for each attorney and paraprofessional whose professional time is the subject of the Fee Presentation, from the inception of this litigation to the present. If an Applicant temporarily employed an attorney for the sole or primary purpose of working on this case, the Applicant shall disclose the hourly rate at which that attorney was actually paid by the employing law firm.¹

3. A complete description of any arrangement or agreement under which the Applicant: (a) is obligated or expects to pay to any other person any portion of any fee awarded by the Court; or (b) expects to receive from any other person any portion of any fee awarded by the Court.

4. A complete description of any arrangement or agreement under which the Applicant is entitled or expects to receive any portion of any fee awarded by the Court to persons other than the Applicant.

5. A complete description of any contingent fee agreements and receipts that the Applicant Firm expects to receive, and information on whether and to what extent the Applicant Firm has reduced or waived attorneys fees or expenses.

E. MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Any intentional violation of these Guidelines will be grounds for the Court to deny a request for payment of counsel fees or reimbursement of litigation expenses in whole or in part, as well as for such other sanctions and penalties as may be appropriate under the law.

2. The only exceptions to these Guidelines shall be as specifically approved by the Court.

3. Each attorney submitting a time and expense statement shall be considered as representing to the Court, under oath, that the time and expense submitted meets the criteria set forth herein.

4. The Court has the right to request additional information as may be deemed necessary.

5. All Expense and Fee Applications, and the Court's final ruling on the Applications, shall be publicly filed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Additionally, the Court appoints Plaintiff's Liaison Counsel, Russ Herman, and Co-Lead Counsel, Christopher Seeger and Andy Birchfield, to comprise the PSC Executive Committee. It shall be the Executive Committee's duty to coordinate the responsibilities of the PSC, schedule PSC meetings, keep minutes or transcripts of these meetings, appear at periodic court noticed status conferences, perform other necessary administrative or logistic functions of the PSC and carry out any other duty as the Court may order.

The appointment to the PSC is of a personal nature. Accordingly, the above appointees cannot be substituted by other attorneys, including members of the appointee's law firm, to perform the PSC's exclusive functions, such as committee meetings and court appearances, except with prior approval of the Court.

The PSC will have the following responsibilities:

Discovery

- (1) Initiate, coordinate, and conduct all pretrial discovery on behalf of plaintiffs in all actions which are consolidated with the instant multi district litigation.
- (2) Develop and propose to the Court schedules for the commencement, execution, and completion of all discovery on behalf of all plaintiffs.
- (3) Cause to be issued in the name of all plaintiffs the necessary discovery requests, motions, and subpoenas pertaining to any witnesses and documents needed to properly prepare for the pretrial of relevant issues found in the pleadings of this litigation. Similar requests, notices, and subpoenas may be caused to be issued by the PSC upon written request by an individual attorney in order to assist him/her in the preparation of the pretrial stages of his/her client's particular claims.

- (4) Conduct all discovery in a coordinated and consolidated manner on behalf and for the benefit of all plaintiffs.

Hearings and Meetings

- (1) Call meetings of counsel for plaintiffs for any appropriate purpose, including coordinating responses to questions of other parties or of the Court. Initiate proposals, suggestions, schedules, or joint briefs, and any other appropriate matter(s) pertaining to pretrial proceedings.
- (2) Examine witnesses and introduce evidence at hearings on behalf of plaintiffs.
- (3) Act as spokesperson for all plaintiffs at pretrial proceedings and in response to any inquiries by the Court, subject of course to the right of any plaintiff's counsel to present non-repetitive individual or different positions.

Miscellaneous

- (1) Submit and argue any verbal or written motions presented to the Court or Magistrate on behalf of the PSC as well as oppose when necessary any motions submitted by the defendant or other parties which involve matters within the sphere of the responsibilities of the PSC.
- (2) Negotiate and enter into stipulations with Defendants regarding this litigation. All stipulations entered into by the PSC, except for strictly administrative details such as scheduling, must be submitted for Court approval and will not be binding until the Court has ratified the stipulation. Any attorney not in agreement with a non-administrative stipulation shall file with the Court a written objection thereto within five (5) days after he/she knows or should have reasonably become aware of the stipulation. Failure to object within the term allowed shall be deemed a waiver and the stipulation will automatically be binding on that party.
- (3) Explore, develop, and pursue all settlement options pertaining to any claim or portion thereof of any case filed in this litigation.
- (4) Maintain adequate files of all pretrial matters, including establishing and maintaining a document or exhibit depository, in either real or virtual format, and having those documents available, under reasonable terms and conditions, for examination by all MDL Plaintiffs or their attorneys.

- (5) Perform any task necessary and proper for the PSC to accomplish its responsibilities as defined by the Court's orders., including organizing sub-committees comprised of plaintiffs' attorneys not on the PSC and assigning them tasks consistent with the duties of the PSC.
- (6) Perform such other functions as may be expressly authorized by further orders of this Court.

Plaintiffs' Counsel's Time and Expense Submissions

Reimbursement for costs and/or fees for services of all plaintiff s' counsel performing functions in accordance with this order will be set at a time and in a manner established by the Court after due notice to all counsel and after a hearing. The following standards and procedures are to be utilized by any counsel seeking fees and/or expense reimbursement.

General Standards

- (1) All time and expenses submitted must be incurred only for work authorized by the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee.
- (2) These Time and Expense Guidelines are intended for all activities performed and expenses incurred by counsel that relate to matters common to all claimants in MDL 1657.
- (3) Time and expense submissions must be submitted on the forms prepared by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel (PLC) and approved by the Court. The forms may be obtained from PLC or from the Court's website.
- (4) Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel has retained and the Court approves the retention of Philip Garrett, CPA, of the accounting firm of Wegmann-Dazet to assist and provide accounting services to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel, the Plaintiff's Steering Committee, and the Court in MDL 1657. Wegmann-Dazet will be assisting in compiling submissions and will provide reports to Plaintiff's Liaison Counsel who shall file them with the Court on a monthly basis. These reports will include both time and expenses and will summarize, with back-up detail, the submissions of all firms. Submission of time and expense records to Wegmann-Dazet and the Court shall be considered as if filed under seal.
- (5) Time and expense submissions must be submitted timely, on a monthly basis, to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel, Russ M. Herman, c/o Herman, Herman, Katz & Cotlar, L.L.P., 820 O'Keefe Avenue, New Orleans, Louisiana 70113, (504) 581-4892, Fax: (504) 561-6024, e-mail: VioxxMDL@hhkc.com so they can be compiled and submitted to Wegmann-Dazet and the Court. It is therefore essential that each firm, on a monthly basis, timely submit its records for the preceding month.

- (6) All submissions shall be transmitted electronically or in hard copy to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel. If hard copy submissions are made, an original and one duplicate copy must be provided.
- (7) The first submission is due on June 15, 2005 and should include all time through May 31, 2005. Thereafter, time records shall be submitted on the 15th of each month and shall cover the time period through the end of the preceding month.

Time Reporting

- (1) Only time spent on matters common to all claimants in MDL 1657 will be considered in determining fees. No time spent on developing or processing any case for an individual client (claimant) will be considered or should be submitted.
- (2) All time must be accurately and contemporaneously maintained. Time shall be kept according to these guidelines and specifically in accordance with the Litigation Task Definitions as outlined in Attachment "A". All counsel shall keep a daily record of their time spent in connection with this litigation, indicating with specificity the hours, location and particular activity (such as "conduct of deposition of A.B."). The failure to maintain such records, as well as insufficient description of the activity may result in a forfeiture of fees.
- (3) All time for each firm shall be maintained in quarter-of-an-hour increments. Failure to do so may result in time being disallowed.
- (4) All time records shall be submitted together with a form summarizing the total of member firm time broken down by each separate name of time keeper and Litigation Task Definition the time spent during the preceding month and the accumulated total of all time incurred by the firm during the particular reporting period. The summary report form may be obtained from Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel or from the Court's website.
- (5) The summary report form shall be certified by a senior partner each month attesting to the accuracy and correctness of the monthly submission.

Expense Reporting

- (1) Advanced costs will be deemed as either "Shared" or "Held."
 - a. Shared Costs are costs that will be paid out of a separate Plaintiffs' Steering Committee MDL 1657 Fund account to be established by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel and to be funded by all members of the PSC and others as determined by the PSC. The PSC MDL 1657 Fund account will be administered by Herman, Herman, Katz & Cotlar, L.L.P.
 - b. Held Costs are those that will be carried by each attorney in MDL 1657 and reimbursed as and when determined by the PSC.
- (2) Each member of the PSC and any others as set forth in section (1) above will contribute to the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee MDL 1657 Fund at times and in amounts sufficient to cover the administration of the MDL. The timing and amount of each assessment will be determined by the PSC.

Shared Costs

- (1) Shared Costs are costs incurred for the common benefit of the MDL as a whole. No client-related costs can be considered as Shared Costs. All costs of a substantial nature that meet these requirements and fall under the following categories shall be considered Shared Costs and qualify to be submitted and paid directly from the MDL account. All Shared Costs must be approved by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel prior to payment. Shared Costs include:
 - a. Court, filing and service costs
 - b. Deposition and court reporter costs
 - c. Document Depository: creation, operation, staffing, equipment and administration
 - d. Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel administrative matters (e.g., expenses for equipment, technology, courier services, long distance, telecopier, electronic service, photocopy and printing, secretarial/temporary staff, etc.)
 - e. PSC group administration matters such as meetings and conference calls
 - f. Legal and accountant fees
 - g. Expert witness and consultant fees and expenses
 - h. Printing, copying, coding, scanning (out of house or extraordinary firm cost)
 - i. Research by outside third party vendors/consultants/attorneys
 - j. Common witness expenses including travel
 - k. Translation costs
 - l. Bank or financial institution charges

m. Investigative services

- (2) Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel shall prepare and be responsible for distributing to the appropriate plaintiffs' counsel and the PSC reimbursement procedures and the forms associated therewith. Request for payments should include sufficient information to allow Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel and the CPA to account properly for costs and to provide adequate detail to the Court. All requests shall be subject to review and approval by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel.

Held Costs

- (1) Held Costs are costs incurred for the global benefit of the MDL. Held costs are those that do not fall into the above Shared Costs categories but are incurred for the benefit of all plaintiffs in general. No specific client-related costs can be considered as Held Costs. All costs of a substantial nature that meet these requirements and fall under the following categories shall be considered Held Costs and qualify to be submitted for consideration by the PSC and the Court for future reimbursement.
 - a. Telefax charges
 - b. Postage, shipping, courier, certified mail
 - c. Printing and photocopying (in-house)
 - d. Computerized research - Lexis/Westlaw
 - e. Telephone - long distance (actual charges only)
 - f. Travel - (following the travel expense guidelines set forth in Section 5)
 - for attorney for deposition, court or legislative including:
 - i. Airfare
 - ii. Reasonable ground transportation
 - iii. Hotel
 - iv. Reasonable meals and entertainment
 - v. Reasonable other (parking)
 - vi. Car rental, cabs, etc.
 - g. Secretarial and clerical overtime
- (2) Held Cost records shall be submitted to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel on a monthly basis.

Travel Limitations

Except in extraordinary circumstances approved by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel or the PSC, all travel reimbursements are subject to the following limitations:

- (1) Airfare. Only the lowest-priced available coach airfare at time of booking (either at restricted coach rates or rates which allow the reservation to be rebooked without surcharge and other agency fees) for a reasonable itinerary will be reimbursed.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, first class airfare shall be allowed for cross-country flights that are in excess of four hours non-stop flight time or international flights.

- (2) Hotel. Hotel room charges will be reimbursed up to the greater of (a) $250 per night excluding taxes, or (b) the average available room rate of the Hyatt, Hilton, and Marriott hotels in that city.
- (3) Meals. Meal expenses must be reasonable.
- (4) Cash Expenses. Miscellaneous cash expenses for which receipts generally are not available (tips, luggage handling, pay telephone, etc.) will be reimbursed up to $50.00 per trip, as long as the expenses are properly itemized.
- (5) Rental Automobiles. Luxury automobile rentals will not be fully reimbursed, unless only luxury automobiles were available. If luxury automobiles are selected when non-luxury vehicles are available, then the difference between the luxury and non-luxury vehicle rates must be shown on the travel reimbursement form, and only the non-luxury rate may be claimed.
- (6) Mileage. Mileage claims must be documented by stating origination point, destination, total actual miles for each trip, and the rate per mile paid by the member's firm. The maximum allowable rate will be the maximum rate allowed by the IRS (currently 40.5 cents per mile).

Non-Travel Limitations

The following apply:

- (1) Long Distance and Cellular Telephone: Long distance and cellular telephone charges must be documented. Copies of the telephone bills must be submitted with notations as to which charges relate to the Vioxx litigation.
- (2) Shipping, Courier, and Delivery Charges: All claimed expenses must be documented with bills showing the sender, origin of the package, recipient, and destination of the package.
- (3) Postage Charges: A contemporaneous postage log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. Postage charges are to be reported at actual cost.
- (4) Telefax Charges: Contemporaneous records should be maintained and submitted showing faxes sent and received. The per-fax charge shall not exceed $1.00 per page.

- (5) In-House Photocopy: A contemporaneous photocopy log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. The maximum copy charge is 25¢ per page.
- (6) Secretarial and Clerical Overtime: An itemized description of the task and time spent must be submitted for secretarial and clerical time. All such overtime must be approved before submission by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel or the PSC.
- (7) Computerized Research - Lexis/Westlaw: Claims for Lexis, Westlaw, and other computerized legal research expenses should be in the exact amount charged to the firm for these research services.

Procedures To Be Established by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel

Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel shall establish forms and procedures to implement and carry out the time and expense submissions required by the Court and necessary to compile and maintain the records. These forms may be obtained from Plaintiff's Liaison Counsel or from the Court's website. The forms shall be certified by a senior partner in each firm attesting to the accuracy and correctness for the submissions.

Questions regarding the guidelines or procedures or the completion of any forms should be directed to Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel, Russ M. Herman, or Philip Garrett, CPA, or the Court.

New Orleans, Louisiana, this 8th day of April, 2005.

Attachment "A"

Litigation Task Code Definitions

The Litigation Code Set is intended for use in all adversarial matters including litigation, binding arbitrations, and regulatory/administrative proceedings. The following definitions elaborate on the intended scope of each phase and task and should guide attorneys in coding time.

Case Assessment, Development and Administration

Focuses on the case as a whole, the "forest" rather than the "trees".

Fact Investigation/Development. All actions to investigate and understand the facts of a matter. Covers interviews of client personnel and potential witnesses, review of documents to learn the facts of the case (but not for document production), work with an investigator, and all related communications and correspondence.

Analysis/Strategy. The thinking, strategizing, and planning for a case, including discussions, writing, and meetings on case strategy. Also includes initial legal research for case assessment purposes and legal research for developing a basic case strategy. Most legal research will be under the primary task for which the research is conducted. Once concrete trial preparation begins, use "Other Trial Preparation and Support."

Experts/Consultants. Identifying and interviewing experts and consultants (testifying or non-testifying), working with them, and developing expert reports. Does not include preparing for expert depositions, see "Expert Discovery" or time spent with experts/consultants during trial preparation and trial, see "Expert Witnesses."

Document/File Management. A narrowly defined task that comprises only the processes of creating and populating document and other databases or filing systems. Includes the planning, design, and overall management of this process. Work of outside vendors in building litigation support databases should be an Expense.

Budgeting. Covers developing, negotiating, and revising the budget for a matter.

Settlement/Non-Binding ADR All activities directed specifically to settlement. Encompasses planning for and participating in settlement discussions, conferences, and hearings and implementing a settlement. Covers pursuing and participating in mediation and other non-binding Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) procedures. Also includes pre-litigation demand letters and ensuing discussions.

CLE. Continuing Legal Education related specifically to this matter.

and reviewing documents primarily to understand the facts is "Fact Investigation/Development."

Depositions. All work concerning depositions, including determining the deponents and the timing and sequence of depositions, preparing deposition notices and subpoenas, communicating with opposing or other party's counsel on scheduling and logistics, planning for and preparing to take the depositions, discussing deposition strategy, preparing witnesses, reviewing documents for deposition preparation, attending depositions, and drafting any deposition summaries.

Expert Discovery. Same as "Depositions," but for expert witnesses.

Discovery Motions. Developing, responding to, and arguing all motions that arise out of the discovery process. Includes the protective order process.

Other Discovery. Less frequently used forms of discovery, such as medical examinations and on-site inspections.

Trial Preparation and Trial

Commences when lawyer and client determine that trial is sufficiently likely and imminent so that the process of actually preparing for trial begins. It continues through the trial and post-trial proceedings in the trial court. Once trial begins, lawyers who appear in court presumptively should bill their court time to "Trial and Hearing Attendance." Litigation work outside the courtroom during this phase (e.g., evenings, weekends and the time of other attorneys and support personnel), should continue to be classified using "Other Trial Preparation and Support."

Fact Witnesses. Preparing for examination and cross-examination of non-expert witnesses.

Expert Witnesses. Preparing for examination and cross-examination of expert witnesses.

Written Motions/Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing written motions during preparation for trial and trial, such as motions in limine and motions to strike proposed evidence. Also includes developing other written pre-trial and trial filings, such as jury instructions, witness lists, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law, and trial briefs.

Other Trial Preparation and Support. All other time spent in preparing for and supporting a trial, including developing overall trial strategy, preparing opening and closing arguments, establishing an off-site support office, identifying documents for use at trial, preparing demonstrative materials, etc.

Trial and Hearing Attendance. Appearing at trial, at hearings and at court-mandated conferences, including the pre-trial conferences to prepare for trial. For scheduling conferences that are denominated as "Pre-Trial Conferences", but not directed toward conduct of the trial, use "Court Mandated Conferences."

Post-Trial Motions and Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing all post-verdict matters in the trial court, such as motions for new trial or j.n.o.v., for stay pending appeal, bills of costs, and requests for attorney's fees.

Enforcement. All work performed in enforcing and collecting judgments and asserting or addressing defenses thereto.

Appeal

Covers all work on appeal or before a reviewing body.

Appellate Motions and Submissions. Developing, responding to and arguing motions and other filings before a reviewing body, such as motions and other filings for stay pending appeal.

Appellate Briefs. Preparing and reviewing appellate briefs.

CURRICULUM VITAE OF
ALAN B. WINIKUR, CPA/ABV/CFF

Director of Taxation, Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C., a Certified Public Accounting firm located in Bala Cynwyd, PA. In this capacity I am in charge of all tax functions including research, review and examinations at the Federal, state and local level. I am also involved in investigative accounting, matrimonial accounting, business valuations and serve as a consultant to a group of forensic economists involved in litigation support.

Prior to my entry into the field of public accounting, I was an Internal Revenue service agent for eight years. In this capacity I examined returns of individuals, partnerships, fiduciaries and corporations. This required the application of audit and investigative procedures in the review of business activities and records to determine correct tax liability.

Litigation Support

Our firm has substantial experience in various areas of litigation support. We are the court appointed accountants in the Orthopedic Bone Screw Products Liability Litigation MDL-1014. In this capacity we reviewed all time and expense reports of the Plaintiff's Legal Committee members and Common Benefit Attorneys who were involved in the case. We also assisted the Claims Administrator in processing the claims of over 6000 plaintiffs in this case.

We are also involved in a similar capacity as court appointed accountants in Diet Drugs/Fen-Phen Class Action Settlement MDL-1203. This was a settlement against American Home Products for approximately $3.75 billion.

In addition, we can provide business valuation services for a variety of needs in such areas as divorce litigation and property settlements, shareholder disputes, buy-sell agreements and estate and inheritance tax return filings. We can also provide assistance in the area of commercial damages, expert witness testimony and economic damages.

[PROPOSED] CASE MANAGEMENT ORDER NO. 5
RE: SUBMISSION OF PLAINTIFFS' TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS AND APPOINTMENT OF AUDITOR

AND NOW, this __ day of September, 2012, upon consideration of the uncontested Motion by the Plaintiffs' Executive and Steering Committees for an Order establishing: (1) a protocol for the submission and review of attorneys' fees and expenses, which will guide the payment of fees and expenses to attorneys performing common-benefit work to be paid from a Common Benefit Fund if such Fund is later established by the Court, and help ensure this matter is efficiently prosecuted for the benefit of former-player plaintiffs without unnecessary duplication or undue costs or fees; and (2) appointing an outside auditor, it is hereby ORDERED as follows:

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTING

This Order establishes the following protocol for the submission and review of attorneys' fees and expenses in this MDL, and shall be used by all plaintiffs' counsel in this matter who intend to seek attorneys' fees or expense reimbursement from settlements/judgments relating to the NFL Players' Concussion Injury Litigation from a Common Benefit Fund that may later be established by the Court, regardless of whether a such Fund is established by this Court or any disbursements from it, if established, are ordered.

Each attorney submitting a monthly time or expense report pursuant to this Order shall be considered as representing to the Court, under oath, that the time and expenses submitted meet the criteria set forth below. Each firm is required to maintain contemporaneous and detailed time and expense records. The Court approves the Summary Time and Expense Report Form in Excel format as represented by Attachment A to this Order.

The initial time and expense report shall cover the time period from inception of the case through September 30, 2012 and shall be submitted by October 31, 2012. Thereafter, Counsel shall submit time and expense reports on a quarterly basis (quarters ending June 30, September 30, December 31 and March 31). Such reports shall be submitted by the 30th of the month following the end of each quarter. Failure to keep time and expense reporting current may be grounds for denying any subsequent request for reimbursement.

Members of the Plaintiffs' Executive Committee ("PEC") and the Plaintiffs' Steering Committee ("PSC") and other attorneys assigned by the PEC to conduct common-benefit work shall contribute assessments to the Interim Litigation Fund, established by the PSC for interim funding purposes, at times and in amounts to be agreed upon by the PSC, sufficient to cover Plaintiffs' expenses for the administration of the MDL. Failure to pay assessments may be grounds for suspension from the PEC or PSC or a position within the Plaintiffs' leadership structure in the litigation and bar the firm from performing work in the NFL Players' Concussion Injury Litigation.

A. Authorization Required

Only time and expenses authorized by the PEC and incurred on matters that advance the common-benefit effort will be considered as compensable. “Read and review” time will not be compensated unless the timekeeper was assigned to work on the submission or otherwise had a compelling reason to do so. No time or expense spent on developing or processing a case for an individual client will be considered or should be submitted.

B. Compensable Time Categories

Compensable time categories include, but are not limited to:

- investigation and research;
- conducting discovery (e.g., reviewing, indexing and coding documents);
- drafting and filing pleadings, motions, briefs and orders;
- preparation and attendance at non-case specific depositions;
- preparation for and attendance at state and federal Court hearings;
- attendance at PEC- or PSC-sponsored meetings and addressing lawyers on the status of the litigation;
- other PEC or PSC activities, including committee work;
- work with expert witnesses;
- trial preparation and trial;
- performance of administrative matters; and
- performance of conventional administrative, scheduling, coordination and related liaison tasks performed by Plaintiffs’ Liaison Counsel.

C. Non-Compensable Time Categories

To ensure only work that is necessary to the effective and efficient prosecution of this matter is conducted, non-compensable time categories include, but are not limited to:

- time billed for activities prior to the formation of this MDL, January 27, 2012, except that all time expended for briefing, preparation and oral argument before the Judicial Panel on Multi-district Litigation (“JPML”) is compensable;
- read and review time for persons not overseeing or directly participating in a project;
- time spent creating and compiling the time and expense reports outlined in these Time and Expense Reporting Guidelines;
- time related to litigating the claims of individual clients;
- clerical time, including time spent preparing hearing or meeting notebooks, copying, filing, making travel arrangements or calendaring dates;
- time billed by multiple people in the same firm, unless justified by the work that has been assigned to the firm in relation to the particular task;
- time that was not authorized by the PEC;
- time entries that are incomplete or provide insufficient detail;
- time that is duplicative or excessive in relation to the work assigned; and
- time spent attending bar association and similar meetings, such as AAJ conventions and Mass Tort Made Perfect Meetings.

D. Compensable Expense Categories

Compensable expense categories include, but are not limited to:

- assessments paid for the operation of the PEC and PSC;
- costs related to obtaining, reviewing, indexing and paying for hard copies or computerized images of documents for Defendants;
- deposition and court reporter costs for non-case specific depositions;
- costs for the electronic storage, retrieval and searches of ESI;
- certain Court, filing and service costs for matters involving MDL-wide application;
- PEC or PSC group administration matters, such as meetings, food and conference calls;

- Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel administrative matters (e.g., expenses for equipment, technology, courier services, long distance, conference calls, telecopy electronic service, postage, meeting expenses, travel for administrative matters, photocopy and printing, secretarial/temporary staff, etc.);
- reasonable travel expenses, including lodging, meals and expenses incurred in connection with PEC-approved meetings, events and other common benefit issues;
- expert witness and consultant fees and expenses, if such experts and consultants were approved by the PEC;
- investigator fees and expenses, if such investigators were approved by the PEC;
- printing, copying, coding and scanning (out-of-house or extraordinary firm cost);
- research by outside third-party vendors/consultants/attorneys, if such third parties were approved by the PEC;
- common witness expenses, including travel; and
- translation costs.

E. Limitations on Compensable Expenses

To ensure only costs necessary to the effective and efficient prosecution of this matter are incurred, the following limitations on compensable expenses shall apply.

1. Travel Expenses: Except in extraordinary circumstances approved by the PEC, all travel reimbursements are subject to the following limitations:

- Airfare: Only the price of a business or full-fare coach seat for a reasonable itinerary will be reimbursed. First-class airfare will not be reimbursed. If first-class travel is selected, the then-applicable coach fare should be included on the expense report, and only that fare shall be eligible for consideration for reimbursement.
- Hotel: Hotel room charges will be reimbursed for the average available room rate of a business hotel, including, but not limited to the Westin and Marriott hotels, in the city in which the stay occurred. Miscellaneous hotel expenses, such as dry cleaning and movie rentals, will not be reimbursed.

- Meals: Meal expenses must be no greater than the reasonable and customary charges for the city in which the charge is incurred. Alcohol expenses will not be reimbursed.
- Cash Expenses: Miscellaneous cash expenses for which receipts generally are not available (tips, luggage handling, etc.) will be reimbursed up to $75.00 per trip, as long as the expenses are properly itemized.
- Rental Automobiles: Standard rates for rentals of automobiles shall be reimbursed if necessary for the common-benefit work.
- Mileage: Mileage claims must be documented by stating origination point, destination, total actual miles for each trip and the rate per mile paid by the firm. The maximum allowable rate will be the maximum rate allowed by the IRS.

2. Non-Travel Expenses: All reimbursements unrelated to travel are subject to the following limitations:

- Long Distance and Cellular Telephone: Long distance and cellular telephone charges must be documented. Copies of the telephone bills must be submitted with notations as to which charges relate to the NFL Players' Concussion Injury Litigation.
- Shipping, Courier and Delivery Charges: All claimed expenses must be documented with bills showing the sender, recipient and destination of the package.
- Postage: A contemporaneous postage log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. Postage charges are to be reported at actual cost.
- Facsimile Charges: Contemporaneous records should be maintained and submitted showing faxes sent and received. The per-fax charge shall not exceed $.25 per page.
- In-House Photocopies: A contemporaneous photocopy log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. The maximum copy charge is $.10 per page.
- Computerized Research – Lexis/Westlaw: Claims for Lexis, Westlaw, and other computerized legal research expenses should be in the exact amount charged to or allocated by the firm for these research services.

3. Non-compensable expenses: Non-compensable expense categories

include, but are not limited to:

- expenses billed for activities prior to the formation of this MDL (i.e., expenses billed before January 27, 2012), except that all expenses related to briefing, preparation and oral argument before the JPML are compensable;
- case-specific expenses;
- membership dues, seminars, group meetings such as AAJ or MTMP, and related costs;
- duplicative expenses;
- undocumented expenses;
- expenses related to paying overtime wages; and
- expenses related to non-compensable time.

II. TIME AND EXPENSE SUBMISSIONS – TIMING AND GENERAL INFORMATION

The first time and expense report must be submitted on or before October 31, 2012, and must include all time and expense entries from the inception of the case through September 30, 2012.

Thereafter, Counsel shall submit time on a quarterly basis (quarters ending June 30, September 30, December 31 and March 31). Such reports shall be submitted by the 30th of the month following the end of each quarter.

Each submission must include a certification by a senior partner or shareholder in the firm, attesting to the accuracy of the submission.

Each submission must be sent electronically to Diane Brown (dbrown@rodanast.com), with copies to Dianne M. Nast (dnast@rodanast.com), who, acting under the direction and supervision of the PEC, shall maintain, periodically compile, and submit such records to the auditor appointed by this Order for review.

III. TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS – SUMMARY REPORTS

Each time and expense report submission should include a completed Time and Expense Summary Report, using an Excel spreadsheet represented by Attachment A to this Order and to be provided by the PEC to common-benefit attorneys. With the initial submission, the attorney submitting the report shall include the name and email address of the contact person at that firm who will be responsible for completing the reports.

For time entries:

- Enter the firm name where indicated;
- For each timekeeper, enter the name, professional status and current hourly rate in the designated columns;
- For each timekeeper, enter his or her time for the current reporting period, in tenths of an hour, separated by each task category listed;
- Do not make any calculations; they will be automatically made.

For expense entries:

- Enter total expenses for the current time period, separated by each expense category listed;
- Do not make any calculations; they will be automatically made.

Attorneys shall not convert the Excel spreadsheet provided by the PEC to PDF or any other format. It must be submitted in native format. Once an attorney's submission is received and recorded, a report form for the following time period will be returned to the attorney for completion.

IV. TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS – DETAILED REPORTS

Each submission should also include a Detailed Time Report with: (1) the name and title of each person who performed common benefit work for the litigation during the reporting period; (2) an itemization of the number of hours each person worked on each day during the reporting period, in tenth-of-an-hour increments, separated by task category; and (3) a detailed description of the work performed in relation to each task category on each day. There are eleven task categories, which are listed in the Summary Time Report.

Each submission should also include a Detailed Expense Report that itemizes each expense incurred on each date, separated by expense category. There are twelve expense categories, which are listed in the Summary Expense Report. Counsel must keep receipts for all expenses, except those for which receipts are generally not available, such as gratuities, and produce copies of those receipts upon request. Credit card receipts are an appropriate form of verification if accompanied by a statement from a firm partner or shareholder from counsel that work was performed and paid for the common benefit.

Time and expense entries that are not sufficiently detailed, or that are not certified by a senior partner or shareholder to be accurate, will not be considered for common benefit payments if a Common Benefit Fund is later established by this Court.

V. APPOINTMENT OF AUDITOR FOR PERIODIC REVIEW OF TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS

The Court appoints Alan B. Winikur, CPA/ABV/CFF and the firm Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C. to provide accounting services to the PEC and to serve as the auditor to undertake a periodic review of the time and expense reports submitted by common-benefit attorneys for payment from a Common-Benefit Fund that may be established by this Court at a later date, and to submit reports to the Court upon request. Submission of time and expense records to Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C. shall be considered as if filed under seal. Payments for Mr. Winikur's work, as approved by the Court, will be paid by Interim Litigation Fund established by the PSC and funded by the PEC and PSC members, and, if a Common Benefit Fund is later established by this Court, by such Fund upon approval by the Court.

A. Authorization Required

Only time and expenses authorized by the PEC and incurred on matters that advance the common-benefit effort will be considered as compensable. “Read and review” time will not be compensated unless the timekeeper was assigned to work on the submission or otherwise had a compelling reason to do so. No time or expense spent on developing or processing a case for an individual client will be considered or should be submitted.

B. Compensable Time Categories

Compensable time categories include, but are not limited to:

- investigation and research;
- conducting discovery (e.g., reviewing, indexing and coding documents);
- drafting and filing pleadings, motions, briefs and orders;
- preparation and attendance at non-case specific depositions;
- preparation for and attendance at state and federal Court hearings;
- attendance at PEC- or PSC-sponsored meetings and addressing lawyers on the status of the litigation;
- other PEC or PSC activities, including committee work;
- work with expert witnesses;
- trial preparation and trial;
- performance of administrative matters; and
- performance of conventional administrative, scheduling, coordination and related liaison tasks performed by Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel.

C. Non-Compensable Time Categories

To ensure only work that is necessary to the effective and efficient prosecution of this matter is conducted, non-compensable time categories include, but are not limited to:

- time billed for activities prior to the formation of this MDL, January 27, 2012, except that all time expended for briefing, preparation and oral argument before the Judicial Panel on Multi-district Litigation (“JPML”) is compensable;
- read and review time for persons not overseeing or directly participating in a project;
- time spent creating and compiling the time and expense reports outlined in these Time and Expense Reporting Guidelines;
- time related to litigating the claims of individual clients;
- clerical time, including time spent preparing hearing or meeting notebooks, copying, filing, making travel arrangements or calendaring dates;
- time billed by multiple people in the same firm, unless justified by the work that has been assigned to the firm in relation to the particular task;
- time that was not authorized by the PEC;
- time entries that are incomplete or provide insufficient detail;
- time that is duplicative or excessive in relation to the work assigned; and
- time spent attending bar association and similar meetings, such as AAJ conventions and Mass Tort Made Perfect Meetings.

D. Compensable Expense Categories

Compensable expense categories include, but are not limited to:

- assessments paid for the operation of the PEC and PSC;
- costs related to obtaining, reviewing, indexing and paying for hard copies or computerized images of documents for Defendants;
- deposition and court reporter costs for non-case specific depositions;
- costs for the electronic storage, retrieval and searches of ESI;
- certain Court, filing and service costs for matters involving MDL-wide application;
- PEC or PSC group administration matters, such as meetings, food and conference calls;

- Plaintiffs' Liaison Counsel administrative matters (e.g., expenses for equipment, technology, courier services, long distance, conference calls, telecopy electronic service, postage, meeting expenses, travel for administrative matters, photocopy and printing, secretarial/temporary staff, etc.);
- reasonable travel expenses, including lodging, meals and expenses incurred in connection with PEC-approved meetings, events and other common benefit issues;
- expert witness and consultant fees and expenses, if such experts and consultants were approved by the PEC;
- investigator fees and expenses, if such investigators were approved by the PEC;
- printing, copying, coding and scanning (out-of-house or extraordinary firm cost);
- research by outside third-party vendors/consultants/attorneys, if such third parties were approved by the PEC;
- common witness expenses, including travel; and
- translation costs.

E. Limitations on Compensable Expenses

To ensure only costs necessary to the effective and efficient prosecution of this matter are incurred, the following limitations on compensable expenses shall apply.

1. Travel Expenses: Except in extraordinary circumstances approved by the

PEC, all travel reimbursements are subject to the following limitations:

- Airfare: Only the price of a business or full-fare coach seat for a reasonable itinerary will be reimbursed. First-class airfare will not be reimbursed. If first-class travel is selected, the then-applicable coach fare should be included on the expense report, and only that fare shall be eligible for consideration for reimbursement.
- Hotel: Hotel room charges will be reimbursed for the average available room rate of a business hotel, including, but not limited to the Westin and Marriott hotels, in the city in which the stay occurred. Miscellaneous hotel expenses, such as dry cleaning and movie rentals, will not be reimbursed.

- Meals: Meal expenses must be no greater than the reasonable and customary charges for the city in which the charge is incurred. Alcohol expenses will not be reimbursed.
- Cash Expenses: Miscellaneous cash expenses for which receipts generally are not available (tips, luggage handling, etc.) will be reimbursed up to $75.00 per trip, as long as the expenses are properly itemized.
- Rental Automobiles: Standard rates for rentals of automobiles shall be reimbursed if necessary for the common-benefit work.
- Mileage: Mileage claims must be documented by stating origination point, destination, total actual miles for each trip and the rate per mile paid by the firm. The maximum allowable rate will be the maximum rate allowed by the IRS.

2. Non-Travel Expenses: All reimbursements unrelated to travel are subject to the following limitations:

- Long Distance and Cellular Telephone: Long distance and cellular telephone charges must be documented. Copies of the telephone bills must be submitted with notations as to which charges relate to the NFL Players' Concussion Injury Litigation.
- Shipping, Courier and Delivery Charges: All claimed expenses must be documented with bills showing the sender, recipient and destination of the package.
- Postage: A contemporaneous postage log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. Postage charges are to be reported at actual cost.
- Facsimile Charges: Contemporaneous records should be maintained and submitted showing faxes sent and received. The per-fax charge shall not exceed $.25 per page.
- In-House Photocopies: A contemporaneous photocopy log or other supporting documentation must be maintained and submitted. The maximum copy charge is $.10 per page.
- Computerized Research – Lexis/Westlaw: Claims for Lexis, Westlaw, and other computerized legal research expenses should be in the exact amount charged to or allocated by the firm for these research services.

3. Non-compensable expenses: Non-compensable expense categories

include, but are not limited to:

- expenses billed for activities prior to the formation of this MDL (i.e., expenses billed before January 27, 2012), except that all expenses related to briefing, preparation and oral argument before the JPML are compensable;
- case-specific expenses;
- membership dues, seminars, group meetings such as AAJ or MTMP, and related costs;
- duplicative expenses;
- undocumented expenses;
- expenses related to paying overtime wages; and
- expenses related to non-compensable time.

II. TIME AND EXPENSE SUBMISSIONS – TIMING AND GENERAL INFORMATION

The first time and expense report must be submitted on or before October 31, 2012, and must include all time and expense entries from the inception of the case through September 30, 2012.

Thereafter, Counsel shall submit time on a quarterly basis (quarters ending June 30, September 30, December 31 and March 31). Such reports shall be submitted by the 30th of the month following the end of each quarter.

Each submission must include a certification by a senior partner or shareholder in the firm, attesting to the accuracy of the submission.

Each submission must be sent electronically to Diane Brown (dbrown@rodanast.com), with copies to Dianne M. Nast (dnast@rodanast.com), who, acting under the direction and supervision of the PEC, shall maintain, periodically compile, and submit such records to the auditor appointed by this Order for review.

III. TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS – SUMMARY REPORTS

Each time and expense report submission should include a completed Time and Expense Summary Report, using an Excel spreadsheet represented by Attachment A to this Order and to be provided by the PEC to common-benefit attorneys. With the initial submission, the attorney submitting the report shall include the name and email address of the contact person at that firm who will be responsible for completing the reports.

For time entries:

- Enter the firm name where indicated;
- For each timekeeper, enter the name, professional status and current hourly rate in the designated columns;
- For each timekeeper, enter his or her time for the current reporting period, in tenths of an hour, separated by each task category listed;
- Do not make any calculations; they will be automatically made.

For expense entries:

- Enter total expenses for the current time period, separated by each expense category listed;
- Do not make any calculations; they will be automatically made.

Attorneys shall not convert the Excel spreadsheet provided by the PEC to PDF or any other format. It must be submitted in native format. Once an attorney's submission is received and recorded, a report form for the following time period will be returned to the attorney for completion.

IV. TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS – DETAILED REPORTS

Each submission should also include a Detailed Time Report with: (1) the name and title of each person who performed common benefit work for the litigation during the reporting period; (2) an itemization of the number of hours each person worked on each day during the reporting period, in tenth-of-an-hour increments, separated by task category; and (3) a detailed description of the work performed in relation to each task category on each day. There are eleven task categories, which are listed in the Summary Time Report.

Each submission should also include a Detailed Expense Report that itemizes each expense incurred on each date, separated by expense category. There are twelve expense categories, which are listed in the Summary Expense Report. Counsel must keep receipts for all expenses, except those for which receipts are generally not available, such as gratuities, and produce copies of those receipts upon request. Credit card receipts are an appropriate form of verification if accompanied by a statement from a firm partner or shareholder from counsel that work was performed and paid for the common benefit.

Time and expense entries that are not sufficiently detailed, or that are not certified by a senior partner or shareholder to be accurate, will not be considered for common benefit payments if a Common Benefit Fund is later established by this Court.

V. APPOINTMENT OF AUDITOR FOR PERIODIC REVIEW OF TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS

The Court appoints Alan B. Winikur, CPA/ABV/CFF and the firm Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C. to provide accounting services to the PEC and to serve as the auditor to undertake a periodic review of the time and expense reports submitted by common-benefit attorneys for payment from a Common-Benefit Fund that may be established by this Court at a later date, and to submit reports to the Court upon request. Submission of time and expense records to Zelnick, Mann and Winikur, P.C. shall be considered as if filed under seal. Payments for Mr. Winikur's work, as approved by the Court, will be paid by Interim Litigation Fund established by the PSC and funded by the PEC and PSC members, and, if a Common Benefit Fund is later established

ORDER

AND NOW, this 8th day of July, 2013, in anticipation of my ruling on the Motion to Dismiss filed by the NFL on the basis of the Collective Bargaining Agreements with the players, I held an informal exploratory telephone conference with lead counsel. As a consequence, I ORDER parties, through their lead counsel, to engage in mediation to determine if consensual resolution is possible. With this in mind, I asked the parties to identify mediators experienced in resolving complex matters.

I APPOINT retired United States District Court Judge Layn Phillips as mediator.

I ORDER that Judge Phillips report back to me on or before September 3, 2013 on the results of the mediation. I will not enter an order on the NFL's motion to dismiss until then.

Also, I ORDER the parties and their counsel to refrain from publicly discussing the mediation process or disclosing any discussions they may have as part of that process, without further order of the Court.

ORDER

Earlier today, in accordance with the reporting requirements in my order of July 8, 2013, the Honorable Layn Phillips, the court-appointed mediator, informed me that the plaintiffs and the NFL defendants had signed a Term Sheet incorporating the principal terms of a settlement. Judge Phillips also reported that the proposed settlement provides for a payment by the NFL defendants of $765,000,000 to fund medical exams, concussion-related compensation, and a program of medical research for retired NFL players and their families, as well as to pay certain litigation expenses. In addition to this, the NFL will pay court-approved attorneys' fees. Furthermore, Judge Phillips advised me that the parties are preparing to submit a motion seeking preliminary court approval of the settlement that will incorporate the full documentation relating to the settlement.

Of course, I reserve judgment on the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of the settlement until the motions for preliminary and final approval of the settlement are filed. At that time, counsel must present a complete explanation and justification for the settlement. Right now, however, I commend the parties and their counsel on their extensive and good faith negotiations and thank Judge Phillips for his diligence in assisting the parties in reaching an agreement.

From the outset of this litigation, I have expressed my belief that the interests of all parties would be best served by a negotiated resolution of this case. The settlement holds the prospect of avoiding lengthy, expensive and uncertain litigation, and of enhancing the game of football.

In light of the proposed settlement by the plaintiffs and the NFL defendants, I will defer ruling on the NFL's motion to dismiss that was argued on April 9, 2013. After conferring with the parties, I will order that counsel submit, as soon as possible, but by a date certain, the full documentation relating to the settlement, along with a motion seeking preliminary approval of the settlement and related plan of notice to members of the settlement class.

AND NOW, this 29th day of August, 2013, the order of July 8, 2013 (ECF No. 5128) is modified to allow the parties to announce the terms of the settlement of the plaintiffs' claims against the NFL defendants. Because the proposed settlement does not include the Riddell defendants, the order of July 8, 2013 remains in effect as to all of the Riddell defendants: they and their counsel must refrain from publicly discussing the mediation process or disclosing any discussions they may have as part of that process.
